RED-HOT REPLY FROM BIGELOW

Director Charges Larkin and Finance Committee With Deficiencies.

STEVENSON'S REPLY

Fourteenth Ward Leader Defends Appropriation Ordinance.

FIGHT IN COUNCILS TONIGHT

The controller's talk is foolish. Through stupidity the controller's office and the finance committee of councils gave me a deficiency this year in every bureau by reappropriating the balances from last year and forgetting last years' bills.—E. M. Bigelow.

If Director Bigelow wants unlimited power to make appointments, why not strike out all of the ordinance and pass the blanket clause alone? What use is there to specify any positions in the ordinance if he is to be allowed to employ as many persons as he pleases?—Councilman W. H. Stevenson, chairman of the finance committee.

Director E. M. Bigelow's reply, made yesterday, to Controller John B. Larkin's statement of the day before, in which the fiscal officer charged the head of the public works department with violating the reform pledges of the Citizens party, was brief but red-hot. In a few words the director defends his blanket ordinance, and at the same time makes the counter-charge that the controller and the finance committee erred greatly in preparing the annual appropriation ordinance for this year.

He stated yesterday that when he assumed charge of the public works department there was a deficiency in every bureau, caused by the controller and the finance committee using the balances from last year, but making no provision for the payment of last year's bills.

One Bureau Short $84,000.

Director Bigelow cites the bureau of lighting as an example. The unpaid bills of this bureau for last year amounted to about $84,000. The balances from this bureau amounted to $101,000. If these bills had been paid there would have been a balance of only $17,000 to reappropriate this year. Instead, the whole $101,000 was reappropriated without any provision being made for the $84,000 of unpaid bills. These bills must be paid out of the regular appropriation for the bureau for this year, which was $355,000. The result will be a deficiency of about $80,000 at the end of the year.

Director Bigelow states that what is true of the bureau of lighting is true

W. S. Shallenberger of Rochester, Pa., Describes Operation of His Department.

WILL WELCOME ANY INQUIRY

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 40, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.

Three bureaus of the postoffice department remain to be investigated if the probing is to be extended to every branch of the service. They are the offices of Second Assistant Postmaster General W. S. Shallenberger, Third Assistant Edwin C. Madden and Fourth Assistant Joseph L. Bristow.

All of the sensations that have come to light up to this time have come from the office of the first assistant, except that from the office of assistant attorney general. The office of the second assistant embraces six divisions, as follows: Railway adjustment, contracts, inspections, mail equipment, railway mail and foreign mails. The third assistant has charge of the following divisions: Postal finance, postage stamp supplies, classification of mail matter, registered mails, redemption of stamped paper, files, mails and records. There are the following three divisions in the fourth assistant's office: Appointments, bonds and commissions and postoffice inspectors and mail depredations. This office is in charge of Mr. Bristow, who has had supervision of the inspectors who have made all the inquiries in the department up to date. He is the chief inquisitor and it is interesting to know how his office is to be investigated. If it is done by the regular inspectors the work will be in the hands of his subordinates, men who, if not under his direction in this particular job, will be under him after it is finished. It is possible that the postmaster general may select men for this task who are not regular inspectors and who are not or will not come under the supervision of Mr. Bristow.

Ready for the Inquiry.

Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger, whose home is at Rochester, Beaver county, Pa., is quite willing that his office shall undergo an inspection. When seen at his home this afternoon he said:

"We are willing to have the affairs of our office investigated, although I have not made a formal request of the postmaster general that this be done. I have not considered that that was necessary. But our office is like a bank in many re-

TROUBLE LED NORTHROP TO SELF-MURDER

Cousin of George and Helen Gould Kills Himself at St. Louis.

BLEW OUT HIS BRAINS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, June 21.—Financial reverses, it is believed, caused the suicide of Sandford Northrop, a cousin of George and Helen Gould, today. He shot himself this morning at the home of a friend, Claude Kennerly, 3731 Delmar boulevard.

He was arranging to go this week to Newark, N. J., where his wife and daughter are staying with Mrs. Northrop's mother. He had arisen and was dressing, apparently in the usual way, when Kennerly started down stairs to breakfast. Kennerly heard the shot and immediately returned to Northrop's room. Northrop was even then breathing his last. He had made part of his toilet and apparently the desire to end his life had come suddenly. Yielding to the impulse he blew out his brains.

Until a few weeks ago Northrop had been secretary and general manager of the American Refrigerator Transit Company. Reid Northrop, his brother, was president of the concern. The company's affairs became tangled and both the Northrops severed their connection with it. Reid Northrop went to London, where he still is engaged in settling up some financial affairs.

Since his misfortune Northrop has been brooding considerably, but had given to no one of his friends an intimation of suicide. He settled up his affairs here, gave up his house on Lacilde and Taylor avenues, sent Mrs. Northrop east and expected in a few days to have the last details arranged so that he could join Mrs. Northrop and their children and arrange new business connections.

Late tonight Coroner Funkhouser was notified of the death of Northrop and went with Deputy Coroner Boogher to view the remains. The body will be sent tomorrow first to Pittsburgh and afterward probably to Camden, N. J., for burial. Northrop has now no relatives in St. Louis.

Until recently both the Northrops moved in the fashionable set. Mr. Northrop was also a man of considerable attainments and keenly interested in scientific matters. He was a close friend of Evelyn B. Baldwin, the arctic explorer, whom he entertained on several occasions, and it is said gave him valuable assistance in preparing for his journey into the frozen north.

Soldiers Who Aided in the Murders at Belgrade Receive Their Rewards.

BELGRADE, June 21.—The promotions are announced of various members of the military deputation to King Peter at Geneva. Col. Popovics of the late King Alexander's palace guard is created a general and first aide de camp to King Peter; Capt. Kostics, who opened the palace gates for the assassins of the late king and queen, is promoted to be a major, and Lieut. Gronics, who was on guard outside the palace on the night of the assassinations and who was a confidant of the conspirators, is made a captain.

MOB SEEKS VENGEANCE ON MURDERER OF GIRL

Officers of Wilmington, Del., Easily Disperse Crowds of Would-Be Lynchers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILMINGTON, DEL., June 21.—What is believed to have been a deliberate attempt to wreak vengeance on George White, the negro, who is charged with assaulting and killing Helen Bishop, 17-year-old daughter of the Rev. E. A. Bishop, was foiled before daylight this morning through the watchfulness of the authorities and through lack of numbers in the attacking party.

About 3 o'clock this morning a band of about 60 gathered at Marshallstown, near the scene of the crime, and marched to the county workhouse. The crowd was armed with pistols and shotguns. When it reached the prison a demonstration was made and those that had weapons opened fire. There was considerable shouting and calls for White. The chief warden had all his guards on duty, but they were not compelled to resist an attack, because the crowd soon dispersed.

Shortly after this a second mob of probably 100 men was reported as marching on the workhouse from Wilmington. Police Capt. Evans of the Wilmington police sent a telephonic warning to the warden and sent a squad of 17 patrolmen to the workhouse, where they dispersed a small crowd.

About 30 men hung about the place until daybreak, when they also dispersed. The family of the murdered girl is doing all it can to prevent violence and is advising the citizens to let the law take its course.

Youngstown Prepares to Celebrate.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 21.—(Special.)—Youngstown is planning for one of the biggest Fourth of July celebrations that has ever been given in this city. Most elaborate preparations have been made for the event, big fireworks displays being arranged as well as a mammoth parade. The committee in charge of the celebration is arranging for a speaker of national reputation to come here at that time and delegations from all the surrounding towns will be in attendance.

GIRL DRINKS ACID, YOUTH USES PISTOL

Tragic End of Love Affair in Which Former Sweetheart Interferes.

ONE DEAD, ONE DYING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Scranton, June 21.—Ernst Schmie and Miss Jennie Brennan, both of Greenwood, were the participants in a double tragedy early this evening which has resulted in the former's death and will probably prove fatal in the case of the girl. A woman from Schmie's old home, arrived here a week ago and sought to hold him to an alleged engagement with her.

Miss Brennan purchased a bottle of carbolic acid this morning and shortly afterward the couple started out for a walk. They went to a secluded spot in the midst of a forest and spent the entire afternoon sitting side by side on a rock. They were seen by several other ramblers in the woods, and the lad to a search by the girl's cousin, Thomas Cavanaugh, and several of his friends.

When the party came in sight of the couple, Miss Brennan got the bottle of acid to her lips and drank it. As she did so, Schmie started to run with several of the party close on his heels. He drew a revolver and fired upon them three times and then stopping, turned the weapon to his heart and shot himself twice. He fell dead instantly.

The girl suffered great agony and her physicians hold out scant hope for her recovery.

HANNA UPSETS CORLISS IDEA

Says He Will Not Be Forced to Accept Second Place.

IS VERY EMPHATIC

That His Ambitions Do Not Lie in the Direction of the White House He Makes Plain.

HERRICK ALSO WILL DECLINE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cleveland, June 21.—Senator Hanna is not a candidate and will not be a candidate for the vice presidency of the United States. Moreover, he will not accept the nomination even should it come unsolicited as it did to President Roosevelt in 1900.

"I don't want the position; I don't want the nomination; my ambitions do not lie in the direction of the White House and nothing could induce me to alter my determination in this matter," was the manner in which the senator stated his position on the subject today.

Myron T. Herrick was also emphatic in his reply to the question whether or not he would be a candidate. "My only ambition," he said, "is to become governor of Ohio. Having been nominated on the Republican ticket I purpose lending all my energies in the immediate future in making my canvass for the election."

Ex-Congressman Corliss of Michigan was one of the most prominent Republicans who first mentioned Senator Hanna's name in connection with the vice presidency. Two weeks ago while in Cleveland Mr. Corliss said that Roosevelt and Hanna at the head of the ticket would not only make an ideal combination but would make a ticket that would be absolutely invincible. After hearing President Roosevelt's stand, he paid his respects to the senator by declaring him to be the "grand old man of America." He said that as a statesman Senator Hanna was the equal of Gladstone and the peer of any statesman at home or abroad. Congressman Corliss went on to say that he appreciated the fact that Senator Hanna would refuse the nomination.

"What of that?" he asked at the time, "didn't Roosevelt refuse in 1900? And was not it forced on him? In just this manner will the nomination be forced on Senator Hanna. He will be our next vice president, whether he wants the position or not."

"Force me to do anything I don't want to do?" demanded Senator Hanna, when interviewed at his home today. "That's a joke, isn't it?"

"I guess," he continued, "they had better take another subject if they are going to pursue those tactics."

"Isn't it a fact," the senator was asked, "that President Roosevelt made similar protests against the proposition?"

"Yes, it is," was the reply. "But the difference is that even though they should go so far as to nominate me against my will, I would refuse to accept it."

When urged for a definite statement of the rumor that he would be a candidate, Col. Herrick said: "That matter came up just before the Republican state convention and I stated my position very clearly at that time. My sole ambition is to be governor of Ohio. I have no political ambitions in any other direction. I believe the discussion, anyhow, is untimely. It has always been the program to make no selection of a vice presidential candidate until the convention is called to order. There are a few, if any instances, where an avowed candidate for this position ever occupied the vice presidential chair."

TRAGEDY ENDS TOO FAST PACE

Young Swiss, Cut Off by Father, Found Dead in Philadelphia Hotel.

REVOLVER BY SIDE

Consul Koradi Says Youth is a Member of Wealthy and Prominent Family.

POLICE ARE NOT NOTIFIED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Public Ledger Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 21.

Martin Corti of Lucerne, Switzerland, was this afternoon found dead in his room at the Hotel Walton. There was a bullet wound in his temple. On the bed was a revolver with one chamber empty. A letter, written in Swiss, lay on the dresser.

Every effort to suppress the affair was made by the hotel management. It was ably supported by the police department and the coroner. While the body was found at 2 o'clock this afternoon not a whisper of the discovery reached the street until 10:30 o'clock tonight. Rudolph Koradi, the Swiss consul, says Corti is the son of a wealthy merchant of Lucerne, that he had been living at a fast pace and his father had cut off his allowances.

Corti registered at the hotel Saturday noon. After being shown to his room he was not seen until his body was discovered this afternoon. The maid knocked on the door several times during the morning, but got no response. At 1 o'clock she notified the office that Corti's door was locked, the transom closed, and that he refused to answer. A special officer of the house opened the door.

Shortly after the body was found Louis Gallitzer of 60 Spruce street called at the hotel and asked for Corti. He was taken upstairs and told of the tragedy.

Gallitzer told the deceased was a college chum, and that his family was one of great wealth. A brother, he said, was a high officer of the Swiss government. Personally, he knew of no reason why Corti should have taken his life. He volunteered to inform the Swiss consul of the affair and did so at once.

Four beers after the body was found the coroner was notified. A deputy viewed the body and then it disappeared. The consul says it was sent to the morgue. Coroner Dugan's officers deny this.

Why no one heard the report of the revolver is a mystery. At 4 o'clock yesterday the Liberty bell proceeded across the hotel. It was refused by hooking of the room from the roof of the Union Republican club, opposite the hotel and it is possible that the noise of the shot was drowned by this patriotic fanfare.

Consul Koradi has sent a telegram to Corti's father announcing his son's death.

Gallitzer, when seen by The Gazette correspondent, refused to give any information as to Corti's death.

While the police say they have not yet been notified of Corti's death they offer the suggestion that suicide is not always determined by the fact that a revolver is found beside the body.

COL. LUNJEVICS WAS THE CAUSE OF SERVIAN TRAGEDY

Return of Queen Draga's Brother to the Capital, Where She Hoped to Install Him as King, Precipitated the Murders.

(FROM THE GAZETTE'S LONDON STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

London, June 14.—Lieut.-Col. Nicodim Lunjevics, the elder of Queen Draga's young brothers, was the immediate cause of the murders in Belgrade. A few days before the great tragedy I received from a correspondent in Belgrade a photograph of the young man, which had just been taken, together with some particulars about him, and a prediction that, owing to his unpopularity in the army there would be a revolution if the queen persisted in her design to make him the heir apparent.

The photograph, which is probably the only one of its kind this side of the Balkans, and has never been published before, is of great interest because the revolutionists, after murdering the king and queen, set out for Col. Lunjevics' home and shot him to death as he was trying to escape from the house.

The ill-fated officer was 28 years old, 12 years younger than his ambitious sister, who was 13 years older than her husband. Draga seems to have designed from the first to place her brother in line for the throne. Soon after her much-criticised marriage to King Alexander she sent Nicodim off to Paris to perfect his education, finish off his manners and give him a knowledge of continental military methods. When he returned to Belgrade he swaggered about the streets as though his succession to the throne were already settled and refused to salute his superior officers, on the ground that he, as the queen's brother, had the right to expect their salute first. He was a reckless gambler and made debts of honor which Queen Draga was obliged to pay to keep them quiet. On several occasions he became involved in brawls in the streets of Belgrade and in restaurants and cafes there and his name was frequently mixed in scandals of various kinds. Col. Lunjevics had been absent from Belgrade and it was his return to the Servian capital that precipitated the massacre, which took place on the following night.

PITTSBURGH SINGERS MAY COMPETE IN WALES

Prosser's Male Chorus Which Captured First Prize at Recent National Eisteddfod Recommended for Journey Across the Sea.

Pittsburgh Welsh singers are likely to be heard in the national eisteddfod in Wales. The Pittsburgh male chorus, which won the first prize at the recent contest in the Pittsburgh eisteddfod, has received flattering encomiums from Dr. Roland Rogers, who was one of the musical adjudicators here, and efforts are being made toward arranging for the organization to make the journey across the sea and challenge the famous vocalists of old Cambria on their native heath.

Dr. Rogers says that the local organization is on a par with the best choruses in Wales, and that it would stand every chance of success in a competition there. With this in view plans are being made to organize the chorus into a permanent institution.

The chorus tonight will give a musicale in the Welsh Presbyterian church in Oakland. In addition to a fine musical program a number of well-known local eisteddfodists will deliver addresses. The members of the chorus will, also, their esteem for their conductor, Isaac Prosser, and their accompanist, J. Harry Jones, by gifts as mementoes of their recent victory.

Director of the Pittsburgh Male Chorus.

DETECTIVE AIDED GANG OF BURGLARS TO BREAK SAFES

Gained Burglars' Confidence and Traveled With Them Until Ready to Make Arrests—Two Captured and Officers Pursuing Others.

After weeks of association with a gang of safe-blowers that has been terrorizing the Monongahela valley County Detective Robert G. Robinson and his assistants yesterday succeeded in landing Rube and Neal Bowers, two notorious crooks, and are in close pursuit of other members of the robber band. Detective John Lewis of P. J. Morrissey's agency in McKeesport worked hand-in-hand with the safe-blowers on two occasions and assisted them in their search for booty. The Bowers brothers were captured near Elizabeth last night and were locked up in the Allegheny county jail.

Lewis adopted a novel plan to catch the burglars. Gaining their confidence he threw them off their guard by participating in all their plots, and when an attack was planned upon the Walton railroad station a few nights ago the detective acted as their leader. He discovered the methods employed by the safe and familiarized himself with the names of the whole band. The robbers looked upon Lewis as a star safe-blower and divulged their entire plans, together with the history of their operations.

Last Saturday night it was arranged to capture the entire gang. It was their intention to blow a safe in a building on the outskirts of McKeesport. Detectives Robinson and Morrissey had planned to secrete themselves in the building and Lewis was to lead the men into the trap. Unfortunately for the arrangement the thieves got drunk early in the evening and indulged on postponing their expedition, while Detectives Robinson and his officers had to bide the greater part of the night only to meet with disappointment.

When the gang reported Detective Morrissey made an information against Rube and Neal Bowers before Justice S. D. Mansfield on charges of burglary and secured their arrest without difficulty. Detectives are looking for other men who have gone to Findley, O.

It was supposed that Lewis had been discovered by the gang and had been killed, but later he returned to the McKeesport headquarters unharmed. Lewis formerly was a policeman in McKeesport.

District Attorney John G. Happel has employed several private detectives operates to assist in the capture of safe blowers who have operated in the county during the last few months.

POLICEMAN SENT TO PRISON CELL

Is Charged With Murder, Though Claiming He Fired in Self-Defense.

NO WITNESSES TO TRAGEDY

John Selwit, a Finn, Dies at Monessen as result of Wound Inflicted by Revolver of Patrolman Manuel. Drunkenness Alleged.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
MONESSEN, PA., June 21.—Martin Manuel, appointed to the Monessen police force two weeks ago, occupies a cell in Central police station with the charge of murder against him. This is made by relatives of John Selkwit, a Finlander who was shot by Manuel on Schoonmaker avenue, Monessen, at 11:30 last night, and died in the Hotel Dewey at 6:45 this morning.

The shooting created great excitement in the town and the various stories are made unreliable by the absence of witnesses to the tragedy.

Manuel left his beat Saturday night and was returning to his home on the hill-top by way of Schoonmaker avenue. Selkwit was coming down the avenue on the opposite side of the street, and, according to the testimony of Patrolman Manuel, was intoxicated and stopped to harangue the patrolman. His language was abusive, Manuel says, and considering his drunken condition, Manuel was on the point of taking him into custody, when the Finlander turned savagely on him and began fighting.

Manuel is the smaller of the two, and in his own defense, he says, as Selkwit rushed at him, the patrolman drew his revolver and fired one shot. It entered Selkwit's forehead midway between and slightly above the eyes and plowed downward to the back of the brain. Selkwit fell forward on his face. Citizens who hurried to the scene carried the foreigner to the office of Dr. Wilson and then to the Hotel Dewey, where Dr. Wilson attended him. Selkwit died without regaining consciousness. Manuel did not attempt flight, claiming he was justified in the deed, but early this morning relatives of the dead man made information of murder against him and he was arrested.

Selkwit was married and leaves a large family. Manuel is also married.

Coroner Winn held an inquest tonight which resulted in Manuel being bound over to the grand jury on a charge of murder. This is the first time a murder charge was ever entered from Monessen.

UPSET TWO WAGONS

Charge of Reckless Running Is Made Against Motorman William Kennedy.

Charged with reckless running of his car, Motorman William Kennedy of car No. 1703 on the Western avenue division of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was arraigned yesterday morning at the Allegheny Central police court. He was arrested and taken from his car late Saturday night by Policeman Robert Dickson.

It was alleged that at Robinson and Federal streets Kennedy ran into a mail wagon of the Allegheny postoffice, driven by Haike Young, a negro, aged 17 years, throwing the driver out and severly hurting him, and smashing the rear end of the wagon. It is said that Kennedy did not stop his car to ascertain the extent of the damage, but that he was still running recklessly down Webster avenue, when at Marion avenue, his car struck a Horne-Stewart delivery wagon, driven by Andrew Banister, turning the wagon upside down and throwing the driver on his head in the street, seriously injuring him.

Kennedy claimed that it was the fault of the drivers in not getting out of the way of the car, and as no one appeared against him he was discharged.

SAVED BY CORSET STEEL.

Brooklyn Girl Saves Her Lover by Receiving Bullet Fired at Him.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(Special.)—In a fit of jealous rage Joseph Pardsley, a fruit dealer of Brooklyn, this morning shot and wounded his housekeeper, Gertrude Smith. A corset saved her life.

Miss Smith, who is 24 years old and attractive, was engaged by Pardsley a few months ago and had not long been in his house when he began to make love to her. He is about 40 years old. Miss Smith refused to have anything to do with him because she was engaged to another. Last week Pardsley asked her to discard her old lover and marry him. She scorned him and informed him that when her month was up she was going to leave. Pardsley nursed his jealousy until this morning, when a young man named Kress called to see Miss Smith. While she was chatting with him Pardsley appeared and in a twinkling whipped out a revolver and pointed it at Kress. Miss Smith jumped in front of Kress when Pardsley fired and the woman fell to the sidewalk.

Passengers on Traction Cars Have Their Clothing Ruined by Dirt.

Mud slinging was practiced in reality by a number of small boys yesterday at Second avenue and Brady street. As the open cars passed under Brady street these youngsters tossed mud on the passengers. Last night there were a number of complaints made to the police. Supt. McClishe detailed men to catch the culprits, but the traction company had not notified the police department early enough and the boys had disappeared.

John McCollum of No. 409 Chatsworth avenue, Hazelwood, was spattered with mud. His clothing was ruined. Mrs. McCollum and her children also had their dresses ruined. Mr. McCollum said a number of ladies had their dresses ruined during the day.

Detectives Capture a Well-Known Man On a Traction Car.

Detectives Lally and McGough arrested Charles Jackson of Robinson street, Allegheny, and "Young Foley" of Homestead, on a street car at Wabash and Main streets last night, as suspicious persons.

Foley was known to the detectives as a professional thief and was arrested as such, his companion being arrested for accompanying him. At the station Foley gave his name as William Poole, but the detectives know him and say he is Foley, as does Supt. Thomas McQuaide, who also saw him.

Only Great Hole in Ground Marks Where Senecaville Powder Magazine Stood.

ENGINE SAILS OVER THE TREES

Only Piece of Machinery Found is 400 Yards from Where It Stood—Two Men Escape Death as if By a Miracle.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
CAMBRIDGE, O., June 21.—Senecaville is gradually recovering from the calamity of yesterday, when the new Sommers mine was annihilated by lightning. The electrical storm came up in the afternoon and the men in the shaft, which was down 175 feet, were called out to take refuge in the blacksmith shop, which led to their death. One survivor who was hauled up from the shaft said he came out trembling at the fearful display of electricity on the steel rope used to hoist the bucket from the shaft. He felt safe when in the blacksmith shop, and was hardly comfortably seated when the awful explosion occurred and men at his side were struck dead by the flying timber, while he escaped severely bruised.

The explosion was caused by lightning striking the powder house, which Burt Purdom, foreman of the shaft sinking gang, says contained a ton and a half of dynamite. The men huddled together in the blacksmith shop, which afforded shelter for all laborers and carpenters about the works. Foreman Sam Hartup and an assistant were in the left of the shop at work when the explosion came. Those in the engine house, while badly stunned, were soon able to rush to the demolished blacksmith shop and assist the injured and care for the dead.

More than 10,000 people visited the scene of the explosion today and scoured the country for half a mile for pieces of the metal siding of the powder house, but no trace of it could be found, and the spot where the building stood was marked by a large hole in the ground, the explosion having displaced 30 cubic yards of earth. The building in which the men were sheltered was covered with steel sheeting, which was torn off and the roof blown off. The boiler rooms were found 250 feet away. A double eight-horse power engine was lying beside the magazine. The engine weighed probably 1,000 pounds, and the only piece found was a portion of the cylinder, weighing about 150 pounds, which was found on the summit of a hill over 400 yards from the scene of the explosion, having passed through the air at great enough altitude to have passed over the top of high forest trees.

Even roots of large walnut trees near the magazine were blown out, and no trace of them can be found. Windows all over Senecaville were blown in, and the Millhone home, about 400 yards from the explosion, is a wreck. A piece of flying iron passed through both walls of the building. All the windows were broken, the roof blown off and the south wall is two inches out of line.

Two men who were in the blacksmith shop escaped without a scratch, and the throttle of the engine was pulled and the whistle continued to blow, arousing the people for a great distance.

THOUSANDS OF TURNERS ARE IN BEAVER FALLS

Sunday Evening Taken Up With Singing Contest Among Western Pennsylvanians.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
BEAVER FALLS, PA., June 21.—The annual turnfest of the German Turnvereins of the Pittsburgh district, which includes the different Turner societies in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia, 22 in all, began here today and will continue tomorrow and tomorrow evening. Societies have been coming in all day, the members bringing their families and friends, and it is estimated that 5,000 strangers are in town.

This afternoon one special from Pittsburgh brought 1,200. It was met by a brass band and the visitors escorted to Turner hall, where the afternoon was spent in assigning them to their quarters.

The exercises this evening were held at the Sixth avenue theater. The program consisted of the address to the district societies by Herman Schuster of Pittsburgh, first speaker of the district; speech of welcome from the Beaver Falls Turnverein to their visiting brethren by William Pfeifke, speaker of the local Turnverein, and address of welcome and freedom of the city to the visitors by Herman Damon, chief burgess.

Competitive singing then took place between the singing sections of the Turnvereins of Homestead, McKeesport, Steubenville, Beaver Falls, Allentown, Monongahela City, Monaca, Braddock, Allegheny and East Pittsburgh.

KILLED WHILE HUNTING

Eleven-Year-Old Boy Victim of Flobert Rifle in Hands of Boy Companion.

GREENSBURG, PA., June 21.—(Special.)—David John Jenkins, the 11-year-old son of David Jenkins, mine foreman for the Westmoreland Coal Company at Export, is dead from a wound in the stomach inflicted with a 22-caliber flobert rifle.

Yesterday afternoon he went sparrow shooting with William Greggs, who told Jenkins to hold the muzzle of the gun while he aimed it. Both boys pulled at the gun and it went off.

Witnesses to the shooting testified that there had been no quarrel between the boys, and a verdict of accidental death was rendered by the coroner's jury.

THREE BIDS, BUT NO ACTION.

German Evangelical Protestant Congregation Will Consider Them Later.

The congregational meeting of the German Evangelical Protestant church, at Sixth avenue and Smithfield street, yesterday, took no action on the three bids for a lease of the part of the church property. The congregation will meet again on Sunday, July 5, at 2 p. m., when final action will probably be taken.

One of the bids is for a 10-year lease and the other two leases running for at least 50 years, arranged on a sliding scale, to be adjusted every 10 years.

Tries to Shoot Attendant.

BUFFALO, June 21.—James Shevlin, son of a lumber merchant of Minneapolis, arrived with an attendant today on his way from the Danesville sanitarium to his home. While waiting for a train Shevlin attempted to shoot the attendant. It is not known how he secured the revolver, but he said the spirit of Tecumseh advised him to kill. Shevlin was looked up as an insane person. He will be sent home tomorrow under guard.

Burglars Have Busy Evening.

WHEELING, W. VA., June 21.—(Special.)—Burglars operated successfully in Welsburg tonight cutting the plate glass windows of Henry Zollikofer's jewelry store and J. M. Rodgers shoe store and getting $150 worth of watches and 10 pairs of shoes.

ALLEGED BURGLAR DROPS CAN OF NITRO-GLYCERIN

NOBLESVILLE, IND., June 21.—George Marvin, said to be from Chicago, is in the county jail here, in a dying condition as a result of an alleged attempt to blow the safe in a general store at Jolietville.

Citizens of the village who were awakened by a terrible explosion, found Marvin lying unconscious near the store, with one arm blown away and his body otherwise so terribly mangled that he cannot live.

When the citizens approached a second man ran away, making his escape. The accidental dropping of a can of nitro-glycerin was the cause of the explosion.

EGERTON TAKES MANNING'S PLACE

Latter Unable to Cope With the Mad Mullah in Somaliland.

SITUATION IS VERY CRITICAL

Operations Have Already Cost $2,000,000 and No Progress Has Been Made. Heavy Reverses Have Been Suffered and Valuable Lives Sacrificed.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]
SIMLA, INDIA, June 21.—Maj. Gen. Charles Comyn Egerton, who has been in command of the Punjaub frontier force since 1899, has been appointed to the command of the Somiliand expedition force which is operating against the Mad Mullah, superseding Brig. Gen. W. H. Manning.

Gen. Manning, who took command of the British expedition in Somililand last November after a reverse suffered by Col. Swayne, has not proved successful in his campaign. Columns detached from the force have been badly mauled by the Mullah's followers, the most serious British defeat being the ambushing of Col. Plunkett's flying detachment of 208 men, with two Maxims on April 17, when Col. Plunkett, all his officers and practically the entire force were wiped out.

The last advices received in London, June 14, were to the effect that Gen. Manning himself was surrounded and unable to assist Col. Cobb, whose column was in a serious position at Callady and on half rations. One of the causes of the non-success of the expedition has been the cowardice of the native Somali regiment, of which so much was hoped when it was formed recently. Only a few days ago news came that the native camel corps had mutinied.

The operations against the Mad Mullah who first raised the tribes against the British in 1899, have already cost $2,000,000. A desire has been manifested to abandon the campaign, but in view of the predicament of Gen. Manning's forces it has been found necessary to order British troops from India and when they arrive the British expedition in Somililand will consist of 800 British, 1,200 Indian troops and 4,000 natives.

RED-HOT REPLY FROM BIGELOW

of every other bureau of his department.

"I will leave the controller to work out this problem, for he and the finance committee are responsible for it," stated the director.

"In reply to the controller's charge that I am violating the reform pledges of the Citizens' party by asking for power to employ men whenever I need them, I wish to say that the fact that I had this power formerly, for 10 years, and never abused it, is the best evidence that I mean to do nothing wrong.

"The controller's talk is foolish. It is not likely that I would employ men if there were no money to pay them. I do not know of any man who is willing to work for nothing. I know well that I cannot exceed the appropriations made by councils."

Stevenson Defends Finance Committee.

Chairman W. H. Stevenson of the finance committee defended his committee from the attack of Director Bigelow as follows yesterday:

"It is true that there will be another deficiency at the end of the present year, but we expect to wipe out this deficiency next year by the increase in valuations. We are running along on a credit basis now, just as any large business concern would do. A business house could not expect to pay off all its bills at once, and neither can the city. Some of the bills will be paid out of the regular appropriations this year, and the balance will make a deficit, but not as large as last year.

"If Director Bigelow is of the opinion that there will be a deficit at the end of this year, what will the deficiency be if he is allowed to make the payroll as large as he pleases? If he is to be given this power why make up a list of employes for the department at all? Why not strike out all the ordinance except the blanket clause and pass that alone, just as it stands?

"The salary revision committee cut down the payroll before the last election and the Citizens party gained many votes thereby. Does he suppose the people do not know that his scheme destroys everything the finance committee has done?"

Fight Tonight in Councils.

It is understood that Director Bigelow will make a reply tonight in councils through his spokesmen to the attack of Controller Larkin. He will give his supporters a statement of the deficiencies existing in each bureau and these will be charged against Controller Larkin and the finance committee.

Mr. Stevenson said yesterday that he was prepared to defend the finance committee if called upon to do so. He will also bitterly oppose the blanket clause of Director Bigelow's ordinance and on this proposition will be found with the Republicans, who are prepared to make a strong fight.

An attempt was made at the last meeting of common council to pass the ordinance finally by a suspension of the rules, but this motion was defeated by the vote of the Republicans. Tonight Mr. Stevenson and probably one or two other Citizens members will vote with the Republicans.

Two Small Fires.

A small fire broke out in a wharfboat at the foot of Wood street yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, but was extinguished before any damage was done. An alarm was sent in from Box No. 68 and the firemen from the chemical company, with their hand apparatus, soon put out the fire. A small fire at the residence of G. H. Balloff, No. 203 Dithridge street, yesterday, caused by a defective flue, resulted in an alarm from Box No. 711.

ONE OFFICIAL IS NOT AFRAID

specta. We know not the hour or the day that the attorney for some bidder will come in with a demand for facts about the letting of some contract, and we are always willing that any interested person should have any information he desires. Postoffice inspectors are also welcome to such information. All of the work of our bureau is a matter of record and the books are open to the public."

The office of the second assistant is a very important one, for it is he who makes the contracts for the carrying of the mails, the contract for mail bags and repairs, has the appointment of the railway postal clerks, and has charge of the foreign mail service. Millions of dollars are expended annually through his office, and more responsibility rests upon the second assistant than upon any other member of the postmaster general's staff.

Competition Encouraged.

"The contracts in our office," said Mr. Shallenberger, "are all let after bids are advertised for, and are let in open competition. We have no emergency contracts except a few such as for carrying mail in Alaska, where it takes so long to communicate back and forth. But these contracts are comparatively insignificant. For the others there are many bidders and there can be no secrecy. Too many people are interested, and all are welcome to the fullest information regarding any contract let.

"Many persons criticise the amount we pay to railroads for carrying mail. They say we pay too much and that the charges are extravagant. A couple of years ago congress appointed a commission to look into this subject, and after they had gone over the matter fully they made a report that is published in three volumes and left the charges just where they were. Not a single reduction was made. After thoroughly informing themselves on the subject they were convinced that we were not paying exorbitant rates. The same conditions exist now as then and I am sure that any one who takes the trouble to examine into the matter will reach the same conclusion that the congressional commission did.

"There are about 10,000 railway postal clerks employed by the government, but there is practically no politics in their employment, owing to the rigid civil service rules. Each state has its quota and its eligible list, and when there are any appointments to be made the man at the head of the list of eligibles from the state entitled to the appointment gets the place. Here is one place in the government service where the influence of senators and representatives will not avail.

Politics Don't Count.

"If I want a clerk in my office, the civil service commission certifies to me three names and from them I can take my choice. But when a postal clerk is to be appointed from Pennsylvania, for instance, but one name is certified, and that of the man at the head of the list. Consequently it will be seen that in the appointment of postal clerks there can be no political favoritism."

An important duty of the second assistant's office is the weighing of the mails from which the basis of pay for carrying them is computed. At intervals the mails passing over each railroad are weighed daily for several days and an average taken. This average forms the basis to be paid for at the legal rate per mile. It has been charged that certain railroads have been given advance information of the weighing of their mails and have thus been able to have the amount of mail carried during the weighing period greatly increased, raising the average. The utmost secrecy is used by the officials in this matter, and if railroads get advance information it is by accident or by some means which Mr. Shallenberger is unable to prevent. It is probable that this feature of the service will receive the attention of the inspectors when they investigate the office of the second assistant, and Mr. Shallenberger stands ready to answer any questions on this or any other point. So far as can be ascertained no charges of any character have been filed against Mr. Shallenberger or his office.

LOCAL SINGERS RETURN.

Members of German Societies Get Back from the St. Louis Saengerfest.

Three hundred tired but thoroughly satisfied members of Greater Pittsburgh's German singing societies reached the Lake Erie depot at 7 o'clock last night. At 2 p. m. last Monday they left the same depot for the National saengerfest in St. Louis, going over the Lake Erie, the Erie and the Wabash. The excursion was originated by the Wabash road, and was the first ever taken out of Pittsburgh by that corporation.

Fred H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent, and Charles Hamilton, city passenger agent of the Wabash, accompanied the excursion to and from St. Louis, making it a personally conducted tour. W. S. Lang, on, traveling passenger agent of the Erie, accompanied the train both ways over his system, and a Lake Erie representative was with the party so long as it was on that line.

While 300 left Pittsburgh on the special train, not so many returned upon it. A few left St. Louis earlier, but quite a number stayed over and will return on regular trains during the next few days.

Not a hitch or accident occurred, going or coming, to mar the pleasure of the trip.

Fate of Sam Parks, the Walking Delegate, Hangs on Votes Cast by Constituents.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(Special.)—Twenty sleepy iron workers, under the eyes of as many policemen, sat all day in Mannerchor hall, in East Fifty-sixth street, today counting the ballots cast by the members of the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's union on Saturday afternoon.

The counting of the ballots began at 9 o'clock Saturday night and at midnight tonight only 1,000 of 3,000 had been counted, and it was said by one of the judges of election that a result would probably not be reached before tomorrow night. Reports from the inside as to the probable fate of Sam Parks, candidate for re-election as walking delegate, were conflicting.

MAJ. POND DIES FROM OPERATION

Famous Manager of Lecturers and Singers Unable to Bear the Shock.

ULCER CAUSED THE TROUBLE

Deceased Conducted Tours of Henry Ward Beecher, T. De Witt Talmage and Many Other Platform Stars. Fought With John Brown in Kansas.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 21.

Maj. James Burton Pond, the well-known manager of lecturers and singers, died this afternoon at his home in Jersey City, aged 65 years.

Blood poison, which affected his heart, was the immediate cause of Maj. Pond's death. The poisoning developed from an ulcer on his right foot. The leg was amputated at the knee last Wednesday, and his condition improved after the operation, but owing to weakness of the heart he collapsed Saturday morning. Before his collapse, feeling that his end was drawing near, he asked his secretary to write letters of farewell to all his friends and relatives. Maj. Pond leaves a widow and two children, James E. Pond, Jr., 13 years old, and Mrs. Edith Brown.

Maj. Pond was born in Allegheny county, this state, in 1838, and went with his parents to Wisconsin in 1847, where he spent his early life on a farm. He served out his time and became a printer in Kansas. He fought with John Brown, and after the Kansas insurrection was crushed he returned to Wisconsin. He organized, on October 8, 1861, Company C of the Third Wisconsin cavalry and served through the civil war as captain, and finally as major in the regiment. He was one of 17 survivors of a band of 158 in the Baxter Springs massacre, executed by the guerrilla chief, Quantrell, in 1863.

Maj. Pond was lecture manager for Henry Ward Beecher for 11 years and he leaves a complete collection of lectures and correspondence of the famous preacher. His first star was Ann Elizabeth Young, one of the great Mormon prophet's wives, who lectured throughout the country exposing the Latter Day Saints. Among those he managed since then were Mark Twain, Wendell Phillips, Gen. Neal Dow, Edmund Yates, Joseph Parrar, Ralph Waldo Emerson, T. DeWitt Talmage, Martin Farquhar Tupper, Clara Louise Kellogg, Annie Louise Carey and John B. Gough.

JEWS DISCUSS DIVORCE.

State Decree and Rabbinical "Get" Demanded Before Remarriage.

NEW YORK, June 21.—The third convention of the Union of Orthodox Jewish congregations of the United States and Canada was held today in the First Roumanian synagogue. The Rev. Dr. H. Pereira Mendes, president of the union, presided. Reporting on the work done by the Central Conference of American Rabbis in New Orleans last summer, at which time they advocated the observance by the Jews of a Sunday Sabbath, the presentation committee condemns the suggestion, saying it "views with deep regret that men calling themselves Jews should advocate such a plan."

A paper by David Werner Amrah of Philadelphia, "The Law of the State and Jewish Law," was read. The writer deplored the fact that many rabbis do not seem to understand that they should not grant rabbinical divorces until those applying had first secured a civil divorce. A resolution was adopted in conformity with the suggestions in Mr. Amrah's paper, and further that no Jew minister should officiate at the marriage of a divorced person unless such person has received a state decree of divorce and a rabbinical "Get."

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, the Rev. H. Perters Mendes, New York; vice presidents, the Rev. M. De Sola, Montreal; L. M. Deutsbitz, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. H. Friedwald, Baltimore, and K. H. Sarasohn, New York city; treasurer, Jacob Hirschfield, J. Buchalter and Albert Lucas of New York City.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.—John H. Henseiman, Jr., a student at Ann Arbor university, who apparently is suffering from over-study, is detained here by the police pending the arrival of his father from Covington, Ind.

The young man arrived in the city today and attracted attention at his hotel by distributing tips of five-dollar bills to the waiters. It is understood he wrote a letter addressed to President Roosevelt threatening that unless the latter's influence were used to further certain alleged inventions and land deals of magnitude two or more men would be killed.

VISITORS ENTERTAINED.

Pittsburgh Was Host to Thousands of Out-of-Town People Over Sunday.

All the local railroads run special excursions into Pittsburgh yesterday from places within a radius of 150 miles. Early in the morning trains brought in great crowds who enjoyed Pittsburgh's parks and pleasure grounds. Phipps' conservatory was the mecca of the majority of the visitors.

The Baltimore & Ohio ran special trains from Cumberland, Connellsville, Morgantown and Wheeling. The Allegheny Valley brought several hundred passengers from the Low Grade division, and the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh brought a trainload from points north of Butler. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie ran a special train from the Mahoning valley and another train from the Youghiogheny division. The Pennsylvania railroad, both east and west, handled a large number of the visitors.

Shipbuilding Company's Affairs Will Be Aired Today at Trenton.

CONTEST IS FOR CONTROL

First Mortgage Bondholders Will Fight Strenuously to Retain Their Places as Preferred Creditors—They Object to Sheldon Reorganization Plan.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 21.

With the hearing of oral arguments upon the application for the appointment of a receiver for the United States Shipbuilding Company, to be held before Judge Kirkpatrick in the United States circuit court at Trenton tomorrow morning, begins what is generally conceded to be the real contest for the control of half a dozen shipyards and the Bethlehem steel plant.

Believing that their first lien upon these valuable properties is endangered by the proposed plan of reorganization, the first mortgage bondholders have asked for an order restraining the officers of the company from disposing of its assets and for the appointment of a receiver, alleging that the company is insolvent.

For these investors, Messrs. Roland R. Conklin, Max Nathan, Maguire, Mack and others, Samuel Untermyer of the firm of Guggenheimer, Untermyer & Marshall, Henry Wellman and Richard V. Lindabury will present verbal reasons for asking the court to come to their relief, in addition to the very voluminous complaint filed in court 10 days ago.

For the officers of the company Messrs. Alexander & Green, of which firm Col. John McCook is the head, will plead that it would upset the plans of those who are trying to reorganize the shipbuilding company to have any such order issued or a receiver appointed.

They will present numerous affidavits tending to show that the assets of the different plants are enormous, that many contracts are in course of fulfillment, and that if the reorganization plans are carried into effect the company may continue its business, with some prospects of showing a balance on the right side of the ledger. It will be shown that Mr. Schwab, whose holdings are much greater than any three others combined, is committed to this plan and that the reorganization committee, headed by George R. Sheldon, has been given a preponderance of the securities of the shipbuilding company.

The complaintants will assert that the reorganization plan is merely a device to get them to give over their 5 per cent 20-year mortgage bonds for secondary securities on a basis where Mr. Schwab's influence would be even greater than at present. It will be argued that Mr. Schwab's steel plant, instead of being a great factor for good in the merger, was really absorbing the profits earned by the shipbuilding plants.

HID 10 DAYS IN DEEP CELLAR

Warnings of Attack Had Been Circulated but Jews Did Not Credit Them—Russian Boys and Girls Pelted Their Victims With Stones.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Public Ledger Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 21.

Horrors of the latest massacre of the Jews at Kishineff were vividly described today by a refugee, Esta Botic Balcrol, a young Jewish woman, who arrived on the American liner steamship Westernland.

Hidden in a deep cellar with more than 100 other Jewish residents of Kishineff, she escaped death at the hands of the infuriated Russians only by her perseverance. For ten days and nights she remained in hiding, without food or water, and when finally released she was broken down in health and exhausted. She still feels the effect of her close confinement, and when she reached the home of her parents, 746 Winarick street, she had to be removed to the house of a relative, who is a physician, for medical treatment. Even her father did not recognize her when she landed at the Immigration pier, Washington avenue wharf.

Although weak and apparently very ill, Miss Balcrol talked freely about the atrocities at Kishineff. Through an interpreter she said:

"It was on Easter Sunday. Well do I remember it, because it was a day of great rejoicing among the Russians. It had been intimated in the Jewish quarter of the city several days previous to the massacre that an attack would probably be made upon us, but at what time could not be learned. As a result of these rumors, which did not receive much credence, my people remained in their houses most of the day and were very quiet and orderly.

"The morning passed without incident, but soon after noon trouble broke out among the children. Russian boys and girls began pelting the windows with stones, breaking the windows and injuring several Jews. We did not interfere in any way, but stood it all, hoping that the nuisance would soon be stopped."

NEW PRIMARIES IN FOURTEENTH

W. H. Stevenson Hears That Booth Faction Will Offer This Method of Securing Peace.

NO FUSION NEXT YEAR

W. J. Brennen Thinks That This Is the Time for the Democrats to Get What They Want from the Citizens Party Leaders.

Efforts will be made today to find a basis upon which harmony can be restored in the camps of the Citizens party in the Fourteenth ward. A number of the leaders have been ordered downtown for a conference this morning. So far as can be learned the conferees are all drawn from the ranks of the Booth-Lauler-McQuade faction. T. S. Bigelow says that he recognizes this wing of the party as being in the majority in the ward.

Councilman W. H. Stevenson, who represents the Moore wing of the party, says that he has no knowledge of the conference this morning. He has heard that the opponents of Moore propose that new primaries be held in the ward in which both factions shall take part, and the winner is to be recognized by all elements in the party. He has not had an opportunity to talk with W. J. Moore, and declines to express an opinion as to how the proposition will be viewed. This plan might be acceptable to Stevenson and Moore if Booth and his men would agree to exclude the Democrats from participating in the primaries. Booth's present ward committee is composed largely of Democrats. Moore contends that Republican-Citizens only should have a voice in the organization.

Kill Them by Kindness.

James H. McQuade, the city contractor and partner in the Booth-Lauler-McQuade political combine, is sanguine of a settlement of the trouble in the Citizens party in the Fourteenth ward. He says that his faction is now at work on a plan of bringing about peace, and believes it will be ready for the public early in the week.

"It is our intention to kill the other side with kindness," is the way McQuade puts it. He is a Democrat, and his work in the combination is to keep the Democrats of the ward in line with his faction. Any scheme which would force the Democrats into a separate organization would be fought by McQuade.

Neither Lauler nor Booth will agree to any plan which will give Moore prominence in the organization. Stevenson and Moore will fight any proposition which is intended to put them in back seats. Director E. M. Bigelow is given credit with having secretly inspired the fight against Moore and Stevenson, as he is determined to punish the latter for his refusal to take orders. The councilman defied him on the technological school site ordinance, and is today active in his opposition to Bigelow's blanket employment bill. The fight in the ward is becoming more of a personal one each day, and the head of the machine will experience difficulty in settling it.

No Fusion Next Year.

W. J. Brennen of the Clark-Brennen-Fleming Democratic combine is of the opinion that the Democracy should get what it wants this fall, as there is considerable doubt about a fusion movement in the county in November, 1904. It will be a presidential year, and in his opinion the lines will be closely drawn. He says that interest will center in the presidential election and the business man will not be willing to go outside of his party. There might be another union of forces in 1905, but that is too far away for the Democracy to count upon.

Mr. Brennen says that while he has been mentioned for district attorney, he is not seeking the nomination. Regardless of the man, he is positive in his declaration that the nomination should go to the Democrats. He called attention to the fact that the Democrats bowed to the will of the Citizens in the selection of a mayor and went to the length of not even nominating a Democrat for the office. In his opinion the Democracy is now entitled to the best office to be filled this fall. While the sheriffalty or prothonotaryship carries more patronage, Mr. Brennen considers the office of district attorney of greater importance politically and otherwise. He does not anticipate any trouble in the make-up of the fusion ticket.

No Fight in Convention.

"The county convention will be harmonious," said Mr. Brennen. "I see that Mr. Fagan says that he does not intend to fight and I know that Col. Guffey, Mr. Clark, Mr. Fleming and I have nothing to quarrel about."

Mr. Brennen tries to leave the impression that no one will control the Democratic fusion committee. He says that it will either be named by the convention or the county chairman and the members will be free to act as they deem best to secure fusion. County Commissioner James A. Clark is not so backward. He has announced that his crowd would control the committee and he is also determined to have the district attorneyship.

Mr. Brennen admits that it is the policy of the Democracy to keep up a working agreement with the Citizens. He says that the hope of the Democracy is in keeping the Republican factions apart. As a means of maintaining friendly relations between the Citizens and Democrats, the district attorneyship is wanted. Mr. Brennen appraises the office as "a valuable political asset." T. S. Bigelow puts the same value on the position and does not want it to get away from him. If there is any chance to elect a fusion ticket this fall. He will hardly agree with Mr. Brennen that fusion cannot be a success in 1904, no matter what his private opinion may be, as he has a plan to offer the Democrats the coroner-ship next year, as an inducement to relinquish the district attorney nomination. Seasoned traders, like those forming the Democratic combine, are not likely to nibble the Bigelow bait, but will agree with Mr. Brennen that this is the year to take the big bite out of the fusion apple.

FIRE PROTECTION FOR STOWE TOWNSHIP

Stowe township commissioners will meet on July 13 to decide the question of buying property in the township for an engine house site. The township is now without police and the residents have for some time been agitating for fire protection. The property under consideration is on Island avenue extension.

ELECTRICITY AS A TANNING AGENT

What Required Three Months to Do, Now Done in Half a Day.

G. W. FRAZIER'S DISCOVERIES

Allegheny Man by Means of Electricity Promises to Bring About a Revolution in the Leather Business—Other Electrical Inventions.

Several months ago G. W. Frazier, an Allegheny man, who for a number of years past has devoted himself closely to the study of electric science, and who has become well-known as an expert electrician, by reason of several important and valuable inventions, including a non-polarizing dry battery, obtained permission to enter one of the largest tanneries in the country for the purpose of acquiring a thorough course of instruction in that trade.

In taking this step Mr. Frazier had several important matters in view. The knowledge he obtained in the tannery business he has now combined with his chemical and electrical knowledge and experience, and after making a number of experiments has succeeded in tanning leather perfectly in 10 to 12 hours by the use of electricity. In other words, he secures in less than half a day what by old methods requires three months' time—a splendid, thoroughly tanned harness leather.

Mr. Frazier has not stopped with this wonderful result. He has gone much further. He has gone into the woods, and by means of electricity extracted the required tannic acid from the bark as it comes from the trees, thereby making it possible to transport out of the forests the dry tannic acid in a very pure state, instead of the bark itself. By the old method the cost of handling the bark, not alone in getting it out of the forests and in shipping it to the tanneries, but at the tanneries was very heavy. This cost is now almost entirely done away with by Mr. Frazier's discovery.

Not alone is this cost all but wiped out, but the cost of tanning is greatly reduced. The two discoveries together are certain to cause quite a revolution in the leather business, according to Mr. Frazier's ideas. He has patented both discoveries, and as soon as his papers are perfected he expects to achieve important results in a manufacturing as well as financial way. He yesterday showed to a representative of The Gazette samples of leather—one tanned by the old process, requiring three months, the other by his electric process, tanned in 10 hours. There was no difference in them—both are splendid samples.

As stated, Mr. Frazier is the patentee of a number of inventions in the electrical line. One of the most important is his "electrical precipitator" for clearing and purifying river water. He claims for it that it is the best of the mechanical filters. Mr. Frazier is now connected with the Beaver Valley Electrical and Manufacturing Company of Ellwood City.

DAMAGE CLAUSE MAY BE CUT OUT

Councilman Stevenson Thinks His Amendment to Duquesne Way Ordinance Is Doomed.

HE MAKES MANY OBJECTIONS

Fourteenth Ward Member Says Plans Can Be Changed, That Removal of Liberty Avenue Tracks May Be Delayed, and Streets Will Be Closed.

"I believe that an effort will be made in common council tomorrow night to strike out the damage clause which I had inserted in the Pennsylvania ordinance for the elevated line along Duquesne way at the meeting of the corporations committee Thursday night," said Councilman W. H. Stevenson yesterday.

"That clause was put in to make the Pennsylvania Company liable for any damages that may result from the city regrading Penn avenue from a point 250 feet west of Third street to the center of Water street, as provided in the ordinance. I believe that there is a hump in Penn avenue between Third street and Water street which the railroad company wants removed to give it sufficient clearance below its overhead tracks. I believe that the damages to the abutting property will be heavy, and this clause exempts the city."

Councilman Stevenson said yesterday that a careful investigation of the ordinance reveals many "snakes" in it. One of these, he said, was the clause relating to the approval of the plans by the director of public works. This clause is as follows:

Plans Can Be Changed.

Said railroad company shall submit plans and details of the several changes herein enumerated in so far as they affect wharves, streets or highways, to the director of the department of public works for his approval before any work on said streets or highways is commenced."

"This clause" said Councilman Stevenson, "does not give the director the right to compel these plans to be carried out after the work is started, and if the railroad company wishes, as it probably does, it can change the plans afterward to suit itself.

"I wanted an amendment inserted to allow the director to have supervision over the construction of the road in so far as the interests of the city were concerned, but I got no support for the amendment."

Mr. Stevenson said that the ordinance gave no indication when the road would be completed. "The measure simply states that the Liberty avenue tracks between Twelfth and Fifth streets are to be removed on completion of the road, and the tracks between Fifth and Water streets are to be taken up within a year after the completion of the road. When that will be no one can tell. The company might make a pretense of continuing the work on the Duquesne way line for years and keep the tracks down on Liberty avenue."

Streets Can Be Closed.

Councilman Stevenson contends that the Pennsylvania Company can close every street in the Point district by an ordinance, passed over a year ago by councils, vacating a number of streets for the warehouse project, and that the ordinance for the Duquesne way line allows the company to erect its masonry and steel supports in the streets. He cites the following paragraph:

The said railroad company shall construct, maintain and use elevated viaducts of iron or steel, with suitable masonry and with intermediate columns of iron or steel within the curb lines or in the middle of the roadways, wherever these additional supports are deemed necessary by the railroad company.

The Fourteenth ward member claims that the railroad company originally planned to run its elevated line along Duquesne way in the middle of the Allegheny river wharf, but that this scheme was blocked by Capt. W. L. Sibert, United States engineer, who had the harbor lines extended to within 25 feet of the lower side of Duquesne way. "The company intended to run down through the wharf and make a loop around the Exposition buildings, but the harbor lines were extended into the Exposition buildings and the railroad company changed the route to cross Duquesne way to Penn avenue at Third street."

A fight will be made to amend the ordinance tonight. Mr. Stevenson will probably introduce a number of amendments, including a compensation clause, but he is of the opinion that the company has mustered enough votes to pass the ordinance.

Amateurs in Comic Opera.

The Birmingham Dramatic club intend to present the comic opera, "Trial by Jury," at Odd Fellows' hall, on the South Side, on Thursday night. They have been rehearsing and preparing for some time and it bids fair to be a very creditable production.

His Table Manners Were Bad.

Mike Riora drew a revolver in a restaurant in Washington street and threatened the proprietor, Saturday night. Yesterday he was fined $50 and costs, or 30 days to the workhouse.

Wick Talked Too Loud.

F. W. Wick paid $5 and costs yesterday morning for asserting in a Market street drug store, Saturday night, that he had held up a couple of women and "caught some coin."

WILKINSBURG A THIRSTY TOWN

Every Store Closed in Consequence of Rigid Sabbath Observance Crusade.

DRUGGISTS WILL RETALIATE

Speakeasies Flourish and the Wide Open Advocates Plan a Mass Meeting to Resume the Sale of Soda Water on Sunday.

Under the iron-clad enforcement of the Pennsylvania blue laws, yesterday, Wilkinsburg was the "tightest" town in the United States. Every drug store and candy shop in the borough was closed, and merchants who hitherto have made a livelihood by slaking the thirsts of their fellow citizens took out-of-town excursions and left their old patrons to suffer. The blue laws and their advocates were supreme. The druggists, who declare that they have been discriminated against by the Sunday observance committee, kept their medicine cases as well as the soda fountains and cigar stands closed, and hinted that further retaliatory measures would be taken.

It is declared that the majority of the people of Wilkinsburg favor Sunday soda water, Sunday lemonade, Sunday cigars, Sunday ice cream, Sunday newspapers and Sunday ginger snaps and chewing gum, and an effort will be made to have a public mass-meeting and get an expression of the sentiments of the entire population and decide, once for all, whether the soda fountains and cigar stands shall be opened or closed.

Crisis Is Approaching.

The situation is fast approaching a crisis. While the soda fountains are kept closed, one druggist stated that at least four speakeasies were being operated in the town, and if was to these places, he said, that the thirsty element of the population was going. If the blue laws continue to be enforced the Retail Druggists' association of Wilkinsburg will expose the speakeasies and make an effort to have what they consider a more consistent application of the stringent reforms.

There are nine drug stores in Wilkinsburg. Some time ago the Sabbath observance committee called upon seven of the druggists who had sold soda water on Sundays and asked them to close their fountains. The druggists complied with the request, but surprised the committee by closing their doors against all customers, and the victim of the hundreds of little ills which are cured by simple remedies and patent medicines was obliged to suffer or send to the drug stores in the city for his favorite panacea.

Feeling Between Factions Is Warm.

The feeling between the open-Sunday and the tight-Sunday factions waxes warm. The open-Sunday adherents are designated by the strict Sabbath observers as the "proclaimers of the continental Sabbath," while the committee of citizens is frequently referred to as "the Aunt Peggies." One of the druggists said:

"The blue laws are bad enough, but when they are inconsistently applied the innocent are compelled to suffer. It happens that at least three prominent members of the committee prosecuting the druggists and the keepers of little shops are busy working every Sunday in the year. One man selects that day to shoe his horses and to paint his wagons. Another goes down to his office and posts up his books, while a third makes ice on the Lord's day. I wonder if it is a work of necessity to make ice on Sunday when ice cream is placed under the ban? This I do know, that if this controversy continues his ice will be in little demand and two or three days each week will suffice to make all he will have to sell."

Plenty of Speakeasy Beer.

Another druggist said that over 100 cases of beer had been delivered to a Wilkinsburg speakeasy in anticipation of the lack of soft drinks yesterday. He declared that no effort had been made to check the illegal sale of liquor.

Throughout the day the town was as quiet as a Quaker night. In the morning the cry of the newsboys was hushed and the little venders of Sunday newspapers ran through the streets announcing their papers under their breath. After church time the streets were almost deserted and those who had not provided themselves for a thirsty day left for the city. Smokers who were wont to run down to the drug store and get an after-dinner smoke lighted old-time pipes or depended upon the generosity of the man across the backyard fence who chanced to have a few stogies left.

Burgess John A. Keys expressed himself as satisfied with the conditions. He ventured no expression regarding the possible outcome of the crusade. As to the action of the druggists in closing their places of business, he said:

"If druggists persist in closing their doors against patrons who come with physicians' prescriptions, their licenses can be taken from them. I do not look for them to continue this practice."

In each drug store in the town a large poster was placed in the front window calling attention to the fact that the place would be closed all day on Sunday. Crowds stopped before the doors yesterday and gazed first at the posters and then peered through the glass at the silent fountains.

FATALLY SCALDED WHILE IN A TRENCH

John Ready, 35 years old, of Dixon Hollow, East Pittsburgh, was making connections between trenches in the boiler house of the Edgar Thomson blast furnaces in Braddock yesterday afternoon, when a rush of boiling water from a steam pipe caught him in the back and streamed down over his neck and body. He was scalded from head to foot, and taken to Mercy hospital, where it is feared he will die.

PEACE AND ORDER PREVAILED AT HIGH BRIDGE YESTERDAY.

The High Bridge riot of May 31 seems to have had one good effect. Since that fateful, sensational Sabbath day not one of the gang of cheap gamblers who formerly infested that section has been seen thereabouts. Instead of West Liberty township being terrorized each Sunday, it is the gamblers who are now terrorized, apparently. Yesterday order and quietness prevailed throughout that community. A few isolated games of ball were being carried on, but there was nothing approaching a state of excitement.

The baseball players are determined that these conditions shall continue. These boys seem to have more effect on the gamblers than the county authorities, for since they took matters in their own hands a few weeks ago general order has prevailed.

Several deputy sheriffs were seen strolling about the township yesterday afternoon. They said their presence was not for the purpose of maintaining order as much as to see just what was going on. It was reported late in the afternoon that a crap game was in progress in Payne's quarry. About a dozen baseball players picked up bats and stones and hurried to the place. When they arrived there not a sign of a gambler was to be seen.

A small boy, about 10 years old, was asked what the ballplayers would have done with the gamblers if they had found them at the quarry. "Well, you know what happened to the other niggers, don't you?" he said.

Fresh News of This Special Monday.

Made-to-Measure

Garments for Women.

Even the Ladies' Special-Order Dressmaking Department and the Ladies' Tailoring Department catch the spirit of this Summer period of reduced prices, and through June, July and August will accept orders for fashionable garments, the work to be done for much less than regular prices.

Our Cutters, Fitters and Designers are noted for their expert work.

It is a difficult matter to give all the news of our special sales, now the dominant note to the immense June business of this store, all in one issue of a paper. Therefore, this news, published this morning, can be taken as a supplement to that already given.

It is readable news of the very best sort. There is much that will interest men—and there are lots of men who are not averse to taking something good at a reduced price.

In view of the very many specials throughout the store today, if the weather is at all disagreeable, we should say the little prices make it worth while tabooing it.

IMPORTANT NOTE—On Saturday for today's selling we advertised Automobile Coats of gold cloth. That was written Saturday morning, and at that time we had plenty of them. An unforeseen demand for these Coats sprung up during the day, and all we had were sold. We deem it only fair to prospective buyers to make this statement.

New Millinery—Reduced Prices

That is easily enough understood. The manufacturers are cleaning up stocks, they are good enough to let us know in advance, we go to them and get their best products for great concessions—you benefit. Then there are the creations of our own workrooms—they go to you for considerate reductions.

Another shipment of those jaunty sailor hats—mates of the ones that went out so rapidly last week—plain white, plain black—50c for a $1 grade.

$1.75 each for a ready-to-wear Hat that originally sold for $3.50. Many new Hats have been added to this table.

Special tables of Hats and Toques, trimmings of very latest date, for $2.50 from $5, for $3.50 from $7.50, for $5 from $10, for $7.50 from $15, for $10 from $20.

Morning millinery, adapted to all tastes and occasions, for greatly reduced prices.

Children's Broad Brim Sun Hats of white rough straw, 50c each, reduced from $1 and $1.50.

NOTE (1)—New Midsummer Hats, Toques and Bonnets, Shirtwaist Hats, Knox Block Sailors, Exquisite Plumed Hats, Jetted Toques and Lace Draped Plateaus—designed by our own expert—not reduced in price—but exactly right.

NOTE (2)—Midsummer Hats for children, news and very latest ideas, not reduced in price—new white and blue Linen Hats, new Golf Caps, new Milan Straw Hats, new Tam Tam O'Shanters, new Patent Leather Sailors and many novelties.

Men's Underwear, 50c a Garment.

The original price was $1 each.

Choice is from a Summer line of Colored Shirts and Drawers, gray silkine, a material that is very soft and quite comfortable.

Half prices for some fine socks—25c a pair for a 50c grade of plain black lisle. Light weight. All sizes.

Little Children's Hats.

In the Infants' Department today we will sell little children's Poke Bonnets, made of point d'esprit and mull, trimmed with ribbon, 75c for the $1.50 Hats, $1 for the $2 Hats, and on up to the $3 and $4 Hats for just half.

Odds and ends of children's Wash Hats, mull and point d'esprit, trimmed with lace and embroidery, half of former prices.

Women's Knit Underwear.

Today in the Knit Underwear Department, second floor, women have the opportunity of buying Fancy Lace Trimmed Vests at quite a reduction—75c for the $1 grade, $1 for the $1.50 grade.

Quite a lot of low-necked short sleeve Vests, for 10c each, sold for 15c.

Half Off for Lace Collars.

And Revers, too.

The Neckwear Department, main floor, will sell today handsome Lace Collars and Revers, for one-half of these original prices, $1, $1.50, $2 and up to $3.

Men's Clothes—Reduced Prices

Two-piece Outing Suits for men, also full suits of blue and black serge, and Summer suits for young men and big and little boys, all with satisfactorily reduced prices.

At $7.50 from $10, and at $9 from $12—Men's Two-Piece Outing Suits, medium and light colors in wool cra an, tweed and homespun.

Men's Blue and Black Serge Suits, sizes for extra stout, extra lean, and for men of normal size—at $7.50 from $10 and $12, at $10 from $15, at $12.50 from $18.

Heavy reductions on Young Men's Suits—all the styles, all the popular cloths—at $7.50 from $10, at $11.75 from $15, at $16 from $20, at $18 from $22.

Boys' Suits, double and single-breasted and Norfolk and Sailor styles, at $5 from $7, at $6 from $8, at $7.50 from $10, at $9 from $12, at $11.75 from $15.

Laces—Reduced Prices.

Very little money today buys some of the finest trimming laces, as you'll notice:

5c a yard for cotton Torchon Lace and Insertion—from 1-inch to 5-inch widths—former prices 10c, 15c and 25c.

50c a yard for Venise Laces and Galloons, all widths, former prices, $1 a yard and up to $6.

$1 a yard for Chiffon All-Overs that sold for $3 a yard and up to $7.

Feminine Belongings.

Today at the Notion Counter lots of requisites, and they are yours for a few pennies.

10c a dozen for a regular 25c grade of Celluloid Hair Pins.

5c a dozen for a 10c grade of Kid Hair Curlers. Only 150 dozen.

Rugs of Carpet.

A few of the sample pieces of fine carpets left. Already bound, large enough for a rug. Not much to pay.

$1 each—worth $2.25—samples of Brussels Carpet—1⅛ yards long.

$1.50 each—worth $4.50—samples of Wilton Carpet—1½ yards long.

Awning Goods 12½c a Yard.

These are in lengths from 10 to 20 yards, and when sold from the piece the price was 18c a yard.

Useful for re-covering awning frames, or making covers for the backs of porch chairs, and the very thing to make a lawn tent for children.

You will find these lengths on the fourth floor.

Japanese Matting, $7.50 a Roll.

In buying this matting you buy a high grade of Japanese Cotton Warp Matting—choice of two grades, one of them sold for $12 a roll, the other for $14.

The colors are in the quaint way the Japanese have of mixing colors—red, green and blue carpet effects. Each roll has the full 40 yards.

Bamboo Awnings—Reduced Prices.

Opportunity today to get the larger sizes of bamboo awnings for underprices.

9 feet wide, 8 feet long, were $1.35, today $1.10.

10 feet wide, 8 feet long, were $1.50, today $1.20.

It will be a revelation to a majority of people to know there is an organization of Chinese working for constitutional government. It has been well known that Chinese factions have long been demanding "reforms" of one sort and another and insurrections are not infrequent in the Flowery Kingdom. But the call upon President Roosevelt by leaders in the movement discloses the fact that systematic effort is being made by an organization, having headquarters in Canada, to have a constitution adopted without prejudice to the reigning dynasty. It needs no telling that the dowager empress, enjoying absolute power, is less favorable to the constitution than to the anti-foreign "Boxer" movement.

Director E. M. Bigelow makes sharp reply to Controller Larkin and caustic criticism of the finance committee of councils. There is some basis for the director's remarks about the appropriations ordinances, the defects of which were pointed out by The Gazette at the time, but we do not see in that complaint any justification for giving unlimited authority to the head of a department to make appointments in that department. Director Bigelow might be trusted as far as any man in that direction, but the principle is wrong. So is the method by which a deficiency is concealed and carried along by the reappropriation of unexpended balances without regard to unpaid bills. It is a good thing, however, to have the public well informed upon all of these points.

Mayor Hays and Director Bigelow, who are endeavoring to arrange for a Fourth of July celebration in Schenley park that will be at least equal to former celebrations, need more than $8,000 to carry out their plans. A fund of $15,000 is required, of which less than $7,000 has been contributed. They will make personal appeals this week to the business community of Pittsburgh and contributions ought to be liberal. The Schenley park celebration was originated by Director Bigelow, and it is one of the things for which the community has good reason to commend him. The advantages of concentrating enthusiasm there on Independence day are many and obvious, and some of them appeal forcibly to the prudent business man. We hope there may be no damper to the celebration because of lack of funds to meet the necessary expenses.

In naming a salary of $3,500 a year for the state highways commissioner who is to supervise the expenditure of $6,000,000 in making good roads, the legislature and the governor counted upon the patriotism of able men to furnish an occupant for the position and not upon the salary. Now it seems the patriots are all busy taking care of their own affairs. Gov. Pennypacker has found no one who is competent who is also willing to give his services. The $3,500 salary is no inducement to an engineer of ability, and there appears to be no patriot out of a job to whom salary is no object. Under the circumstances it may be necessary to increase the salary to a sum that will prove attractive to a competent engineer who needs money on which to support his patriotism and a family. It goes without saying that the highways commissioner ought to be fully qualified as an engineer and in addition as a man of large business experience.

Capture of the men who robbed the bank at Center Hall, in Center county, is suggestive. As soon as the crime became known citizens were found willing to leave their avocations and go in pursuit. The result was a prompt overhauling of the robbers and the capture of the gang after one was mortally wounded. In the west this story has many parallels, where the rule holds that the injury of one is the concern of every member of the community. A good deal of the unpunished crime in some sections of the east is due to the fact that the injury to one is not a sufficient incentive to induce others to quit their avocations even for a moment to join in an effort to have justice done. Highly organized civilization tends in the direction of specializing activity. The capture of criminals is left to officers of the law and frequently the force of professional thief catchers is not equal to the demand, even if they were as intelligent, courageous and earnest in pursuit as a posse of leading citizens.

Recent condemnation of American locomotives by one of the English railroads on the score that they cost more to operate than British-made machines, is more than counteracted by the results of careful tests in Egypt. The reports from the Egyptian railroad—where the engineers did not go out with preconceived hostility to American machinery—show that American locomotives are not only cheaper in first cost, but consume slightly less coal and much less oil than British locomotives. These tests tally with experience on the British railroads in India, and with the fact that freight is carried at less cost per ton mile in the United States than in England. The adverse English railroad verdict previously spoken of was put under suspicion from the first by the testimony of a non-union engineer, who said he found the American machines satisfactory, but that the tests were made by union engineers and that every union in England is hostile to American machinery and American methods.

As the railroad ordinances will come up for action in councils today it is well to have the matter well understood. We hope there is no truth in the report that Councilman Stevenson's amendment requiring the Pennsylvania railroad to pay all damages is to be struck out. The city owes the Pennsylvania nothing and is granting it valuable privileges. The restoration of Liberty avenue is giving back what the city once owned. It is, however, a great compensation under existing circumstances. There ought to be an amendment placing a time limit when Liberty avenue shall be vacated, as "after the completion" of the Duquesne way line is a very indefinite agreement. Opposition to the Baltimore & Ohio ordinance appears to have disappeared since the increase of the rental to $10,000 a year and the change in the plans to continue public use of the wharf. As we said before these ordinances ought to be promptly passed, taking care only to secure all that has been promised to the city and that no costs or damages shall be shifted onto the taxpayers. The compensation is not all it should be, but may be accepted in preference to greater delay in realizing such benefits as will accrue.

More of the Same.

There are compliments that carry with them some measure of embarrassment, and our fellow townsman, Col. James M. Guffey, is now honored highly by being the victim of one of that sort. But as he is adroit and resourceful in his control of the Democratic machinery of Pennsylvania, and in the guidance of his party in its convention expressions, we expect that he will come out of the present dilemma with credit, and thus once more vindicate his right to leadership in the state, with influence that reaches beyond its borders. Beginning at Philadelphia and moving westward there has been a turning of faces toward Pittsburgh and a cocking of ears in expectation that the national committeeman would tip off the faithful as to the identity of the man he would like to have the state convention of his party in September indorse for the Democratic nomination for president. The colonel, however, has preserved a silence that would do credit to the sphinx, and the expectation of the faithful is now giving way to a murmur of gentle insistence that he strike the keynote in Pennsylvania for the guidance of Democratic sentiment in the nation. When the uncertain attitude of the Democratic party toward even itself is considered, when it is remembered that deep calleth unto deep, "Which is the Democratic party anyhow, and who is its prophet?" the embarrassment of the Democratic member of the national committee from Pennsylvania can be appreciated. But it is a compliment to him, nevertheless, that the mind of the Democratic party in this state should be presented to him as a blank sheet, as it were, on which he is invited to write its choice for the highest office in the world. Will the colonel speak? We think not. He knows, of course, the name of the person he prefers, and could write it out in full without misplacing a letter, and doubtless when the clock strikes for the psychological moment he will make the revelation.

However, there are two things that are likely to cause postponement of an announcement by Col. Guffey. One is a factional and the other a partisan consideration. The factional consideration is that Judge Gordon and a few others east and west with wounds to avenge continue to carry around a hatful of bricks to throw at men and measures the colonel favors. The partisan consideration is that it isn't worth while to attempt a state campaign in Pennsylvania on national issues. Of course, last year's experience shows that it really isn't worth while to attempt it at all. Nevertheless, whatever hope the Democracy may have is in keeping national questions as far removed as possible from the thoughts of the people. Do we anticipate Col. Guffey's manner of dealing with the complimentary attitude of his party and extricating himself from the difficult position in which it places him? If so, it is to be another "slate issue" year, with no intruding indorsements of individuals to indicate that Pennsylvania Democrats have any opinions on national questions or care even whether this is a nation.

Home for Working Girls.

Whatever may be the outcome of the desire on the part of the managers of the Young Woman's Christian association to secure control of the funds bequeathed by the late Dr. W. H. Daly for building a memorial home for working women and girls, both the decision confirming the will and the discussion of its application are of interesting moment in connection with a very much needed enterprise in Pittsburgh. Dr. Daly evidently had in mind when he devised a sum out of his estate for the building of the "Athalia Daly Home for Working Girls," the same need that the Woman's Christian association is trying ineffectually to meet along the same general lines. The rapid growth of the city and the demand created constantly for service of many different kinds have in recent years attracted, and are still attracting, a large number of young girls and women to the city. The self-supporting woman has so rapidly and so permanently become a part of our economic and social systems that the provisions for her proper care and protection have not grown in proportion to the demand for them. The Woman's Christian association makes revelations concerning the lack of facilities within their control for meeting this demand that ought to arouse the interest and sympathy of every good citizen. It is not a question of charity. The young women who are filling positions in every branch of service are in the main quite as able to take care of themselves as their fellow workers, the men, but they cannot meet the rough and tumble necessities of boarding life nor submit themselves safely to the chances of living "any old place," as do the men. Even the ordinary boarding house, no matter how well kept, has not exactly the kind of atmosphere in which the young working girls thrive best, while the living places that some of them must accept for reasons of economy are positively detrimental.

Dr. Daly's observations evidently had been of an extensive character and his bequest made to meet conditions that he knew existed. To provide a home for working girls in which there shall be the essentials to clean living and healthful bodily comfort, and also something of the social and moral benefits of a real home was evidently the thought of the testator when he provided for the Athalia Daly Home For Girls. To give force to these considerations at this time the Woman's Christian association reveals the great need for such home, producing evidence out of its own experience that proves how valuable such an institution would be. The conjunction of these two facts make the late decision of the court affirming the validity of the Daly will of great importance. It is not our purpose to enter into any discussion as to the disposition of the Daly bequest, but to affirm that the purposes for which it was intended cannot fail to impress any one at all acquainted with conditions among the working women of Pittsburgh.

The Real Difficulty.

It probably isn't so much the usual difficulties incident to the presence of the vatican and the quirinal in Rome that makes the question of a return visit of the president of France to the king of Italy embarrassing, as it is the unusual situation in which the head of the republic finds himself in relation to the papal see. When a foreign ruler goes to Rome the observance of certain diplomatic dissimulations makes it comparatively easy for him to visit the head of the state at the quirinal and the head of the church at the vatican to the satisfaction of both, though Catholic rulers have thought it wise not to try the experiment. However, the king of England and the emperor of Germany have shown them how easily it may be done, and doubtless President Loubet, the head of a Catholic state, could succeed as well as they did and thus pave the way for Catholic monarchs.

Unfortunately for the experiment, the delicate questions between France and the vatican growing out of the republic's dealings with religious orders make it advisable for the president of France to avoid a meeting with the pope, who might insist on discussing the situation. It would be impossible for President Loubet to go to Rome without making a state call on the sovereign pontiff, unless the French government is prepared to end the concordat and break with the church. Therefore, if M. Loubet does not return Victor Emmanuel's visit it will not be because of the relations of the kingdom of Italy with the vatican, but because of the relations of the vatican and the French republic.

Home Rule and Free Trade.

An esteemed contemporary which assumes to speak for the Nationalist majority in Ireland declares that "none of the Irish home rulers has expressed any such foolish thought" as that Irish industries shall be protected when Ireland shall have secured control of its own affairs. "In imperial matters of fiscal concern," declares this authority, "they do not seek nor could they ever hope to obtain any reform whatever." This is a pessimistic expression that doesn't sit well on a would-be exponent of Irish national optimism. Irish Nationalists, as we know them, instead of abandoning hope of "any reform whatever" in "imperial matters of fiscal concern," hope for everything that is good, and what is more they seek it. Irishmen will not be satisfied with anything short of bossing the whole job in Ireland, and if a parliament shall sit in Dublin to legislate for Ireland its members won't loaf around contemplating the theoretical beauties of the British free trade system while Irish industries languish and Irishmen expatriate themselves, as during the past half century, because their own land affords no field, or only a limited one, for enterprise. Stick a pin in it that when the Mc's and the O's come into their own they won't be satisfied to have Ireland continue as a "dumping ground" for the products of other nations. It is the American system that will be the model of the Irish in Ireland, not the British system, for the American system is a spur to ambition, nourishes hope in the individual and enables a people to grow prosperous and strong. Ireland has had centuries of British system (speaking in general now, and with only incidental reference to free trade), and it isn't because it likes the system that it seeks something different in a government of Ireland for Ireland and by the Irish. We cannot agree with our contemporary, which assumes to speak for Irish Nationalists, that protection for Ireland is "a foolish thought." That is a good British view which Irishmen will not freely subscribe to. They will, of course, accept home rule with or without the right, such as is granted to Canada and Australia, to regulate trade relations, but if without it will be the acceptance of the half loaf with the hope of securing the whole later.

There is food for thought in the declaration of Judge Galbreath, after the license court in Butler county, that "license court disgusted him, was the most trying ordeal he had ever had to submit to and that from the way the court was attended one would judge that the chief end of the people of Butler county was to handle and drink whisky." Some persons may argue from this, as has been done before from similar expressions of judges and others, that the granting of licenses is not a proper judicial function and that the courts ought to be relieved of the disagreeable duty. On the contrary, Judge Galbreath's remark is cumulative evidence that so long as licenses to sell liquor are granted the granting of them ought to be in the hands of men of the highest character. This being admitted (and who will dispute it?) where will men of higher character be found than on the bench?

Former President Cleveland's repudiation of that Galveston News interview is probably with a view to having it understood that while he enjoys life at Princeton he has no prejudice against Washington as a place of residence.

The present difference between John W. Gates and some other people, judging from his recent expressions in Chicago, is that he is a bull on stocks at the present level, while they will be bulls in time to make a market for him.

Reports of plots against the king of Italy, the czar of Russia and the sultan of Turkey come along in a bunch to make the private citizen feel satisfied with his lot.

Now that the president has taken command of the postoffice investigation those persons who had been trying to head it off are getting out of the way of the locomotive.

SERVIA'S NEW KING.

King Peter of Servia makes some fine promises in his proclamation accepting his election to the throne. It is to be hoped that he will follow the letter and spirit of the sentiments he expressed. No easy task confronts him. He falls heir to a bloody heritage and is the beneficiary of a brutal crime. This is, in itself, fruitful of complications. To prosecute the assassins of Alexander and Draga as they should be prosecuted might invite a similar fate. To neglect to punish them holds out temptation to those who might thereafter fancy they had been injured to follow the example of the regicides. King Peter has been quoted as declaring that he would not accept the throne unless those who were implicated in the royal massacre were punished. A very commendable resolve, but it lacks authentication. In his proclamation there is no threat of prosecution or punishment for the assassins and doubtless, unless the powers protest, there will be no effort to call them to account.—Birmingham News.

\+ \+ \+

Peter I.'s first manifesto as king of Servia has a note of confidence. * * * * On the surface of things, all this is hopeful. Other monarchs of Servia, including the one who was assassinated a few days ago, started out with fair promises and confident hopes. But Peter in one very important particular controls the situation. He has the governments of Russia and Austria on his side. The expressions of Nicholas II. and Francis Joseph make this pretty plain. Their congratulations, which have just been given, mean much in the present conditions. The Servian populace, whether they feel kindly toward Peter or not, know that he has at least two very strong patrons.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

\+ \+ \+

King Peter owes his throne to the crime which Col. Maschin and his associates committed. That he should summarily punish them is neither reasonable in itself nor would it be possible under the new constitution which makes the king a figurehead. * * * As against the czar and the Austrian emperor, King Peter holds at least one very strong card. His acceptance of the Servian throne is the only thing which stands in the way of the proclamation of a republic which would be pretty sure to end in anarchy; and this would be the very last thing in the world that either Austria or Russia could endure.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

\+ \+ \+

The state and the church have publicly thanked the army and God for the removal of Alexander and Draga. The nation has made the act its own. How, then, can poor Peter indict and punish a whole nation? The Servian method of changing its government is shocking to the moral sense of Christendom and particularly disturbing to royal nerves in many capitals. It is a poor way and a wicked way; but it is the Servian way. King Peter, in spite of the formal Russian suggestion that he punish the traitorous assassins, will let sleeping dogs lie. —Buffalo Commercial.

\+ \+ \+ \+

The British refusal to receive Peter into the circle of kings will probably have no effect whatever, moral or otherwise. Peter will continue to reign, with such ease of conscience as may be possible to a Servian king whose throne is darkened with the blood of his predecessor. Ultimately the British government will name a minister, he will be received with formal courtesy, and the "incident" will be closed.—Washington Star.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

The Rev. Quarekin B. Chilijian, the missionary, who was recently murdered at Odessa, Russia, by Turks, preached for about five years in Worcester, Mass.

Sir Frederick Pollock, the famous English lawyer, will read a paper before the annual meeting of the American Bar association at Hot Springs, Va., August 26.

Six Shaffer brothers, sons of John Shaffer, of Highland county, O., were photographed in a group at Hillsboro, O., a few days ago. The oldest is 86 years of age and the youngest 74. Their united ages amounted to 480 years. Their father's children numbered 13 and the children of these six brothers number, respectively, 12, 8, 9, 13, 12 and 5, giving the list in the order of the fathers' ages.

Richard Strauss, who is by many authorities regarded as the greatest of living German composers, completed his 39th year last week. His father was Franz Strauss, first-horn player in the Munich Court opera house. When 12 years old he penned a symphony. His wife was Pauline de Ahna, a well-known opera singer.

The Czarina of Russia has just completed her 35th year. As a granddaughter of Queen Victoria she married the son of Queen Alexandra's sister. She married the czar against her inclination, it is said, within a month of her father's death. She has been a devoted wife and has borne to the czar four charming girls.

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

That girl who is causing so much worry at home, and exciting so much comment abroad, will not stand again, even though older so to do by her mother, and her aunts, and the women who profess to know what girls are for.

They talk about the new woman.

Why bless your hearts, the woman whom you have figured out as the ideal type was in vogue long enough before the time of Moses, and was at her best during the reign of that good king, Hammurabi. Then she was the partner and equal of man, as we learn from the tablets discovered and deciphered by Prof. Delitzsch, who has been ransacking the buried city of Abraham, and others centuries older.

Of course it is not the business of Prof. Delitzsch to tell us why she didn't keep right on and save the world most of the trouble it has experienced since that time. However, it would be most interesting to know whether or not she had a hand in making the trouble which came near spoiling everything.

* * * * *

By the way, if civilization had advanced as far as these records indicate, what happened that gave it such a backset? The laws of Hammurabi were eminently wise and just, even more humane than those of Moses or Solomon. Righteousness, right living toward your neighbor and to yourself—was the watchword of this great king who lived long before the patriarchs of the Bible, and before the beginning of written history heretofore known to the world.

But there is a story, a legend, or hundred history, of a country, and of a time even before King Hammurabi, when and where woman was man's equal in all things, and, as the sequel proved, his superior in some. And now there are those who attribute the woes of this world, and of the world to come, to the superior woman in Eden.

Talk, however, does not prove that the superior woman of the Hammurabi period played the mischief with things then, as she is charged with having done in the Adamic period.

If this is the type of superior woman with whom we are threatened let us hope that Prof. Delitzsch will get a lot more facts concerning her career, and after.

* * * * *

Mr. Quiet Observer: I would say this to "Troubled Mother," whose plaint I have just read: Your trouble seems to me to contain within itself the elements of its solution. The daughter in question has a good education; in the ordinary course of nature, she, and you, would expect, that she will be a wife and mother. Before she can be a good wife and mother she must be a good housekeeper in the broadest sense of the term, which may be construed into home-making.

Let her apply her knowledge of hygiene by making the present home more sanitary, if possible, by systematically cleaning, dusting, airing, and sunning every part and portion. If she took an artistic course, let her apply her added knowledge in this line by economically brightening and beautifying your home by tiny additions, rearrangements, and all those deft touches that add to the home value of such things, yet without robbing you of their associations and familiar appearance.

Did she take a course in chemistry? Then let her turn her chemical knowledge to the preparation of food in such a way that the greatest return is obtained for them. The proper preparation of food is one of the most important, if not the most important, features of the home; the health, comfort, and in many cases the prosperity of the family, depend entirely upon it. You may say that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, but when a man has to fight his way in this age, he needs to be built up at home or he loses.

And nothing builds as well as good food, good beds, cheerful home life, and all that goes with it. Does she like the literary side of life? As recreation, let her have "evenings" for the reading of specific things—her specialities.

In short, no matter how rich a man she might marry, she would be absolutely at the mercy of servants if she did not understand what should be done, when and how best it should be done. It seems to me that the more she knows the more there is to apply to the truly magnificent and scientific employment of home-making. All honor to the one who will learn!

That you may know I am sincere in this very hasty outline, I would explain that instead of being a young man looking for a wife, I am the happy husband of a girl who is this kind of a home-maker, and we are the parents of three girls who are following their mother's line of work, and I am now,

FATHER-IN-LAW ONCE.

* * * * *

That's the kind of talk that counts—talk that isn't all talk, but has the real thing to back it up.

The girl that is led to believe, or even allowed to think she can get on through life without responsibility or care, is terribly wronged, and to thus marry a girl is to sin—sin most grievously. It may look like a kindness to her now, but common sense will tell you that it is not real kindness.

You may have known a boy whose parents thought they loved so well that they could not bear to give him a licking when he needed it, and he is now in trouble, or distress, or in jail. The best of men and women have to take things as they come, and those are prepared to take them best who know them at their worst.

ALLEGHENY, PA., June 18, 1903.

Quiet Observer: Being a daily reader of The Pittsburgh Gazette, I notice in a recent issue a letter from "A Troubled Mother" and would say, that if the graduate were trained in household duties the same as in literature, etc., there would be a greater number of happy marriages.

Many young men of today, some with money, are only waiting for the girl who is well versed in household duties and who is able to cook a good meal in case of emergency, which a great many graduates are not able to do.

As far as housework is considered a drudgery, what would become of us if every girl's parents would spend all their time and energy to give her a good education and no one were to do this part of the work.

I hope the troubled mother will teach her "sweet girl graduate" the ins and outs of managing a home.

A GENT FROM ALLEGHENY.

Maybe you would like a few figures to digest after what you have read about the girl who is making trouble all around. Here are enough for one dose, and you can have more if you want them.

In 1890 there were 2,900,000 women employed in this country, as shown by the census. In 1900 the number had grown to nearly 5,000,000. In a few decades at that rate of increase the number of women employed as wage earners will equal the number of men. But the facts are worse than they at first appear. Of that number the majority are between the ages of 14 and 21 years. Women are most largely engaged in the mechanical and industrial trades. Sixteen per cent of the boot and shoemakers are women, 25 per cent of the cigar makers, 48 per cent of the bookbinders, 48 per cent of the carpet makers, 43 per cent of the hands in the woolen mills, 53 per cent in the cotton mills, 70 per cent in the knitting mills, and out of the whole manufacturing world of the United States 15 per cent is done by women.

Another Verdict Against the Central.

When you put your "grip" in the baggage room in a passenger car it is well that it should be thoroughly secure. Miss Eunice Whiting of Nyack got a verdict in the supreme court today of $1,000 from the New York Central railroad because a 50-pound traveling bag fell on her head from a rack on the Empire state express. Whether the company could recover anything from the owner of the grip is a question. Miss Whiting does not care how it is answered, either. She knew the railroad company was "good" for her damages and she did not waste her time using the careless individual who put his cumbersome baggage where there was a chance of its knocking her brains out.

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

(By Pittsburg Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, June 21.—Building operations, preceded by the pulling down of structures of long existence, is taking the cover off of a great deal of New York life known only to a certain portion of the community. Many a little game which the law winks at in Tammany times, and frowns down when a reform administration controls the community, has been brought into the daylight since old-fashioned brick-and-mortar edifices have been falling to make room for steel frame skyscrapers. An instance of this may be seen in East Thirty-second street. A house has been demolished, exposing the internal economy to the inside world. Facing the passer-by is a large whitewashed wall, rudely inscribed with the words "Morning Glory Athletic club," while below is a notice that "boys under 16 not admitted." The whitewashed wall was part of the enclosure of a good-sized yard. Does anyone need to be told that "sparring exhibitions, often to a finish, were pulled off in that yard in the old days, when the policeman on post never could hear or see anything if properly "seen," and where some of the pugilistic stars of the present day may have exercised their "prentice skill on each other. Backyards in Manhattan have been the scenes of a great deal of diversion which would not meet the approval of Dr. Parkhurst. These backyards are being brought into view by the hundreds and New Yorkers who thought they knew their town are compelled to admit that they did not know it all.

What May Be Seen at Luna Park.

Luna park, at Coney Island, is something new and expensive. It is a recreation place that really is worthy of the spectacular language of the circus. It can be seen at night, by its many electric lights, from far out at sea, as well as many miles across country. The management say they have 200,000 electric lights burning every night, and I cannot contradict the statement. I have never counted them. The number is enormous and the general effect of the park and its amusements is overwhelming. Hagenbeck's collection of wild animals will be added to the other features on Tuesday, it is announced. The present list of amusements at Luna park, besides the park itself, which is a splendid pleasure ground, comprise a "Trip to the Moon," the "Red Mill," "Wormwood's Monkey Theater," "Babbling Brook" and "The Infant Incubators." These last are a curiosity that in themselves are worth a trip to old Coney.

Point Is Well Taken.

Leroy B. Crane, a magistrate of this city, who has his own ideas as to a magistrate's duty and is often criticised on that account, was interviewed by a woman for a newspaper yesterday. In explaining to her some of his official acts which have caused talk, he said: "A magistrate is in the place of a lawyer for the accused if he has none. He must see that he has his right of a fair trial. When a prisoner is brought before me I don't think 'there stands a criminal.' I think rather, 'there stands an unfortunate, who, because of bad environment or heredity, has made a mistake.'" Mr. Crane is considered rather to have made the point that a magistrate may be human as well as that he is the incarnation of justice.

Growth of a Department Store.

Macy's well-known department store employs 5,000 persons, counting drivers and others who are not actually in the building continuously. When the establishment was opened, 45 years ago, the staff consisted of Macy, the proprietor, and a boy.

Funeral of an Editor.

The funeral of Will Van Benthuysen, who was for five years managing editor of the World, took place this afternoon. The deceased was a whole-souled, jolly, out-of-doors sort of man, with some of the western breeziness in him up to the time he took to his bed. No one would ever mistake him for a New Yorker. "Chicago" was written large on his face, big frame and big voice, and he had the bluff manner of that city of wind and enterprise as marked as Jehu W. Gates himself.

Negro Actors Before Royalty.

The colored sports of Seventh avenue are in a happy mood. News has reached New York that the negro comedians, Williams and Walker, have performed before King Edward at Windsor castle. This is the first the negro actors have appeared before members of the British royal family, much less the monarch himself. When Williams and Walker come home it is predicted in colored society that they will have as warm a welcome as was given to Dewey.

Bakeries in For a Cleaning Up.

New York bakeries are under suspicion again—some of them, that is to say. Max Donath, secretary of the bakers' union, has found that many of the bakeries in tenement districts are unclean and that bread is made under such conditions that the bakers would be afraid to eat it. One minister talking about the matter says that inspection of bakeries "should assume the completeness and sanctity of a religious rite." This is a strong suggestion, but not too strong, if half that has been said about bakeries in some parts of Manhattan is true.

Great Improvement Under Way.

Having got the tenants out of houses in Lexington avenue, between Forty-fifth and Forty-ninth streets, the New York Central will pull down the buildings forthwith. Work will begin tomorrow with several hundred laborers, and as soon as the space is cleared, up will go the new station of the railroad, with the hotel and other adjuncts, as rapidly as possible. The chaotic conditions which have prevailed behind the present Grand Central station of late, partly sentimental and partly real, will be relieved and it is hoped that in the course of five years or so everybody will have become so used to the noise of building operations that they will not hear them.

Odell in Touch With Situation.

Gov. Odell has a way of slipping into Manhattan and slipping out again before anyone knows he has been there. He was here on Friday for a few hours, had a little talk with Police Commissioner Greene and Senator Platt, took dinner, smoked a cigar, and was gone. He may have been in to see today for anything that is known now. He is keeping close watch on the political situation. It should be remembered that Greene was very active in the last political campaign and that he is generally supposed he owes his present position at the head of the police department to Gov. Odell.

Greeted the Liberty Bell.

The Liberty Bell passed through New York again yesterday on the way back from Boston to Philadelphia. There was more of a demonstration over it than when it was going to Boston. Two thousand school children stood out in the rain to shout a welcome to it, and there were several hundred of grown persons also participating. Would there be a feeling of enthusiasm that the bell is safely in Philadelphia again. It is impossible to repress some feeling of appreciation of harm to the great relic while it is being hawked about the country.

One on the Burglar.

Speculator—Burglar got into my house last night.

Broker—Did he get anything?

"No. I told him you had it all in your strong box, on margins."

VETERANS AND THE MAYOR.

It's more than forty years now,
Since we were called to fight
To keep the old flag floating,
To show the south the right;
We know our years are heavy,
And yet it's hardly fair,
Pushing us aside so soon,
Because of our white hair.

The young man's time is coming,
He needn't crowd so fast,
We'd like to die on duty—
Our day will soon be past—
But you have seen fair windows
To crowd us from our place,
And if those sort of hurt us
To feel we're not the race.

Can it be that you've forgotten
Those four long bloody years?
That struggle for the nation,
Our nation halled in tears?
Those hard years in the army
May cut our valor some—
Our youth thus lost in battle,
Old age must faster come.

It hurts us to remind you
That we then did our best,
Our whole thought for our country
That's now so lordly blest;
But now that we are aging
You seem to have no care—
And we're not asking favors,
We only want what's fair.

For there is still good mettle
In these old bones today,
And we ask but an honest
Chance to make our way;
And while our ranks are thinning,
We listen not with dread
The bugle sound that calls us
To bivouac with the dead.

The Dog's Mistake.

Beaver Sandy is a very intelligent Scotch Collie, but even a dog is not infallible. The other evening he went with his mistress to call on a dressmaker. He was ordered to lie down on the mat at the front door until she was fitted, and promptly obeyed orders—to the extent of lying down.

The door had hardly closed before a wagon came along. It is one of Sandy's chief delights to run after wagons, and he could not resist this opportunity. When he had chased the wagon awhile he returned.

Unfortunately for the wisdom of Sandy, nearly all the houses in that particular block look alike, and Sandy chose the rug in front of the next door. Soon the householder came along and tried to enter. Sandy promptly drove him away. The householder tried to sneak in the back way, but Sandy was there ahead of him. Then he called his wife, whom Sandy drove back when she opened the door.

Finally Sandy's mistress heard the commotion and went out and showed him his mistake. He hung his tail between his legs in shame, sneaked over to the proper rug and remained there until his mistress was ready for him to escort her home.

An Eye for Business.

An old man does a thriving business every evening selling peanuts, candy and fruit around the newspaper shops. He answers to the name of Moses. The other evening one of the telegraph operators in The Gazette office complained that the oranges he had just purchased were too sweet.

"I've some lemon drops I can sell you to eat with the oranges," replied Moses.

A Good Story Wasted.

James Torrence is making over his storeroom, and a number of carpenters have been busy there for nearly a week. Mr. Torrence is fond of good stories, and generally has one up his sleeve for every occasion.

The other day something developed that just fitted one of his stories, and he started to saw it off on one of the workmen. The man stopped work and looked into the narrator's face with the greatest interest while the long tale was being expounded. And as the story ended, he gave Mr. Torrence the pleasantest smile he could muster, and said:

"Ich nicht verstehen English sehr goot."

A CHAIR OF HUMOR.

[It is proposed to establish at the University of Wisconsin a department for the cultivation of humor, in which the students shall be given thorough instruction in all that pertains to the writing or illustrating of humorous matter.]

Come all ye gallant humorists,
There be strange things afoot—
The colleges, through ancient mists
Will go to humor's root.
The joyous jest anent the goat
That eats the oyster can
Will be outlined by rule and rote
And shown to prostate man.

The quip upon the ma-in-law
Who rules her quaad son
At Eden's gates will come to taw,
For Adam hadn't one.
The tingling fancy of the cow
Who strolled across the road
Will be traced back for us, somehow,
To where Cain lost his goad.

The Easter bonnet joke we think
Is new, but, O, what if
They tell us that it used to link
A fecund theroigyph!
And that blithe one about the man
Who missed his train—they'll bark
Back through a legendary span
And claim he missed the ark.

Perchance they'll take the graduate
And all his weighty screeds
And show he caused to cachinnate
The obolescent Medes.
O, awful thought! What if they should
Our fond ambitions damn
By ruling that a joke's no good
Without a diagram!

Belike, however, they will search
The seas through and through,
And knock from off its dusty perch
Each tale told by Digwy,
And, eat it be? Ah, yes, it may,
That relict the wrecks which strew
The humor of some bygone day
They'll find one joke that's new!

WILL ORGANIZE MEN'S CLUB IN FOURTH AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge Plans Novel Institution for His Congregation.

BANQUETS WILL BE HELD

Physical and Intellectual as Well as the Spiritual Comforts of the People Will Be Looked After in the Club in Prospect.

The Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge. ...

Signalizing the auspicious beginning of his pastorate in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, the Rev. Warren G. Partridge, who assumed the charge three weeks ago, will organize a men's club in his congregation at a meeting to be held in the church tonight. While the new institution will be inseparably allied with the Fourth Avenue church, all men will be asked to participate in its benefits and to share religious culture in the widest sense. Banquets will be held in promote social enjoyment and the intellectual side of its members will be cultivated in lectures and literary and musical entertainments.

"I believe that the church should be open every day in the week," said Dr. Partridge. "In this fine building we are particularly fortunate in having space for the accommodation of our members for just the kind of an organization we propose to form. That church will be the most successful which will promote the physical and intellectual as well as the spiritual comfort of its communicants. We expect to open a reading room where men can come and enjoy an evening in study or in their own entertainment with the current literature of the day.

"This will encourage good fellowship and open to strangers a pleasant companionship which otherwise is not accessible to them. We have a large lecture room in which to hold lyceum meetings and give our young men an opportunity to discuss public questions—politics, for that matter, because every young citizen should have an opportunity to inform himself of the city's municipal affairs. The church likewise has facilities for banquets, and congenial gatherings of this nature will likely be planned.

"An invitation will be extended to all men, whether members of the congregation or strangers within our gates. Traveling men who are compelled to spend many dreary hours in hotel corridors will find pleasant quarters in such an organization. I look for a successful inauguration of these plans."

Prominent members of the congregation promptly seconded Dr. Partridge's suggestion and a large turnout is looked for tonight. Committees will be appointed to take charge of the three departments of work outlined and plans for a permanent organization will be made at once. In Scranton and in Cincinnati similar clubs were organized by Dr. Partridge and met with instant success, and now are looked upon as stanch auxiliaries of those congregations.

A GIANT IN STRENGTH DEAD AT NINETY-FIVE

John White of McKees Rocks, Was Six Feet Five Inches Tall and Athletic at Time of Death.

One of the most notable figures in this part of the country passed away last Saturday at McKees Rocks. This was John White, who died at his home, No. 815 North Highland avenue, better known as O'Donovan street, at the advanced age of 95 years. Few men were his equal in size and massiveness of build, and few, even during the latt ' years of his long life, could pit their strength against his.

Mr. White came of a family remarkable for their height and physical attainments. He was the oldest of nine children, four boys and five girls, all of them now dead. He was six feet five inches tall, with a normal weight of 250 pounds, although at the time of his death his weight had fallen off somewhat. His three brothers were of a height almost equal, ranging between six feet four and six feet five, but none of them lived to anything approaching his great age.

The family home at the beginning of the last century was in County Waterford, Ireland, and John had grown to middle age when he left the old country and came to America in 1849, the brothers and sisters following five years later. Previous to that time he had followed the sea for many years. During the sixties and seventies he worked principally in railroad construction, and to his outdoor life, as a foreman in camps and at the mines, is attributed the splendid physique that defied the ravages of disease far beyond the number of years usually allotted to man.

He did not marry until late in life and had two children, James and Annie. The latter is now Mrs. John Finn. The son inherits his father's powerful build. In 1881 Mrs White made his home at McKees Rocks, and being well-to-do ceased active work. He took, however, an immense amount of physical exercise, and is said to have been, at 80, as agile as a man 50 years younger. Many tales are told of feats of strength for which he was famous in the neighborhood.

Mr. White was slow to anger, but when aroused he became a man to be feared as a giant in his passion. On one occasion it is told that he seized with one hand a man who had angered him, and lifting him in the air, hurled him at a solid wooden gate, shattering the thick boards by the force of the impact. It is also remembered by many people at McKees Rocks that he vaulted over a horse 16 hands high. At this time he must have been nearly 80 years old. He could jump over a height of three or four feet holding a 50-pound weight in each hand.

Mr. White's wife did not live long after her marriage, and during the last 15 years the aged widower lived with his son and daughter in one of two houses that he owned in O'Donovan street. The daughter married, but the son continued to live with his father, and as tenderly as a woman nursed him during his last illness. He had been in failing health for six months past, but only took to his bed three days before his death, which was due to the infirmities of old age. Until the last year there had been little apparent diminution of his activity.

The funeral will take place from the home of his daughter, in Norwood, and the interment will be at St. Mary's cemetery, Lawrenceville.

PUGILIST MAKES HEROIC RESCUE

Jumps from Pier at Atlantic City and Saves Exhausted Swimmer's Life.

FINE WEATHER AT THE SHORE

Lifeguards on Duty for the First Time This Season Make Three Rescues. Pittsburgh Delegates to Press Club Convention Arrive—New Ball Team.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Young's Ocean Pier, ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 21.

The clouds that have been hanging over the resort for weeks were dispelled today and the hotelkeepers got what they have been praying for, warm weather. There was a shower early in the morning and then the sun came out good and strong and warmed things up so that there was a rush for the surf. The red-coated life guards were on duty for the first time and they made no less than three rescues.

The most daring rescue, however, was made by Jack Rodgers, a pugilist, who is employed on the steel pier. He was near the end of the structure this afternoon when his attention was attracted by cries of help from the sea. He and the crowd on the pier saw a man struggling in the waves outside of the line of breakers. He had attempted to swim around the end of the pier and had become exhausted. Several of the spectators threw chairs overboard to the man, but he was too weak to grasp them, and Rodgers, without taking the time to throw off his clothes, leaped from the pier into the sea and went to the man's assistance. He succeeded in keeping the man afloat until the life guards rowed out to him in a boat. The rescued man refused to give his name.

Speedway Well Patronized.

Horsemen are pleased with the progress which has been made in the repairing of the Longport speedway. Ventnor has done its share nobly and the city and railroad have undertaken the overhauling of the Atlantic City section, with the result that it is now passable. The speedway every afternoon since it was improved is well filled with teams. There is about a score of autos in the city which take to the speedway for exercise during the week. Horses go up in the air, but they are becoming better acquainted with the motor machines.

Press Club Delegates Arrive.

The delegation from the Pittsburgh Press club to attend the convention of the International League of Press clubs' convention arrived this morning and established headquarters at the Islesworth. In the party are John M. Haslett, C. W. Armour, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. McSwigan and child, Magistrate J. H. Vichestein, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lampert, Alfred W. Mendel, D. C. McCutcheon, Mr. and Mrs. E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Magee, W. Lee McElwain, L. C. Carson, A. H. Beitch, Miss Dever, Charles Edward Locke, Jr., N. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Goshorn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. McSwigan.

Pittsburghers in Hospital.

Mrs. R. C. Hammer of Pittsburgh was admitted into the city hospital yesterday, where she joined her husband, who two weeks ago had been removed from a beach front hotel into the institution suffering from gastritis. Man and wife occupied separate wards and neither is in any serious danger, yet the fact that they are keeping each other company in the hospital is a sad ending to their visit to the resort. They came here in the hope that the climate would benefit their health.

Strong Team for Atlantic City.

Manager Meeteer of the Atlantic City collegians baseball team will arrive in the city tomorrow to prepare for the opening of the regular season of his club, which takes place next Saturday. It is stated that he has signed the strongest team of college players that has ever represented this resort. Among these is the famous "Cy" Voorhees, who has been playing with the Baltimore club of the Eastern league. Frank Pierson will again captain the local team. The first game is scheduled for next Saturday afternoon at Inlet park with the Dale A. A., the local colored organization that has been playing such good ball this year. On the following Monday the Philadelphia Giants will meet the collegians.

Will Show at Young Pier.

Francis Dalton has written for stage use a series of dramatic tableaux which he calls the Magdalene. They are in play form, and call for about 20 players. In all probability the Magdalene will be staged in Young's Pier theater, Atlantic City, the evening of Sunday, June 28, and will be repeated every Sunday evening thereafter during the engagement of Miller & Kaufman's special company, the members of which will take up the various biblical characters utilized by Mr. Dalton.

New Roof Garden Opens.

There will be an innovation at the Garden hotel this season. Mr. Finch has built upon the roof of the hotel one of the most elaborate gardens that has ever been constructed in this country. He has brought over the famous Buda Pest orchestra which will give concerts every evening. In addition to the orchestra he has engaged Faustina, the famous dancer, to appear every evening during July. The new palm garden at the Garden has become very popular with the visitors.

CONGRESS PREPARING FOR COMING CAMPAIGN

Cuban and Appropriation Bills to Be Passed at Special Session.

Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, crossed the Alleghany mountains yesterday over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad on his way to his home in Danville, Ill., from Washington, D. C. Accompanying him was Congressman J. Adam Bede of Duluth, Minn. Speaker Cannon had been in Washington on matters pertaining to the next congress, which is to convene in extraordinary session on November 9. Speaking on congressional matters Mr. Cannon said:

"The calling of a special session of congress is a wise move on the part of the president. It is absolutely necessary in order to expedite matters. One of the bills to be considered is the Cuban treaty bill. Indications are that it will be passed with little or no opposition. There are numerous appropriation bills which will be passed. Other matters of minor importance will be considered.

"One of the principal reasons for clearing up the business of the house at a special session is to warrant an early adjournment of the congress. All congressmen desire to be home during the entire campaign for president. I do not think the campaign will be as exciting as some I have experienced."

When Speaker Cannon arrived at the Baltimore & Ohio station last evening he was a very sick man. He said he felt good when he left Washington, but the mountain ride had disagreed with him. He needed assistance at the station, but was able to resume his journey home.

EIGHT MORE BODIES FOUND AT HEPPNER

HEPPNER, ORE., June 21.—The Oregon Railway & Navigation Company has resumed regular service to Heppner. Eight bodies were received at the morgue yesterday, making a total of 167 received. Some were found below Douglas, about 30 miles. Money and supplies are being sent in from all over the state and from neighboring states. Up to this time, $23,705 has been received.

Street Corner Loafers Arrested.

Three Allegheny young men, Thomas Clark, James Welsh and Thomas Collins, were arrested on Locust street last night, charged with vagrancy. It is claimed they will not work and loaf around the street corners day and night.

PITTSBURGHERS HAVE NEW PROJECT

Will Develop Iron Ore Lands Found in Cherokee County, Texas.

EXPERT REPORTS FAVORABLY

John P. Marshall, Who Examined the Property, Says There Is No Finer Ore in the World—Million Will Be Invested at Once.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, June 21.—After a careful inspection of iron ore deposits in Cherokee county, Texas, John P. Marshall, for many years in the service of Andrew Carnegie, has reported favorably to a number of Pittsburgh steel magnates, who will undertake the Texas development at once.

This is probably one of the largest deals engineered in the south in many a day. Definite information of the big Texas deal was reported here today when Mr. Marshall, accompanied by Col. L. M. Oppenheimer, chairman of the Texas state penitentiary board, reached New Orleans on their way to Birmingham, Ala., where the latter goes to secure some iron experts for the penitentiary works at Rusk.

Col. Oppenheimer said Mr. Marshall had made a quiet trip to Cherokee county to inspect the properties in behalf of Pittsburgh capitalists. He had reported favorably on the prospect for manufacturing iron out there. In his opinion there is no finer ore in the world and he has telegraphed that statement to the Pittsburghers. Steps were taken at once and the Pittsburghers have already acquired the new Birmingham (Texas) iron properties and will spend something like a million in enlarging and placing them in operation. They will soon be operated to their full capacity.

INDIAN BAPTISTS VERY EXCLUSIVE

HOBART, OKLA., June 21.—The Indian Baptist association, which is composed entirely of Kiowa Indians, has adopted a resolution excluding all whites from their meetings. Missionaries working among the Indians announce this as a result of the timidity of the Indians in participating in religious exercises in the presence of the whites.

THE DEATH ROLL

Major Stephen Johnson.

Maj. Stephen Johnson, aged 81 years, died at Piqua, O., yesterday, of paralysis. He drafted the charter of the Columbus, Piqua & Indiana railway, now the Pennsylvania line to Chicago and St. Louis, and was for a quarter of a century its counsel. He held county offices, had been a member of the legislature and served with distinction in the Eleventh Ohio during the civil war. He was a presidential elector on the Lincoln ticket and was the Greenback candidate for governor of Ohio in 1877. He served many years as trustee of the Ohio State university, and was prominently connected with boards of public works.

Jacob Steuernagel.

Jacob Steuernagle, an active member of the Pittsburgh grain exchange for many years, died at his home, No. 251 Align avenue, Allegheny, yesterday. He was born in the Third ward, Pittsburgh, May 1, 1840, and resided all his life in the two cities, moving to Allegheny in 1866. He recently became connected with S. R. Patterson & Co. He was a veteran of the civil war, serving three years with the Army of the Potomac, in Company A, Ninth regiment, Pennsylvania reserves. He was a member of Post No. 88, G. A. R., Veteran Legion No. 1, Twin City lodge of Odd Fellows, and was secretary of Revenue council, Royal Arcanum.

Capt. Jesse B. Nannah.

Capt. Jesse Bell Nannah, the oldest resident of Rochester, Pa., died Sunday from the effects of a paralytic stroke suffered Wednesday. He was born in Rochester, May 30, 1815. In the civil war he was a government pilot. He was a member of the First Baptist church and of the Masons and Knights of Pythias. Three children survive—Mrs. Sarah Gormley of Allegheny, Mrs. James Irvin of Rochester township, William J. Nannah of New Brighton, Archie Kent and Margie, at home. Interment will be made Tuesday afternoon in Irvin's cemetery, Rochester.

James Martin.

James Martin, an old resident of Washington, Pa., died yesterday morning from heart failure, aged 78. He was born December 28, 1828, in North Strabane township, and moved to Washington many years ago. He was married to Elizabeth Cloker in 1858. He was an active Republican and a member of the United Presbyterian church. He is survived by two brothers, Dr. Martin of Canonsburg, and William Martin of Cloksville, and one sister, Mrs. George Davis of Washington.

Obituary Notes.

Arthur Ward died at his home in Penich, W. Va., last night of heart disease. He was 60 years old and a recluse.

The funeral of W. G. Van Bentuysen will be held at Bloomfield, Ia., on Tuesday, instead of at Mount Pleasant, as announced.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ciencela of New Kensington was found dead in bed Sunday morning, death being due to heart failure. She was 64 years old and is survived by two daughters and one son.

William G. Kennedy, aged 38 years, died at Knox Saturday afternoon. He will be buried from the residence of Dr. James Knowlton, No. 334 Fourth avenue, Tarentum, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Members of Pollock Lodge No. 902, F. and A. M., are invited to attend.

Mrs. Katherine Hall Lutton, Washington, Pa., widow of Robert Lutton, died yesterday morning, from paralysis aged 66 years. Two children survive her, Curtis L., ex-Sheriff C. A. Carothers of Washington county, and Robert G. Lutton of Washington. Mrs Lutton was an active member of the Old Hill Church Presbyterian church.

PERSONALS

Dr. Charles F. Stine, a graduate of the Baltimore Medical college, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday on a business trip. He hails from San Juan, Porto Rica, where he has been the past five years. Since locating in the island he has started in business, laying aside his profession. He speaks glowingly of Porto Rica. He said: "When I first went to Porto Rico I had not the least idea what kind of an island it was. I soon discovered that vast opportunities awaited American ingenuity and capital. I possessed neither, but nevertheless have been successful. I started in the brokerage business, representing all the important American houses. I can say that I have surpassed my sanguine expectations. Porto Rica is a beautiful island. The streets of San Juan are among the finest in the world, and Ponce has some beautiful thoroughfares. The road from San Juan to Ponce promises to be a model. At present the two cities are connected by coaches, but in a few months street cars will be running between them. The fare is now $15, but the street cars will probably charge $1 for the trip. Much coffee and tobacco is imported from the island, and it already depends almost entirely on American imports."

Brig. Gen. John A. Wiley of the Second brigade is very busy arranging for the annual encampment. He came from his home in Franklin yesterday, and will leave this morning for Somerset. The general expects the coming camp to be the best in the history of the brigade. He says the site selected is ideal, and the boys, having been there before, are anxiously awaiting their trip to the mountains. He registered at the Seventh Avenue.

E. E. Stockton, representing the Ingraham Clock Company, of Bristol, Conn., accompanied by Mrs. Stockton, is at the Hotel Duquesne.

A number of South Side business men, among them being Emil Winter, formerly of the Winter Bros.' Brewery Company, left last night on an extended trip to Europe. They went east over the Pennsylvania railroad, and their first stop of any importance will be at Paris.

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

HADLEY POINTS WAY TO STUDENTS

President of Yale Preaches Baccalaureate Sermon in Woolsey Hall.

700 GRADUATES HEAR HIM

Desirability of Unselfish Effort Recommended to Young Men Who Are Now About to Begin Their Careers—Two Ways to Gain the Leadership.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 21.—President Arthur T. Hadley delivered the baccalaureate address today to the graduating classes in Woolsey hall. Nearly 700 young men in the aggregate are candidates for degrees and the majority of them, gowned in their robes, occupied seats in the big auditorium, flanked on both sides by many graduates back for class reunions. The oldest class represented was 1853, which celebrated its semi-centenary. The galleries were filled with friends of the graduating classes, many being ladies, mothers and sisters. This afternoon 3,000 persons crowded Woolsey hall to hear an organ recital by Prof. Jepson.

President Hadley based his sermon on the desirability of unselfish effort upon the episode in David's career when he wished for a drink of water from the well of Bethlehem and three captains charged through the Philistine host to bring the drink, only to have their leader pour the water on the ground as an offering to the Lord. He compared the careers and motives of such leaders as Napoleon and Washington and Lincoln, showing the blight of selfishness, and then said:

Opportunities Are Obvious.

"The opportunities for the exercise of judgment are obvious to every man. Just as long as your calculations are right, you may be certain that every selfish man will follow you with the same fidelity with which the gambler stakes his money on the success of him whom he believes to be the shrewdest card player. Success and fidelity of this kind are so conspicuous and so widely heralded that some people seem to think there is no other success or fidelity worth considering.

"But they are wrong. The world is more than a game of cards. History is more than a record of gambling operations. Fidelity is more than selfish belief in the accuracy of another man's predictions. If it were true, as some metaphysicians tell us, that all action is necessarily selfish—the only difference being that some people admit their selfishness, others try to conceal it from the rest of the world and a few go so far as to conceal it from themselves—the whole social order would centuries ago have gone to pieces.

"You will have failed to learn the best lesson of your college life unless you have caught that spirit which teaches you to value money and office and other symbols of success for the sake of the possibilities of service which they represent, and to despise the man who thinks of the money or office rather than of the use he can make of them. It is this way of estimating success which makes a man a gentleman in his dealings with others.

The Only True Course.

"That man who values the world for what he can put into it; who deals courteously with his associates, patriotically with his country, and who, under whatsoever creed or form, has that spirit of devotion to an ideal which is the essential thing in religion. That man makes himself part of a world which is bound together by higher motives than the hope of material success. If you pursue truth, people will be true to you, and you will help to make them truer to all their ideals. If you love others, others will love you, and you will help to teach them a wider charity in all their dealings with the world. If you take the honors and emoluments of your leadership, not as a privilege of your own, but as a trust to be consecrated to the Lord, even as David poured out upon the rocks the water that represented the life blood of his followers, then you may be sure that such men who was devoted before will be doubly devoted thereafter, and will find, brought home to his heart, the true meaning of success in life, as no material prosperity or intellectual argument could bring it."

Yale university scholarships and fellowships for 1904, announced today, include a large number of Western Pennsylvania boys among whom are the following:

Honors Announced.

Sheffield Scientific school, class of 1903, general two-year honors for excellence in all studies, Reginald Jackson of Kennett Square, Pa.; mechanical engineering, Harry James Mold, Blossburg, Pa.; civil engineering, special prize for mechanical engineering, Reginald Jackson; honors for excellence in all studies of the junior year, Robert Sumner Skemp, Scottdale, Pa.

University fellowships for 1904: Philosophy—Luther A. Weigle, Penn college, 1900, Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Donald J. Cowling, Yale, 1903, Scottdale, Pa. Economics—Clinton E. Zerwick, Muhlenberg college, 1902, Bethlehem; Stillman fellowship in science for 1904, Herbert Edwin Medway of Daleville, Pa., Yale, 1900, subject, "Chemistry."

GIVEN PINT OF WHISKY.

Chief Event in Quiet Sunday in Jail for Jett and White.

LEXINGTON, KY., June 21.—Curtis Jett and Thomas White spent a quiet day in jail here. They were not accessible to visitors, and the usual religious services were dispensed with on account of the crowds of curious people who would have taken advantage of the services to gain admission.

The two men were allowed a pint of whisky and had their meals sent from a restaurant, with a parting admonition from Judge Hargis to the jailer to allow Jett and White to have any orders they desired and to charge the expense to him.

Judge James Hargis returned to Jackson today. He did not see the prisoners before leaving, but left a message requesting them to be courteous to the jail officials and to visitors, and expressing his regret at their conduct Saturday, when they used abusive language to those who saw them.

GERMANS LIKELY TO MODIFY TARIFF

Recent Defeat of Agrarians Augurs Favorably for United States Interests.

KAISER FAVORS MODERATION

Trade in American Grains, Canned Beefs and Other Staple Articles Almost Killed by the Existing Law—Less Stringent Regulations Expected.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.

German-American commercial relations and prospective trade treaties will be strongly and perhaps radically influenced by the remarkable social democratic gains in the pending reichstag elections, according to authorities of the agricultural and other departments here who keep in close touch with the situation in Kaiser William's realm.

Agrarian defeat implies, according to these officials, a renewal of commercial treaty negotiations upon a basis that will bear practical results. The scathing blow administered the Agrarians, who are the most uncompromising foes of American imports of grains, canned beefs, preserved meats and other staple articles, is looked upon as a sure sign that the coming reichstag will be in a more liberal mood to consider tariff modifications, especially those harsh clauses in the new Pocadowsky law, which are aimed at the exclusion of American grains, fruits, preserved meats and packing house products.

"Although it is premature to draw conclusions from the German reichstag elections," says Dr. Saimon, chief of the animal industry branch of the agricultural department, and the authority best schooled on German-American relations, "it is safe to say that the prospect is more hopeful for a mutual readjustment of trade relations with Germany.

Agrarians Are Responsible.

"The invincible position of the Agrarians heretofore caused the stringent inspection and exclusion law which has now all but destroyed the canned beef and meat exportation to Germany. The election now seems to indicate that this policy is not popular."

A Republican senator now visiting this city and a strong advocate of high protection says:

"We need not fear any hostile tariff action on the part of Germany. We can retaliate against German imports in a way to reduce their trade materially, and to a much greater extent than the American trade with Germany would be affected by the discriminatory legislation which the Agrarians wish to put in force. We cannot regard the Social Democrats as among those friendly to this country, either commercially or politically, but their gains and the Agrarian defeats pave the way for less offensive tariff legislation by the next reichstag."

Late semi-official information received here from Berlin credits the kaiser with favoring the renewal of a most favored nation treaty to take the place of the one now in operation. A resolution passed by the reichstag confers upon the kaiser the power to annul the existing treaty at any time after giving the proper notification. But the officials here express the belief that the next reichstag will again take up the tariff bill and the obnoxious clause against American imports, with a view of either modifying them or repealing the excessive rates entirely.

The backbone of the anti-American Agrarians has been broken and leaves the kaiser and the moderate tariff advocates free rein to negotiate reciprocity and favored nation treaties.

The United States ambassador to Germany, Mr. Charlemagne Tower, is expected here after attending the Kiel regatta, and will visit President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay. Mr. Tower will bring definite information regarding the erection of the statue of Frederick the Great before the new war academy building here. This incident is now regarded as closed and it remains for the kaiser to decide if the statue shall be erected or not.

Tramps Rob Benefactress.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 21.—(Special.)—Two tramps went to the residence of Thomas Rainey, near West Alexander, this morning, and while Mrs. Rainey was securing them food stole a pocketbook containing $50 and a gold watch. Officer James Neely of Claysville arrested two men at West Alexander this afternoon, but Mrs. Rainey failed to identify them and they were released. The same men were arrested later at Claysville and are being held there for the robbery.

School Corner Stone Laid.

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 21.—(Special.)—The corner stone of the new Holy Name parochial school, to cost $25,000, was laid this afternoon by Vicar General P. X. Scliesl of Columbus. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Father Muilhane of Mt. Vernon. Many visiting priests were in attendance. A parade of Catholic societies and members preceded the ceremony.

New $50,000 Reformed Church Dedicated at Altoona, Pa., Yesterday.

NEW ALTOONA CHURCH DEDICATED ON SUNDAY

Dr. John H. Prugh of Pittsburgh Leading Orator of Pleasant Occasion.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
ALTOONA, PA., June 21.—A very notable and interesting church affair of special importance was the dedication exercises of the large and beautiful Christ Reformed church, at the southwest corner of Twelfth avenue and Fifteenth street, this city, today. An appropriate program was had and in charge of the pastor of the congregation, the Rev. J. F. Moyer.

The Rev. J. H. Prugh, D. D., of Pittsburgh, preached the dedicatory sermon in the morning and also spoke in the evening. His discourses were delightfully entertaining and were given marked attention by the large concourse in attendance.

The Rev. O. H. Strunk of Schuylkill Haven was in charge of the day's offerings. He secured the sum needed to complete paying for the edifice.

The imposing structure is one of the architectural beauties which adorns this progressive city. It is planned to advantage and has a splendid exterior and interior appearance. The building and adjoining parsonage cost about $50,000.

The main auditorium, along with the chapel, which is arranged so as to be thrown into one room, has a seating capacity for 1,200 persons. The size of the church is 26 feet frontage by 120 feet in depth. It has elegantly designed memorial windows, which add materially to its rich as well as striking beauty. A pipe organ will be had this summer, and Mr. Carnegie has consented to contribute $1,500 toward its payment. The membership has grown rapidly under the charge of the Rev. J. F. Moyer and has become one of the leading church organizations in this section of the state. He came here from Hummelstown, where he first had a charge after graduating from Franklin and Marshall college. In 1891 and 1892 he was chaplain of the house of representatives at Harrisburg.

RAILROAD ATTEMPTING TO EVADE LIABILITY

New California Law to Have Thorough Test in United States Court.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
LOS ANGELES, CAL., June 21.—A case involving a point of law and one which especially concerns railroads, will come up in the United States circuit court here on June 30.

On the face of it, the case is a damage suit for $50,000, filed by T. Holmes, a former engineer on the Santa Fe, for personal injuries sustained in a wreck at Franconia station, Ariz., nearly two years ago. The company, it is asserted, will set up as a defense the "fellow servant" doctrine, which makes an employe, instead of the employer, responsible for injuries sustained by a fellow worker, where the cause can be laid to the carelessness or negligence of one engaged in contributory labor. The last legislature amended the law on this point, which was held to be favorable to the employer.

Holmes' suit was brought under the provisions of the old law, and both sides will fight the case, the plaintiff's attorney desiring to establish a precedent for similar cases now pending.

About 18 months ago the Santa Fe limited, going east, collided with the corresponding train westbound at Franconia station, Arizona. Several lives were lost, and many of the passengers and members of the crews of both trains were injured seriously. Among the latter was Holmes, an engineer, now residing in Texas.

CHURCH'S PASTOR ACTS AS MAN-OF-ALL-WORK

Helps to Construct New Building Just Dedicated at Youngstown.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 21.—The dedication of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church took place today with services which started in the morning and lasted all day. The Rev. J. W. King, D. D., presiding elder, had charge of the services. In the morning the sermon was preached by the Rev. Levi Gilbert, D. D., of Cincinnati. The leading ministers of all the denominations of the city took part in the platform meeting in the afternoon.

At the evening services the dedication took place. It was preceded by a sermon by the Rev. I. H. Stewart, D. D., of Massillon. Dr. King then dedicated the church. Services will be held all week.

The church is a most beautiful one. It is built of stone and has a seating capacity of 500 in the auditorium. The construction was directed by the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Van Kirk, who worked as a stonemason, carpenter and plasterer during the construction of the building. It cost $14,000. At the services Sunday the greater part of this amount was raised and it was dedicated almost free of debt.

Ray Charged With Bigamy.

CUMBERLAND, MD., June 21.—(Special.)—George Ray was arrested here at noon today on a charge of bigamy, preferred by Mrs. Lavinia Ray, who followed him here from Petersburg, W. Va., their former home. Last Monday Ray married Miss Florence House of Thomas, W. Va., here. The first Mrs. Ray has two children.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—Superintendent Arthur Powell has been elected superintendent of the schools at Middletown.

BEAVER FALLS, PA.—A street fair and carnival will be held here for a week, beginning Monday, under the auspices of the Beaver Falls Volunteer Firemen's association.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.—By the falling of a tree across the wires of the Peoples Telephone Company, the company was put out of service and will not be in operation again for seven weeks.

BEAVER FALLS.—The Federal Title & Trust company has purchased from Charles D. Weir 21 feet of property on Seventh avenue at Eleventh street, on which a stone bank building will be erected.

SHARON, PA.—Democratic primaries were held in Mercer county Saturday night and delegates were chosen to meet in convention Monday, when a jury commissioner and poor director will be nominated.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.—Prof. Henry A. Beers of Yale university has arrived. He will deliver the convocation address at the opening of the summer quarter Monday evening, and will lecture on English literature throughout the term.

SHARON.—Milo Smith of Sharpsville was probably fatally injured by the collapse of a wall at the abandoned power house of the Sharon & Sharpsville street railway. He had one leg and an arm broken and was injured internally.

BEAVER FALLS.—These public school teachers have been elected for the summer term: Ethel Dunlap, Grace Shoemaker, Bertha Yarandale, Margaret Cornelius, Alfa Hardress, Isabella Henderson, Lydia Littell, Leda McClain. Substitutes: May Potter, Edna Pierce, Ira L. Ryan, Mary Kearney.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.—Judge Mason has granted Mrs. Hartigan a divorce from Dr. J. W. Hartigan and gives her custody of the children. The property conveyed by her to Dr. Hartigan by deed of separation is restored to her, including his equity in it, which is given her in lieu of alimony.

CUMBERLAND, MD.—Rev. Francis Lalor, son of Francis X. Lalor of this city, who was ordained a priest by Cardinal Gibbons in the Cathedral at Baltimore, sang his first mass in St. Peter's and St. Paul's churches here Sunday morning. The sermon was delivered by Father Bernard of Herman, Pa.

POLICEMEN TOO DIGNIFIED TO ACT AS DOG CATCHERS

BEAVER FALLS, PA., June 21.—Within the past few weeks the board of councils of most of the valley towns have passed ordinances prohibiting the running at large of dogs unless muzzled. Nets have been provided and the police have been instructed to use them and catch all unmuzzled dogs.

At a meeting of the Beaver Valley Police Protective association held last night a resolution was passed unanimously that it is beneath the dignity of police officers to go about with a net chasing dogs and a paper was signed to the effect that a policeman may properly shoot a dog, but he must not chase it.

Thus far none of the officers have been guilty of catching a dog, except one policeman from Monaca, who acknowledged that he had caught a dog, but it was only a very small one.

COAL OPERATORS HAVE GRIEVANCE TO ADJUST

One of Features of Work Laid Out for Conciliation Board at Wilkesbarre.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
WILKESBARRE, June 21.—When the conciliation board meets in this city on Thursday, the operators will have grievances to be adjusted as well as the miners.

The operators will take exceptions to the many small strikes, which are the cause of much inconvenience and annoyance; also they claim that the non-union men are being interfered with, and that the coal output is lessened by the practice of employes remaining at home on certain days without permission.

The miners will offset this with the charge of discrimination, that some of the men active in the strike have not been given work since; that the award of the commission has been violated by a change in the condition of mining at many points, which does not permit the miners to make as much now as before the strike, and that the operators have broken an old custom in the Schuylkill region by having the men work an hour longer on Saturday.

Among other important questions which the miners want settled will be the reduction of yardage, check weighmen, hours of labor for drivers and company hands.

BISHOP OFFICIATES.

New Catholic Chapel of St. Joseph's Is Dedicated at Canton.

CANTON, O., June 21.—(Special.)—Bishop Horstmann of Cleveland officiated here at dedicatory services for the new Catholic church of St. Joseph's, which has just been completed under the leadership of Father Treiber. The bishop's dedicatory sermon this morning was followed by high mass with Father James O'Leary of Cleveland as celebrant, Father Alphonse of Massillon, deacon, and Father Schoeman of Canton, sub-deacon. Father Schoeman of Massillon, was master of ceremonies.

This afternoon a parade was given with 1,000 men in line, representing Catholic societies of Massillon, Akron, Louisville, Navarre, Canal Fulton and Canton, followed by vesper service at the chapel, which will be used as a church until a larger edifice can be provided.

Wilson Wins Majority of Delegates.

CLEARFIELD, PA., June 21.—(Special.)—Allison O. Smith will be declared the nominee for president judge of this district in next Tuesday's convention, having the necessary delegates. Smith has 60 delegates, Wilson 28, with 24 districts to hear from.

POSTOFFICE ROBBERIES CHARGED TO SAME GANG

Showalter Denies Having Fired Shot at Sheriff Before Being Wounded.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
BELLEFONTE, PA., June 21.—Fuller particulars of the chase and capture of the gang of men who attempted to rob the Center Hall bank yesterday, show that the men were probably members of the same gang that has been committing robberies in neighboring counties for months past. All are comparatively young men, and all deny having fired a volley in return for the opening shots of the posse.

Showalter, the wounded bandit, showed his revolver through a crack in the wall and aimed at the sheriff, just before he himself was shot, but says he did not fire.

This morning a package was found buried in the barn in which the robbers surrendered. In it was an oilskin pouch containing postage stamps to the value of $167.44. An effort will be made to connect them with recent postoffice robberies in this vicinity.

Showalter may recover.

WATER! WATER!
WATER-SOAKED LOTS AT BARGAIN PRICES!
Don't you know that it has rained for so many Saturdays that the man who made the almanac has forgotten when it didn't rain on that day?
We have more than five hundred and fifty lots in our plan that were all out in the rain and consequently they all got more or less water soaked, and will have to be placed on the bargain counter for sale.
Some fellows' lots are smaller than the prices and this being the case it was easier for them to take the lots in out of the rain than the prices.
We are not built that way, and our prices are smaller than the lots so that we had no alternative but to take the price in and leave the lots out in the wet, and cut the price to suit the wetness.
There is no record of but one excursion boat advertised that would come anywhere near our plan of lots, and that was promoted by Mr. Noah some years ago.
We do better than that now. We reach our plan by the Pittsburgh & Charleroi Electric line. When this line was first proposed we heard talk of dining cars being run over the line, but under the present management you leave Pittsburgh and arrive at Charleroi before you would have time to cream your coffee and our plan of lots before you could pick up the bill of fare.
When the tunnel through Mt. Washington is completed our lots will be twenty minutes' ride from the Pittsburgh postoffice.
No special day of sale; come any day. Heat expands, and as the weather grows warmer our prices are liable to increase, but the size of our lots will remain the same.
LOTS 50X135 FEET--$250 TO $500
5% DOWN AND 2½% PER MONTH.
Call at our office, 1105 Arrott Building, Cor. Wood Street and Fourth Avenue, and examine plans and we will show the goods.

SUMMER PARK SERVICES BEGIN

Great Crowds Attend Inauguration in Schenley Pavilion and in West Park, Allegheny.

BRASS BANDS FURNISH MUSIC

Prof. Benjamin Franklin Butts Leads Congregational Singing and the Rev. S. Edward Young of Second Presbyterian Church Preaches Sermons.

Summer park religious and musical services were inaugurated for this season yesterday. The first services was held in West Park, Allegheny, beginning at 6:15 o'clock in the evening. The Pittsburgh summer services were started in Schenley park pavilion last night at 7:30 o'clock. Great crowds attended both services and the sermons preached by the Rev. S. Edward Young and the musical program rendered under the direction of Prof. Benjamin Franklin Butts were listened to with a great deal of interest.

In West Park the music was furnished by the Homestead Library band under the direction of Edwin B. Dolin, and solo and congregational singing was directed by Prof. Butts. Mr. Young delivered an address. At the second services in the pavilion at Schenley park the music was furnished by Bartley's military band. A chorus of 80 voices sang and Prof. Butts rendered a solo.

Mr. Young, whose church, the Second Presbyterian, Pittsburgh, will be closed in the evening until September 1, so that he may have charge of the park services, preached a sermon at Schenley park on "The Man Who Loses His Vote." His text was taken from St. Luke, xxiii.,34: "The same had not consented to counsel a deed to them." The address was illustrated with stereopticon views of "Ben Hur." In his sermon Mr. Young said in part:

Like Joseph of Arimathea, you are trying to be righteous on the sly. You purpose to serve God without openly committing yourself to Him. Laugh at or despise the silly soldier refusing to belong to the Union army, but insisting he will fight on his own account, ununiformed, unenlisted. The sharpshooters will pick him off—and will not the devil's sharpshooters get you?

Nothing does our community need so intensely as it does the sight of several thousands of men who claim to be disposed toward religious things, meanwhile never absolutely nailing their faith in Christ or taking a definite stand for Him. What we need is their immediate unequivocal confession of Christian faith and a life corresponding. What sacrifice a man will make when too late. Now is the minute—be God's true man before now is yesterday.

Ringing in my ears comes the dying moan I heard oft repeated a few weeks ago by the lips of one who sat here at Schenley park at last year's services: "O Lord, give me another chance!" This night you have the one chance more for which he longed. Throw away the sears, the fetters, and come clear out and state that you are henceforth Christ's and live, though you die in the attempt, live that avowal.

WANT TO DISPOSE OF CHURCH PROPERTY

Members of Christ Lutheran Congregation, East End, Forced to Abandon Their Edifice.

A congregational meeting of the members of Christ Lutheran church, North Sheridan and Broad streets, East End, was held yesterday morning in the East End board of trade hall. The probability of selling their church ground was discussed. The congregation was forced to abandon their edifice a few weeks ago, owing to the unsafeness of the first floor.

A number of the members at the meeting desired that a strong effort be made to dispose of the church property and erect an edifice elsewhere. The price fixed for the property is $27,000, but the congregation is ready to receive bids for the ground, which it regards as of increasing value, especially for business purposes.

Other members favored the expenditure of a few hundred dollars to repair the first floor, the other portions being in good condition, and to occupy the church until a desirable offer for the property is made. Until a definite decision is reached the congregation will continue to worship in the East End board of trade hall. The Rev. Dr. J. L. Smith, pastor of the church, stated last night that a new edifice would not be erected by the congregation until the old one is disposed of. A number of offers were received for the property last fall, but these have since been withdrawn.

ILLUSTRATED SERMON SERIES INAUGURATED

The Rev. W. W. Hall, pastor of the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, last night began a series of special Sunday night services. These services will be illustrated by stereopticon views taken from "Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress." The subject last night was, "From the Awakening to the Reception at the Wicket Gate." Dr. Hall's subjects during the continuance of the special services are: June 28, "From the Wicket Gate to the Cross;" July 5, "From the Cross to the Beautiful Palace;" July 12, "Battle With Apollyon and the Valley of the Shadow of Death;" July 19, "From the Vanity Fair to Doubting Castle;" July 26, "From the Delectable Mountains to the Heavenly City."

HOMESTEAD PASTOR WANTS CURFEW LAW

The Rev. Nathan Dushane Hynson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Homestead, preached a sermon yesterday morning on "Should the Curfew Ring." "Such an ordinance," he said, "will conduce to the physical, mental and moral well-being of our boys and girls. The age in which we are living is a grand but strenuous one. Competition was never so keen, and it will be keener tomorrow. The boy and girl, other things being equal, of the greatest physical and nervous endurance will be found in the end at the head of the race. Childhood is the time for storing up of the vital energies."

IN MEMORY OF WESLEY.

German Methodists Held a Mass Meeting at the First Allegheny Church.

The united congregations of the German Methodist churches of Pittsburgh and Allegheny celebrated the bicentenary of John Wesley's birthday yesterday afternoon by holding a mass meeting in the First German Methodist church, Allegheny. Special music was provided for the occasion.

The church was filled with members of the congregations. Addresses bearing on the life of Wesley were made by the Revs. F. W. Mueller, H. Pullman and U. F. Zarwell.

CORNER STONE LAYING FOR M'KEESPORT CHURCH

The corner stone of the new building which the First Reformed congregation of McKeesport is erecting at Union and Lincoln avenue was laid at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Addresses were made by the Rev. Paul S. Leinbach of Trinity Reformed church, Wilkinsburg, and the Rev. J. Grant Walter of St. Mark's Memorial Reformed church, Pittsburgh. The Rev. C. F. Althouse, pastor of the church, preached the corner stone laying sermon in the old church in the morning. His subject was, "The Church, Its Builder and Its Safety."

STONE MASONS' STRIKE KEPT PREACHER HERE

The strike of the stone masons has delayed the building of the new Central Presbyterian church, Allegheny, and prevented its pastor, the Rev. J. Allison Platts, from preaching the commencement sermon to the graduating class at Milton college, Milton, Wis., on Saturday. Mr. Platts had arranged to make the address, but when the strike stopped operations on the new building, he, as chairman of the building committee, felt that he had to remain here to await developments. Last week he wrote to Dr. William C. Deland, president of the college and a class-mate at Alfred university, N. Y., asking release from his engagement to preach there, which was done.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IS TWENTY YEARS OLD

Forty-Third Street Congregation Fittingly Celebrated Its Anniversary.

The congregation of the Forty-third Street Presbyterian church yesterday celebrated the 20th anniversary of its organization. The services were in charge of the pastor, the Rev. U. S. Greves, and two former pastors, the Rev. Henry H. Stiles, now pastor of the Second church, Altoona, and the Rev. Samuel B. Linhart, now president of the Blairsville College for Women, were present and took part.

The Forty-third Street church was organized by the Rev. Dr. Richard Lea, S. T. D., May 3, 1883, in the hall of the public school building in Fortieth street. The church started with 52 members. The name of Dr. Lea is prominently associated with the early history of the church. The present church, with the exception of the Sunday school room, was erected soon after the organization of the congregation. Dr. Lea was installed April 27, 1884, shortly after the dedication of the building. In January, 1889, Dr. Lea being in his 80th year, retired and became pastor emeritus. He died May 24, 1900.

The church now has a membership of about 400 and is flourishing in all its departments. John M. Weller is superintendent of the Sunday school and the trustees are Robert D. Campbell, president; William M. Baechtel, secretary; William J. Creighton, treasurer; William M. Culbertson, George H. Hellegan, Fred W. Miller and Joseph S. Morgan. The elders are Thomas Ballintine, David R. Donald, Robert J. Cassell, John B. Crusan, Alma S. Irwin, Wilmer W. Shields and John M. Weller.

NEW U. P. CHURCH FOR ALLEGHENY

Duquesne Park Chapel Has Grown Too Big for a Mission and Wants a Charter.

The members of the Duquesne Park chapel, No. 4041 Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, are preparing to apply for a charter and will immediately organize a church. The chapel was started about six years ago as a mission of the Second United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, of which the Rev. Dr. W. H. McMillan is pastor. It has since been under the charge of the session of that church.

The Rev. W. H. Jamison was missionary in charge of the chapel from its inception until about two years and a half ago, when the Rev. Robert C. Douds was appointed by the Allegheny presbytery as the stated supply of the church. Under these two men the chapel has become very successful, making the organization of a church almost imperative, by reason of the increasing membership.

The name for the new church has not yet been adopted, but it will be called either the North End or the Thirteenth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny. In view of the coming consolidation of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, when the numbered churches will have to adopt other names so as not to conflict with churches having the same numbered name in another portion of Greater Pittsburgh, the former title will likely be adopted. In all probability the Rev. Mr. Douds will receive a call to the pastorate of the new church.

DIACONATE ORDINATION.

Interesting Ceremony at St. Mark's P. E. Church, South Side, Yesterday Morning.

At St. Mark's Protestant Episcopal church, on the South Side, yesterday morning, Alfred Izon was ordained to the diaconate by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead. The candidate has been brought up under the ministrations of the various priests who have been rectors of the church for the last 16 years, and therefore it was an occasion of great interest to all in the parish. He is a graduate of Nashotah seminary, in Wisconsin, and has completed his course of preparatory education with a distinction which promises well for his future career as a clergyman.

The service was fully choral and the pontifical mass and litany were sung by the bishop. Father Harry S. Lancaster, the rector of the church, preached the sermon and presented the candidate. The music of the service was that written by Marbecke for the translated English liturgy in 1549.

The Rev. Mr. Izon will serve the year of his diaconate as assistant to the Rev. Dr. Tyler at Trinity church, New Castle, Pa.

ANNIVERSARY OF EAST END CHURCH

The Fourth Methodist Protestant church, Park avenue and Mayflower street, East End, yesterday celebrated its twenty-seventh anniversary. The church has been entirely renovated and presents a very attractive appearance inside and out. In the morning Children's day services were held, and in the evening the anniversary sermon was preached by the Rev. Robert J. Young, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, Pittsburgh. The Rev. J. C. Broomfield, pastor of the congregation, had charge of the services.

PRIEST CELEBRATES HIS FIRST MASS

The Rev. James H. Gilmore celebrated his first mass in St. Coleman's Catholic church, Turtle Creek, at 10:30 yesterday morning. The attendance of neighborhood priests and congregation was large. He was assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Father William A. Cunningham, and by the Rev. Father John Moore. Father Gilmore is the first priest to be ordained in the 48 years of the existence of St. Coleman's church.

ST. BRIGID'S PREPARING FOR GOLDEN JUBILEE

Catholic Church in the Hill District to Be Handsomely Redecorated and Lighted.

During the next three months the interior of St. Brigid's Roman Catholic church, Enoch street, near Roberts, is to undergo transformations which will make it one of the most beautiful places of worship in this city. Contracts have been let for the redecoration of the chancel and nave, and for the installation of an elaborate system of electric lighting. The total outlay for the improvements immediately contemplated is between $8,000 and $9,000, but it is expected that between now and next December fully $10,000 will be spent.

Nicholas Mangold was yesterday awarded the contract for the new frescoing and for the gilding of the altars. The paintings in fresco in the tribune and over the two side altars will not be disturbed, except for a few touches in the way of restoration, but the present scheme of interior decoration will be radically changed. The 12 main pillars are to be made round and faced with marble.

The contract for the lighting of the structure was secured by August P. Gieg-erich, and it is intended to adopt the new Nearnst lamps, of which there will be 13. Six of these will be placed in the ceiling of the nave, three on the walls of each side aisle and one in the vestibule. In addition to these there will be an intricate system of lights in the chancel and at the two side altars.

Beside these alterations the church will soon have a beautiful new set of "stations," which are now being made in Munich at a cost of $1,550. These will be in place and the work entirely completed by the autumn. In December the church is to celebrate its golden jubilee and it is expected that by that time the total debt will have been lifted. At the beginning of the year this amounted to $5,000, but has since then been considerably reduced. A picnic is to be held for the congregation on Tuesday, June 23, in Kenwood Lawn, the proceeds to go toward further reducing this debt, which has hung over the church since the former edifice was destroyed by fire in 1871 and the present building erected.

DEDICATION OF A NEW BAPTIST CHAPEL

Takes Place Next Sunday—Belongs to Forty-Sixth Street Church, Lawrenceville.

The new chapel of the Forty-sixth Street Baptist church in Lawrenceville, will be formally dedicated next Sunday, June 28. The morning services will be conducted by the Rev. J. S. Hutson, D. D., pastor of the Beth Eden Baptist church, Allegheny, and the evening services by the Rev. W. A. Stanton, pastor of the Shady Avenue Baptist church.

In the afternoon a platform service will be held, presided over by J. Henry Stauff, president of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny union. Addresses will be made by William E. Lincoln, the Rev. W. A. McIsaacks, representing the local Lawrenceville churches, and by others. On the following Monday evening a service will be conducted in the new chapel, at which the Rev. Warren G. Partridge, D. D., pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, will preach.

This chapel was secured through the efforts of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Baptist union, which carries on city mission work in the two cities and the near suburbs, building chapels for newly organized churches, which are unable to provide themselves immediately with houses of worship.

The Forty-sixth Street Baptist church, which was originally a mission started by the Shady Avenue Baptist church, was organized over a year ago, and its pastor is the Rev. T. Griffiths. There is a mortgage on the chapel of $4,500, the cost of the building, and steps will be taken immediately to liquidate this debt, $1,500 of the amount having been promised if the church will raise $3,000 within a year after the dedication.

CONSECRATION IN BRADDOCK CHURCH

Consecration services in commemoration of the second anniversary of St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal church, Braddock, will be held next Sunday. This church was erected by Charles M. Schwab as a memorial to his wife's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Kinsey. The Rev. A. C. Stengel of Randolph, N. Y., has been called to the pastorate of the church, but he has been too ill to take charge of the work. Until Dr. Stengel is able Archdeacon Cole will act as rector of the church.

Baptists' Annual Outing.

The members of the Pittsburgh Baptist conference will hold their annual outing today. The ministers will be accompanied by their wives and a trip on the Francis J. Torrance has been arranged, the party going both up the Monongahela and down the Ohio rivers. Luncheon will be served on the boat.

Children's Day in Braddock.

Children's day was observed in those Braddock churches yesterday which did not hold exercises the previous Sunday. At the First Baptist church the Rev. George F. Street, pastor, conducted services at 7:30 p. m. At the First Congregational bibles were presented to the pupils.

Baptist Social Union Dinner.

The Baptist Social union will hold its quarterly meeting and dinner at the Union club in the Frick building, on Friday evening, June 26. Dr. Warren G. Pattridge will make an address on "City Mission Work," and a quartet will sing.

TAKES MONEY TO BE AN OFFICER

Cost of Shoulder Strap Positions Leads Many to Resign Commissions.

RICH MEN DO NOT ENLIST

Officers of Local Commands Working Hard to Attain Regular Army Standard and Going Down Into Pockets to Do It.

The local officers of the national guard regiments are working to place their organizations on the same footing as the regular army. Few civilians have any idea as to the amount of worry, work and money this involves. As the commonwealth does not pay anything for the uniforms or equipment worn by the officers, they each have to go down into their pockets for new outfits. This means an extra expenditure of from $50 to $100 for each officer. Many have good serviceable uniforms, and these are now useless. It is becoming more expensive each year to hold a commission in the national guard, and there is not a rich man in any of the Pittsburgh organizations.

As a result of some of the late changes many officers are resigning. It is becoming difficult to get men to accept commissions, and many enlisted men after they have been promoted find the positions too costly and too arduous. Among the recent resignations is that of Capt. Robert W. Bissel, quartermaster of the Eighteenth regiment. His successor has not been appointed. Maj. R. W. A. Simmons has resigned, and an election will soon be ordered to fill that vacancy. The candidates for the position are Capt. Charles C. Huff, commanding Company B, who is the senior captain; Capt. James H. Bigger, who commanded Company B, Eighteenth regiment, in the volunteer service, and who until recently was regimental adjutant, and Capt. W. K. Reifsnyder, commanding Company E. Lieut. Col. J. Conrad Kay has been placed in command of the First battalion until a major is elected.

Other vacancies in the Eighteenth are that of a captain in Company I, caused by the resignation of Capt. Harry McKain, to which position First Lieutenant A. R. Cratty will be elected. This will require the election of a lieutenant in the same company. A first lieutenancy is vacant in Company A, and a second lieutenancy in Company G, also a captaincy in Company H, Capt. James A. Stout having resigned.

In the reorganization of the infantry companies each will enlist two white cooks. These will be paid at the rate of $2 per day. The hospital corps will be a separate organization, as will the band, and the musicians will be paid $2 per day instead of $1.50 as heretofore.

The Fourteenth regiment is in excellent shape as to officers. Not long ago it was rumored that the Fourteenth was to be abandoned, and its companies apportioned among the Fifth and Tenth regiments. The officers of the Fourteenth regiment held a meeting, and it is said that every officer in the regiment signed an agreement to hand in his resignation should this go into effect. These resignations were not handed to the adjutant general because he assured a committee of officers that called on him that the regiment would remain intact.

BOARDER EJECTED LANDLORD.

Made a Novel Plea for Refusing to Pay a Board Bill.

Peter Schlinski and Rumer Valioski of Pius street were given hearings in the South Thirteenth street police station yesterday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. Valioski has been boarding with Schlinski for some time past, but for the last two months has failed to pay his board, which amounted to $2.25 a month. Schlinski did not like this, and ordered his boarder to move, with the result that he himself was thrown out of the house. A fight followed, and both men were arrested.

At the hearing Valioski told the magistrate that the reason he refused to pay his two months' board, $4.50, was that Schlinski owned his own home and did not have any rent to pay. The boarding boss was discharged, but Valioski was sent to the workhouse for 30 days.

STONE CONTRACTORS TO RESUME WORK

Bricklayers' and Masons' Controversy May Be Satisfactorily Settled Today.

In anticipation of a settlement between the bricklayers and stone masons at the meeting to be held this afternoon, which was called by the Iron City Central Labor council, several stone contractors will resume work on their buildings. The meeting will be attended by all the presidents of labor organizations in this district.

THOMAS R. PREECE,
In Charge of the Bricklayers' Fight.

Arbitration depends practically upon one man, John Schwab of St. Louis, president of the National Stonemasons' union. The local officials apparently do not feel justified in assuming the authority of agreeing to arbitration, and to be on the safe side, Schwab has been invited to represent the stone masons at the meeting today.

Some of the members of the Building Trades council do not look with favor upon the action of the Iron City Labor council in taking the lead in bringing about a settlement. They think that honor is due the Building Trades council. However, in spite of this feeling, a committee was appointed to represent the council at the meeting.

Thomas R. Preece, special deputy and national organizer of the B. M. I. U., says if the question is arbitrated he is sure it will be in favor of his union. If the stone masons do not submit to arbitration, then he bring stone masons of his union into the city, and put his men to work on all buildings where the contractors will permit. The contractors say they will wait until after the meeting before deciding upon a definite plan.

Italian Cabinet Members Resign.

ROME, June 21.—The king has accepted the resignations of Interior Minister Giolitti and Marine Minister Bottolo. Premier Zanardelli will take the interior portfolio, ad interim, and Vice Admiral Morin will be marine minister. The other ministers have been confirmed in their present posts. A royal decree is issued today convening parliament for June 25.

Soldier Convicted of Murder.

DR. MOFFAT PREACHES ON OUR BELIEF IN GOD

Baccalaureate Sermon's Features of Sunday's Exercises at College and University Commencements in State and Neighborhood.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., June 21.—The exercises in connection with the one hundred and second commencement at Washington and Jefferson college were inaugurated here this morning at 11 o'clock, when the Rev. James D. Moffat, D. D., LL. D., president of the institution, preached the annual baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class. The gymnasium was thronged, and hundreds of people, unable to secure seats, filled the steps and the street.

Mr. Moffat preached his sermon from the text, "Who through Him are believers in God," found in 1 Peter, 1:21. Mr. Moffat interpreted the clause as a declaration on the part of the Apostle Peter that the people to whom he was writing were indebted for their belief in God to what they had learned of him from Jesus Christ. Mr. Moffat said:

It is still true that all effective, fruitful beliefs in God are due to Christian teachings. Some people claim that there must first be belief in God and then in Christ; that this is the logical order and that without knowledge or acceptance of Christianity men may become believers in God.

This logical order is rarely the actual order in either belief or practice. We learn truth as it happens to come to us and arrange it in logical sequence afterwards. Belief in God is very much more than belief in His religions. One may believe in the existence of a lawyer or physician without exhibiting any belief in him. To be effective and truthful, faith must pass from the lower to the higher stage. Assent must become consent. It is only when feeling is aroused and affection called forth that belief takes possession of the soul. A man will dig into his hillside at great cost, not merely because he believes gold to exist there, but because he wants it to be there. It is only because his desire is stirred that he exerts himself. So it is only when we know about God and the appeal to the feelings and to the character that we begin to believe in Him, and the belief becomes fruitful and leads us to submit to His will. It is not belief in any kind of a God, but belief in such a God as Christ reveals, that takes possession of the soul and controls it for good. We know God as Christ reveals Him, then we want Him to exist and to rule.

A purely scientific investigator may be indifferent to the results of his investigations and hold himself ready to welcome that result, whatever it may be. But when the Christian is asked to examine the evidence of Divine existence in the spirit it is utterly impossible for him to comply. He need not be prejudiced, but he cannot be indifferent; he cannot welcome atheism as he can welcome Christian theism. He may hold himself ready to welcome whatever truth may come as the result of honest duty, but all truths are not equally important. Some are of trivial importance, but the existence of such a Being as Christ reveals is of inconceivably immense importance.

The student of nature who is ignorant of the Christian conception of God is not likely to reach a belief that goes beyond intellectual assent. His reasoning may lead him on from something to mind and a hope that the Infinite may be a moral being, but his theistic belief remains a mere assent to evidence except for this allowering hope that the Creator may be on the side of righteousness, and these finds its best confidence in what Christianity has effected. All that makes belief in God a cherished and helpful belief is that acquaintance with God's personality which Christ alone has made possible to the world.

In presenting the teachings of Christ Dr. Moffat said that it consisted principally in Christ exhibiting his own conception of God as Father, as loving and forgiving only those who forgave, as seeking a secret worship that should beperfectly honest and a submission to his will that would require all men to love others as themselves. He said: His principle revelation of God was himself. If we want such a character as Christ to live forever and to reign supreme, then we may cherish the same desire with respect to God."

In closing, the graduates were exhorted to seek such knowledge of God that that their belief in Him might be more than an intellectual necessity, and carry with it submission to His will. This will make their lives useful and noble.

"The world has a right," said Dr. Moffat, "to expect that college graduates will contribute to the elevation of humanity, and there is no better way than working in harmony with the God revealed by Christ."

This evening in the college gymnasium the Rev. John R. Closser of Chicago preached the annual sermon to the college Young Men's Christian association. These two sermons comprised the exercises of the first day of commencement week.

Washington is filled almost to overflowing with the college alumni and friends of the graduates, and many more are expected tomorrow when the interesting exercises of the week will be started. The class day exercises, the president's reception, junior oratorial contest and the alumni banquet of the senior class will be held tomorrow.

NEW ATHENS, O., June 21.—This is commencement week at Franklin college, and the baccalaureate sermon was delivered by the Rev. N. B. Kelly, president of the college, and the sermon to the Christian association by the Rev. A. M. Campbell of St. Louis. Monday the address to the literary societies will be delivered by the Rev. E. C. Paxton of Irwin, Pa. The Philo-alumni reunion and banquet will be held Monday evening.

LEWISBURG, PA., June 21.—The baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the College of Liberal Arts of Bucknell university was delivered this morning in the First Baptist church, Lewisburg, by John Howard Harris, Ph. D., LL. D., president of the university. The class, 62 in number, occupied front seats, arrayed in caps and gowns. The faculty also were present, and were their scholastic robes.

FRICK'S TREASURES IN CARNEGIE ART GALLERY

Rich Collection of Paintings to Be Loaned for Summer Exhibition—Crowds at Parks.

Director John W. Beatty expects Henry C. Frick to loan his valuable collection of paintings to the art exhibit at the Carnegie Institute during this summer. Mr. Frick will soon leave the city and will be gone most of the summer. An effort will be made to secure his large assortment of masterpieces for exhibition in the east room of the art gallery at the Institute until he returns home in the fall. Mr. Frick has one of the largest and most costly collections in the city.

Other prominent Pittsburghers, possessing art treasures are counted upon to loan paintings for the summer season. The east room will be filled with these pictures before July 1, and preparations are being made for their reception. The room is now bare, but in a couple of weeks the walls will be covered with some of the richest works of art in the city.

The bright, cheery Sabbath day took a number of visitors to the gallery yesterday, the attendants remarking upon the large number of children who accompanied relatives. Schenley park reflected the usual stretch of cool weather, was swarmed with happy crowds yesterday. The Phipps conservatory, although a bit uncomfortable, owing to the confined atmosphere, had its share of the visitors.

Highland park was fully as popular, the zoo attracting the bulk of the crowds carried all day by the traction cars.

TRACTION PARKS CROWDED.

Thousands Went to Hear the Music and Other Attractions.

Thousands visited the traction parks yesterday and last evening—a decided contrast to the last few Sundays, when the weather interfered greatly with outdoor amusements. The entertainment at the parks ranged from concert music to a balloon ascension.

At Kennywood Rocereto's band gave two concerts, Booth and Dawson appeared in a humorous sketch called "A Birthday Dinner," and wound up with a funny turn on roller skates.

The Third Regiment band, Gertie Morton, the vaudeville artist; Buskirk and Rich, musical novelty comedians, and two balloon ascensions were embraced in the Calhoun park program.

Visitors to Oakwood heard Nirella's Fourteenth Regiment band, Collins and Reynolds, a comedy team, and Harry Hastings, character change artist. The vaudeville bill for this week, commencing the evening and free every evening, includes the Ramsey Sisters, the Great Hunt & Co., mystifiers; Martin and Quinn, who have already made quite a hit at the parks, and the Vedmars, in a good comedy bar act.

The crowds at Southern park were generous in their applause of the efforts of the old-time favorite, the Great Western band, under its old leader, E. Wess. This is the first appearance of the band for years, it being but recently reorganized. Fernandez and May, a team of musical comedians, interjected a lot of fun and novelty music into the program, and H. M. Herbert, of the vaudeville combination, the York-Herbert trio, showed that he is a good balladist. Miss Charles Templeton, who made her first appearance at the suburban parks yesterday, is a pleasing singer.

RESTORES PLEASING PLUMPNESS

Mi-o-na Sold Under Druggists Schilling Bros. Co.'s "No Cure No Pay" Plan.

A man or woman might as well starve outright as to take food into the stomach and not have it digested, yet in Pittsburgh, as well as in every town and city, there are many people who are thin, pale and soon underfed, simply because the food they eat is not digested, the stomach is too weak to do its proper work, and the food fails to make good blood and firm flesh.

Mi-o-na, the wonderful flesh-forming food and scientific remedy for the cure of dyspepsia, taken after meals, mingles with the food and enables it to assimilate and be readily digested so as to make rich blood and pleasing plumpness. No one can use it for a week or ten days without a noticeable gain in weight. It is the only remedy used in the treatment of stomach troubles where the money is refunded if it does not cure. Statistics show that out of every one hundred people who commence the use of Mi-o-na, 99 will find a gain in weight and a restoration of health and strength.

Any one who has dyspepsia, whose food does not digest well, who has to take thought as to what to eat, and when, or who is thin, weak, scrawny and emaciated can place $5c on deposit with Schilling Bros Co., Penn and Frankstown avenues, and take home a box of Mi-o-na. If the remedy does not regulate digestion, cure dyspepsia and give a noticeable increase in good, firm flesh, they will return the money without any questions.

YOUNG MAN SHOT HIMSELF DEAD

Despondency and Ill Health Caused Henry Schaff, Aged 20, to End His Life.

SEARCH FOR BROTHER'S BODY

Johnstown Man Thinks Unidentified Grave in Highland Cemetery will Clear Up a Strange Disappearance—Young Woman's Mysterious Death.

Despondency and ill health caused Henry Schaff, 20 years old, of Bellwood, Millin township, to end his life by shooting himself in the head in an abandoned schoolhouse near his home Saturday evening. The body lay in the school house all night and was found early yesterday morning by Schaff's sister. He was employed in the Homestead steel works, but had been unable to work for the past week on account of illness.

Saturday afternoon Schaff said he was going to his uncle's house, a short distance from his home. He left this place about 5 o'clock. Before going he borrowed his uncle's 38-caliber revolver. On his way home he entered the school house and killed himself. John Hess, a farmer, was plowing in the rear of the school house and said that he saw Schaff enter the place and heard the shot. Hess said he was too busy, however, to make an investigation of the affair and went about his work. Schaff's family missed him yesterday morning and his sister, in searching for him, found his body in the school house with the revolver in his hand.

Stephen O'Connor of Johnstown, Pa., called at the morgue yesterday seeking information about his brother, John O'Connor, formerly a resident of Johnstown, who has been missing for some little time. Mr. O'Connor had heard that the coroner had had a dead man whose linen bore the name of Stephen O'Connor, and he was afraid it might be his brother, as they had lived together and their clothing was sometimes used by either.

The records showed that on April 30 a man was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train east of East Liberty station. He died on the way to the hospital and was taken to the morgue. His linen bore the name of Stephen O'Connor. The body was kept until May 13 and then buried as unidentified in Highland cemetery. The description answered that of the missing man and the body will be disinterred today to ascertain if it is that of John O'Connor.

Mae Holmes, 30 years old, died suddenly in the Allegheny county workhouse yesterday afternoon. The cause of the woman's death is not known and Deputy Coroner John Black has ordered a postmortem examination of the case. She was arrested with her husband, Matthew Holmes, June 1. She was arraigned for a hearing before Police Magistrate T. D. Stewart on June 4, and committed to the workhouse for 60 days for visiting disorderly houses. Since the woman has been there she has been ill. Yesterday the nurse gave her some broth and when she came back she found the woman was lying across the cot dead. Dr. Lyons and Dr. Kelly were unable to determine what caused death and they will hold a postmortem examination this morning.

While dozing in a chair on the back porch of his flat at No. 1911 Bladensburg street, Allegheny, Edward J. Wendle, 30 years old, lost his balance and fell to the yard, 30 feet below, injuring himself so that he died a few minutes afterward. He was a structural iron worker and was married. His wife says he returned home about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning and said he was going to have a smoke on the porch. Later his wife heard the chair overturn, and going out on the porch saw that her husband was missing. She hurried down stairs and sent for a physician, but before medical aid arrived Wendle was dead.

Richard Creighton, a Pennsylvania railroad employe, living at Manor station, fell from the rear platform of the Pittsburg accommodation at Wilmerding Saturday night, and had both legs crushed at the thigh. He died later at the West Penn hospital. He was 27 years old and is survived by a widow and two children, at Manor.

Peter Hunter of Wilmerding was fatally injured Saturday night by falling from the running board of a trolley car returning from Calhoun park, where Hunter had attended a picnic. His left leg was crushed and was amputated at the Mercy hospital, where he died later. Hunter was 28 years old, was employed by the Westinghouse airbrake works, and leaves a widow at No. 506 Middle avenue Wilmerding.

Maggie Bierhurst, 25 years old, died in the Allegheny county jail yesterday afternoon of alcoholism. She was committed to jail for 10 days by Alderman Samuel Abernathy on June 19, for drunkenness. The girl formerly lived at No. 124 Robinson street, Allegheny.

Thomas Boa, a miner, 56 years old, died of heart failure on Saturday night, at his home in Sturgeon, South Fayette township.

A Hungarian girl, 18 years old, who was employed as a domestic in the Monahan hotel, Sharpsburg, and known only as Katie, died suddenly last night just as she was entering the house of a friend in Etna. Heart failure was the cause of her death. The coroner was notified and the body was taken in charge by an undertaker in Etna.

Robert Munhall, a 16-months-old child of R. J. Munhall, of No. 521 Powhattan street, died at his home yesterday morning at 5 o'clock of spasms.

Bellevue Baccalaureate Sermon.

The Rev. William A. Rouiston of Bellevue Presbyterian church preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of Bellevue high school last night. The class roll is: Arthur Darrett, Joseph Ward, Philip Weaver, Albert Hill, William Fleming, Roy D. Wheeler, Edwin S. Johnston, William Cooper, Lillian B. Lease, Maude L. Keyser, Grace Proden, Ethel Proden, Grace McPherson and May Watson.

Work Begins on New Line.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 21.—(Special.)—The work on the electric line which will be built by the Youngstown & Ohio River Railroad, Light & Power Company between here and Lisbon will be commenced Monday. The power house of the company will be built at Teagarden, Columbiana county. This line will be built in opposition to that projected by the Youngstown & Southern to East Liverpool, in which Gen. A. W. Jones and others of this city are interested.

"I'VE KILLED CAPT. FORD," SAID NEGRO POLICEMAN

Station House Force Believed Him Until Officer Came in Alive—Man Had Delirium Tremens.

Crying out that he had shot and killed Police Captain C. F. Ford, William Shorter, a negro sub-policeman, ran past Policemen Andrew Mellet and Frank Vincent at Liberty and Edmond streets at 4 a. m. yesterday. The policemen chased and caught him, called the patrol wagon and sent him to the police station in Forty-third street. Shorter was put into a cell, and it was not until Capt. Ford came in, alive and hearty, that the force realized that Shorter had delirium tremens and had only imagined that he killed the captain.

It turned out that Shorter, after enjoying a week off, had gone on duty on Saturday night. He had been drinking heavily during the week, so Capt. Ford had since learned, but as he forgot to take a bottle along when he went to work and his beat is in a district where there are no saloons, by 4 a. m. the sudden deprivation of drink drove him into a fit of delirium tremens. He imagined that Capt. Ford was pursuing him and he ran down Winebiddle avenue and jumped through the glass in a window of the acid manufactory at the foot of the street. He fired a shot as he jumped and, imagining that he had killed Capt. Ford, he stepped out again and fled until he was caught by the policemen, who had heard the shot and run to the scene. Vincent and Mellett did not know that the man was crazy, and thought he really might have shot at the captain, whose body they searched for. Shorter had not seen the captain all night.

At 8 a. m. Shorter had recovered from his delirium, but the things he thought he had done and those he really had done still remained in his mind. Capt. Ford went into the cell room to see him:

"How are you feeling now, captain?" said Shorter, solicitously.

The captain knew his delusion, and to humor him replied:

"I feel better now. I think I'll get over it."

"I'm glad of that, captain," said Shorter. "I didn't mean to kill you."

Shorter is under suspension. He will have a hearing before the police board today, and no doubt is expressed that he will be dismissed.

BOY JUMPED INTO RIVER TO ESCAPE OFFICERS

South Side Police Squads Raided Four Crap Games and Arrested Ten Youths.

When Officer James Conner and five policemen broke up a crap game, in which six boys were engaged, at the foot of South Sixteenth street, yesterday afternoon, one of the boys, James Doyle of No. 10 South Nineteenth street, attempted to escape by jumping into the Monongahela river and swimming. Officer Connor pursued him in the water and captured him.

Ten boys were locked up at No. 7 police station. Other games were raided at the head and foot of South Twelfth street, and at the foot of South Twentieth street. The raids were made under the direction of Inspector P. F. Kelly who divided 15 policemen, in plain clothes, into three squads. One squad was commanded by Inspector Kelly, another by Capt. John Frederick and the third by Officer Connor.

Many complaints have been made to the South Side police about these Sunday crap games.

Ike Johnston, a negro, was arrested in Soho street yesterday afternoon for shooting craps. When searched at the police station a large revolver was found on him.

ST. PAUL'S ASYLUM PICNIC.

Chairman Reilly Announces Sub-Committees for Big Affair for Orphans.

The managers of St. Paul's Orphan asyium picnic met last night in the Cathedral lyceum, in Washington street. Chairman John C. Reilly announced the chairman and vice chairman of the sub-committees as follows, the first-named being chairman:

Amusements and Atlantic City ticket—William Totten, John O'Neill.

Cash donations—Mrs. Willis F. McCook, Mrs. Albert J. Barr.

The other members of the committee will be selected during the coming week.

The sale of tickets was reported to be progressing nicely. Over 25,000 have been distributed and are going rapidly. This does not include the block of 5,000 sold on the stock exchange Saturday.

Chairman Reilly announced that a Protestant had offered him $100 for the fund and expressed the hope that they would be able to turn it into $500. The chairman said he hoped that before the next meeting some of the managers would present a plan to carry out the wishes of the donor.

It was decided to inaugurate goat racing as an attraction at the picnic and put up valuable prizes for the different events. Ed Friel and Tom Kilkeary will be placed in charge of this feature.

The "Business Girls of Pittsburgh," an organization of women employed by the big corporations of the city which did so much for the Charity hospital fair last winter, sent word that they would help the orphans. Their plans will be presented at the meeting next Sunday night.

ITALIAN'S THROAT CUT.

Toni and Two Alleged Assailants Were Arrested for Fighting.

Lonat Yenor of No. 814 Webster avenue, James Contosta of Wilkinsburg, and Michael Toni of Allegheny, all Italians, were locked up in Central station last night as suspicious persons. About 8 o'clock a telephone message was sent to the station that a riot was in progress in Poplar alley, and Inspector Bernard McStay and a squad of officers were sent to the scene to investigate.

When they arrived they found Toni lying in the alley with a razor slash in his chin. He is not badly injured. He was arrested and sent to the station. The officers were then informed that two men had run into a house at their approach and had escaped by the back way. A search followed with the result that the other two Italians were caught. When searched at the station a razor was found on Yenor and a revolver on Contosta. They will be given a hearing this morning.

American Artist Lectures.

ROME, June 21.—Frank Wilbert Stokes, the American artist, delivered today with great success a lecture in French on the coloration of the polar regions. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Geographical society and the hall of the Collegia Romano was filled with a distinguished audience.

TULLOCH TELLS WHY HE FILED CHARGES

His Own Promotion Due to Removal of Innocent Men During Star Route Trouble.

Seymour W. Tulloch, the former cashier of the postoffice at Washington, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday on business connected with his mining interests. Mr. Tulloch's name has been in the newspapers a good deal since shortly after the scandals in the postoffice department first came to light. Mr. Tulloch, who has not been in the postoffice service for more than two years, explained last night that when he became cognizant, by virtue of his position as cashier of the Washington postoffice, of the irregularities that have since been made public, he determined that he would not submit to them, for if he, as cashier, had paid out money irregularly he would have been responsible.

"I had been 21 years in the service," he said. "I had been through the star route scandal, and I felt that a greater scandal was coming, in which even the innocent might be involved. My promotion in the service, in fact, had been due to the removal of two innocent men at the time of the star route investigation. I therefore determined not to pay out any money unless positive that the payment was legal, or unless I was ordered to do so by undoubted authority in writing."

FIRST TO COME HERE.

Samuel Shapira Arrives in Pittsburgh from Kishineff and Confirms Terrible Slaughter.

The first survivor of the recent massacre of the Jews in Kishineff, Russia, to reach Pittsburgh is Samuel Shapira, who arrived here late Saturday night accompanied by his aged mother and a sister. They went directly to the home of Shapira's brother-in-law, I. H. Cusset, in Center avenue, near Crawford street. The trio left their home, which was in the outskirts of the ill-fated city, about three weeks ago. They were detained at Ellis Island three days.

Shapira confirms the accounts published of the slaughter, and states that it is impossible to accurately describe the awful outrages that were perpetrated by the Russian mobs. When he left his home there were over 60 known dead and over 300 men, women and children seriously wounded. Some of these are maimed for life, while others have no possible chance of recovery.

Immediately upon the arrival of the party here they were visited by Moses Goldbloom, the founder and leader of the Russian Refuge society. Mr. Goldbloom called to ascertain the financial condition of the refugees and to help them in any way possible. Shapira, as well as the rest of the family, were not in need of financial or other assistance. He is a carriage maker and able to support his family.

WHITEHOUSE HEARING.

Oakland Police Inspector Is to Be Before the Board This Morning.

Inspector Henry Whitehouse of the Oakland district will be called before the police board this morning to answer charges of alleged disobedience of orders. Just a week ago Supt. McTighe raided an Oakland club and then suspended Whitehouse, claiming that he had refused to do the work. Capt. Matt Gorman has been in temporary charge of the district.

Whitehouse asserts that he is innocent of any attempt to disobey orders. Detectives have been at work on both sides of the case and a hard battle will be made today. Whitehouse has brought a great deal of political pressure to bear.

Supt. McTighe declines to discuss the evidence that he will submit to the board.

DRANK THE BEER UNDER BIG TREE

Bought the Drink at an Alleged Speakeasy, But Had to Carry It Away.

MERRY PARTY WAS ARRESTED

Police Raid a Number of Houses in the Two Cities — Sadie Grimes' Place Again Visited—South Side Man Gathered In—Many Fines Imposed.

Pittsburgh police made a number of raids on alleged disorderly houses and speakeasies yesterday. One of them, where Lillie Dunn, of No. 15 Shingiss street was arrested, had an odd side to it. When the police went to the house the woman denied that she kept a speakeasy. She said five men had come to her house and she had sold them some beer, but would not let them drink it on the premises, so they placed the beer in a basket and left. A little search located the men sitting under a big tree in Hill street drinking the beer. They were locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct and the woman on a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

No. 424 Third avenue was raided and Sadie Grimes and William Grimes were arrested as the proprietors and one woman was taken in as a visitor. Grimes denied having anything to do with the house and said he lived on the South Side.

Sadie Scott, colored, and three women were arrested at No. 469 Water street and John Ellison and two men at Fourteenth and Etna streets.

As the result of raids Saturday night and early yesterday morning the Central station hearings were numerous. Maggie Lamont of 1110 Bedford avenue was fined $100 and costs for keeping a disorderly house. Five women inmates were fined $25 and costs and eight visitors $5 and costs. Mary Smith of No. 1018 Poplar alley paid $50 and costs for the same offense, seven inmates $25 and costs and 12 visitors $5 and costs. No. 202 River avenue, kept by Edna Lovey, was also raided, and the keeper, three girls and six men were arrested. The proprietor was fined $50 and costs, the girls $10 and costs each and the visitors were discharged.

ANNUAL REUNION OF C. M. B. A.

Advisory Council of Western Pennsylvania Makes Arrangements.

The C. M. B. A. advisory council of Western Pennsylvania held an enthusiastic meeting yesterday in St. George's school hall, Thirty-first ward, as the guests of Branch No. 63. Over 100 branches were represented. The reports of the delegates as to the work of the branches were all satisfactory.

The annual reunion will be held this year on July 4 at Allquippa park, and there was a long discussion on the best manner of handling the throng that will attend. It was finally decided to make President B. J. Devlin chairman of a joint committee composed of the ways and means and organization committees, with power to add 150 members as special aids for the day.

The delegates were entertained at a banquet by Branch No. 63 after the business meeting.

COUSIN OF MARTYRED McKINLEY OCCUPIES PITTSBURGH PULPIT

The Rev. Russel A. McKinley, Ph. D., D. D.

The Rev. Dr. Russel A. McKinley, a second cousin of the late President McKinley and pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Steubenville, O., occupied the pulpit in the First Red Presbyterian church yesterday morning. Dr. McKinley was for 11 years pastor of a Presbyterian church at Clearfield, Pa. He is a graduate of the Western Theological seminary of Allegheny, and last year he was chosen moderator of the Presbyterian synod of Ohio by acclamation. Dr. McKinley's sermon yesterday was from the text, Psalm viii:4, "What is man that thou art mindful of him?" He said in part:

"This psalm expresses wonder at the greatness of God and at his condescension toward men. It is also a Messianic psalm telling of the advancement of Jesus to glory, honor and dominion. That He might be the Savior of a lost race. There are some who think God is too great and has too many big worlds and grand forces to look after to bother Himself very much about each one of His millions of human creatures. This thought was a stumbling block for years to the great mind of Daniel Webster. Dean Swift, the poet, is said to have been driven to madness by this very thought. Yet as a sovereign, God must rule in justice mercy and for His own honor."

BATTLESHIP COLLIDES WITH SCHOONER THOMAS

Massachusetts Causes Sailing Vessel to Spring a Leak Off Boston Lightship.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, June 21.—The battleship Massachusetts, which left here yesterday afternoon for New York, was in collision last night, 27 miles southeast by east of Boston lightship, with the schooner Martha T. Thomas of Thomaston, from Appalachicola with lumber.

Capt. Watts of the Thomas says the battleship struck his schooner a glancing blow on the starboard side, tearing off the main chain plates, carrying away rails and damaging some planking about the hull, causing her to leak about two inches per hour. The captain says the weather was clear and he could see four miles away. His vessel, having a fair wind, kept a clear course, thinking the battleship, which was headed out the bay, would give her a clear way.

Immediately after the collision the Massachusetts put about and followed the schooner into the bay in case she might need assistance, but, on reaching the lightship, Capt. Watts decided that it was unnecessary. The Massachusetts then put to sea.

NO STRIKE WANTED.

Walking Delegate's Attempt to Incite One Meets Emphatic Negative.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(Special.)—F. Quinlan, delegate of the Pipe Caulkers union in the Central Federated union, declared at the regular meeting of the federation today that another strike would be ordered on the subway on July 1 unless the demands of his union for an increase from $3 to $3.50 a day were granted.

His speech was met by exclamations of disapproval from several of the delegates and he was told in emphatic terms that if a strike was ordered his union would have to fight it out alone and would receive no assistance from the other unions.

Jaw Broken in a Fight.

Robert Coulter of 1707 Greenwood street, Allegheny, is at the Allegheny General hospital with a badly broken jaw. He was taken there at 10 o'clock last night in a carriage and refused to say anything about his injury, except that a man had hit him with his fist. He will have to undergo an operation.

After Another Man's Money.

Stany Christie was fined $25 and costs yesterday morning for misrepresenting himself and trying to collect another man's money at Carnegie's mill at Thirty-third street.

HIGH PRICE OF COTTON KILLS LOWELL STRIKE

Textile Council at Lowell Officially Admits Defeat of Idle Employes.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LOWELL, MASS., June 21.—The textile council this afternoon declared the great strike in the Lowell mills at an end. Every union affiliated with the council was represented and the vote was unanimous. Mule spinners and loom fixers were included in this vote, despite statements that they would oppose a return to work.

When asked for a statement, President Conroy smilingly said:

"We now worship at the altar of defeat, but later we shall rise again and conquer."

The strike began on March 30 and involved about 17,000 operatives. The mills were shut down until June 1, when the agents opened the gates and the majority of the operatives went back to work. The strike has cost in wages about $1,300,000.

It is understood that the agents will take back all the old help they have room for and will make no discrimination against the leaders of the strike movement.

The high price of cotton precluded any hope of the success of the strikers' campaign for a 10 per cent increase.

KILLED BY LOVER.

After Murder of Katie Atkins, Elmer Heath Shoots Himself Three Times.

LAUREL DELL, June 21.—Miss Katie Atkins was shot and killed in her home last night by Elmer Heath, her lover. After killing the young woman, Heath fired three bullets into his head and fell unconscious. He was hurried in an ambulance to jail to prevent a lynching. He may recover.

The dead girl and her lover are under 21 and were to have been married last Thursday, but Miss Atkins broke the engagement when she learned that Heath had stolen money from his employer.

Poncas Have New Chief.

WHITE EAGLE, OKLA., June 21.—White Eagle, the aged chief of the Poncas, resigned today, and conferred his title upon his son, Tahey. The event was made one of great festivity. In honor of the new chief, 700 ponies were given away as presents, and 2,000 Indians participated in the Sun dance. Thousands of whites witnessed the celebration.

Brick-Throwers Are Punished.

For throwing bricks into Carnegie's mill John Ruman, John Beno, Mice Straupan and Eddie Straupan, Poles, were fined $25 and costs, yesterday morning.

LEGAL NOTICES.

H. H. NEGLEY, Attorney-at-Law, 413 Grant street, Pittsburgh, Pa. In re Incorporation of the borough of Whitaker, Allegheny county, Pa., No. 71 March sessions, A. D. 1903. Notice is hereby given that the petition of George Delbridge, Gustave Kayser, Joseph Pfirrmann, Henry Vogt, E. J. Williams and one hundred and thirteen other petitioners, constituting a majority of the resident freeholders in the town of Whitaker, in Mifflin township, Allegheny county, state of Pennsylvania, was presented in the court of quarter sessions on Thursday, May 28, A. D. 1903, for the incorporation of said village into a borough, and the title of the borough fixed, according to the following boundaries: Beginning at the low water mark or line on the southern side of the Monongahela river at the northeasterly corner of the property of W. H. B. Hays and the said Monongahela river in the township of Mifflin, county of Allegheny, and state of Pennsylvania; thence extending south 36 degrees 30 minutes west, 250 feet to the center of the new township road; thence along the center of the line of said road south 28 degrees, east 60 feet; thence along the center line of same road south 46 degrees, 30 minutes east 600 feet; thence continuing along the center line of said road 63 degrees, 20 minutes east, 170 feet; thence south 4 degrees, 40 minutes east, 400 feet to a point in the center line of said road; thence south 61 degrees 40 minutes west, 1,270 17 feet along Chalfant's avenue to center of old township road, now known as Whitaker street; thence south 70 degrees, 45 minutes west, 645.45 feet to a post; thence south 35 degrees, 15 minutes east, 9.5 feet to a post; thence south 63 degrees, 15 minutes west, 1,922.25 feet; thence south 31 degrees, 45 minutes east, 1,306.8 feet to a post; thence north 63 degrees, 15 minutes east, 5,050 feet to the low water mark or line in the Monongahela river; thence down the southerly side of said Monongahela river along low water line, 2,300 feet, more or less, to place of beginning, as shown on plan thereof, conforming to the lines herein set forth, accompanies and is made a part of the petition. And the court ordered said petition to be filed in the office of the clerk of said courts, as of and this public notice is given of the filing of the said petition at said number and term, so that exceptions may be filed thereto by any person or corporation interested, on or before the first Monday of August, 1903. Harry H. Negley, attorney for petitioners.

NOTICE is hereby given that an application will be made to the governor of the commonwealth, by C. W. Laughner, E. E. Laughner, M. Laughner, W. J. Long and J. L. Long, on the 15th day of July, 1903, for a charter under the provisions of an act of assembly entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations," passed the 29th day of May, 1885, and supplements. The name of the proposed corporation is the "Crescent Oil & Gas Company," and the purpose of said corporation is the production, selling in, transporting, storing and supplying natural gas. The places where natural gas is intended to be mined for and produced or received are in the townships of Independence, Hopewell, Moon, Raccoon, Green and Hanover, Beaver county, and the townships of Crescent and Moon in Allegheny county. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, MASS., June 21.—The Pittsburgh players took advantage of a steady downpour of rain to have a long rest after a strenuous week of baseball. As the team won every game played they have certainly earned the relaxation. Some remained quietly at their hotel; others paid Sunday visits to friends in the suburbs. It looks tonight as though there would be no game tomorrow on the South End grounds. The diamond is half under water, and unless the rain ceases and the sun and wind begin the work of drying up forthwith, the grounds will be in a simply unplayable state. If there is no game it simply means one less victory for the Pittsburghs and one less defeat for the unlucky Boston leaguers.

Manager Buckenberger's men have given up all hope of defeating the champions in this series at least. The slim attendance in this, once the premier city of the league in point of crowds, gives evidence that the "fans" are of the same opinion.

Baseball experts here have already picked the Pittsburghers for the third straight pennant. They point that New York has already since its bout and can never recover first place, and that the Chicago "Cubs" which have been trotting out of their class, are no longer dangerous. No other club is in the least to be feared.

The local fans have taken particular note of the great improvement in the team since its first eastern trip. Then it was a patched up sort of aggregation and the pitchers not particularly effective.

Since then it has crystallized into a perfect baseball machine. The fielding in the present series has been careless, but brilliant and the batting sure and deadly, the kind that wins three out of four matches. The work of Pitchers Leever, Doheny and Phillippe in the three games of the present series has been flawless, has been gilt edged in marked contrast to the wild and ineffective efforts of the much touted Boston slab artists. The absence of Tannehill and Chesbro has been amply made good.

Manager Buckenberger of the Boston team is responsible for Eddie Phelps to the Pirates sobriquet of "Chink." "Buck" insisted that Phelps' round, fat face reminded him of a Chinaman, and one day at a benefit masquerade game insisted on him putting on a queue. "Chink" made a good Chinaman that day, and the name has stuck. From being what some people thought the worst catcher in the world, Phelps has, by persistence, worked his way to near the top of the baseball pile. In fact, Phelps looked for a professional berth and landed in the Connie Mack's made good, and was found later with Springfield, then with Rochester, then Buckenberger's team, from which aggregation he was lifted by Pittsburgh for $2,500. Boston was often helps and Buckenberger thought he had him. He was mistaken.

PROMINENT ATHLETES AT WESTMINSTER COLLEGE

CATCHER "POP" SHRIVER JOINS WHEELING TEAM

Washer Reports to Homestead and Burns Will Go to New Orleans.

"Pop" Shriver, the Waynesburg college catcher, but for the past two seasons catcher at the West Virginia university, will today report to the management of the Wheeling Central league team to work behind the bat. Shriver was captain of this year's West Virginia team and is catching better ball than ever in his career. Last summer he and Bill Bowman came to Homestead from West Virginia and did good work. Bowman is now with St. Joseph.

Buck Washer, the former Buchtel college pitcher, who made a record for himself at West Virginia last year, reported to Manager Howard M. Risher at Homestead late Saturday night. The addition of Washer gives Risher a strong corps of pitchers. In Alex Pearson, Slab Burns, Washer and Pattison he has a bunch that would make any minor manager feel pleased. Risher is letting no stones unturned that will impede a fight for the independent championship. He is pleased with his team and when Thayer Torreyson, one of the best captains that ever wore a Homestead uniform, gets back into the game, he will be in as best shape possible to take the hard eastern trip.

Risher has five games scheduled for this week. He plays a scrub team this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon the All-Intercholastics will be the attraction at Steel Works park. Natrona plays there Thursday and Friday and Saturday the All Cubans will make their first appearance in Homestead. Last year the Cubans took three out of five games from his record.

The All-Intercholastics will practice this afternoon at Friendship park. Capt. Kerr Price will put his men through some hard work in preparation for the game with this afternoon. Worthington and the aggument with Burgess 2d Hickey's Etna team Saturday at Etna. Youngson, the Shadyside third baseman, who has been playing a few games with East Liverpool, will be on hand this week. Outfielder Smith, the West Virginian, will play second. Either Ray Burns or Don Doyle will be on the rubber against the Risherites. Practice will be held nearly every day until the team gets it playing together. Every player on the nine is in good one, but Capt. Price will try to get team work. An effort will be made to play the best teams in this section. Games are wanted with such teams as Washington, Manor, Wilmerding, Rochester, Monessen, Uniontown and Johnstown.

Catcher Burns of the Wilmerdings will leave probably tomorrow to join the New Orleans Southern league team. Burns was made an offer by New Orleans some time ago.

PENN'S EARLY PRACTICE.

Football Candidates Will Be Taken to Beach Haven to Learn New Rules.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—(Special.)—Owing to the intricacy of the new football rules the University of Pennsylvania football team will leave for Beach Haven on August 17, in order that the men may familiarize themselves with the changes. One of the strongest teams in the history of the Red and Blue is expected to represent the Quakers on the gridiron next fall.

Schoolboy stars from every section of the country will enter the university. Funk, the crack tackle, of State College, has matriculated. He is one of the fastest line men in any of the colleges. When State played Penn last fall his line plunges backed by Smith, who is now at Penn, wrought havoc with the defense of Dr. William's proteges.

Funk is 6 feet 4 inches tall, and weighs 240 pounds when he is in good condition. He will enter the engineering department. With some of the old team as a nucleus and the men who will enter from other colleges, coupled with the schoolboy athletes, it looks as though the defeats for the past several years will be wiped out next fall.

McCORMICK G. MOORE CHOSEN CAPTAIN OF WESTMINSTER NINE

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 21.—(Special)—McCormick G. Moore of the class of 1904 of Westminster has just been elected captain of the college base ball team for the season of 1904. He plays second base on the nine. He is also captain of Westminster's football team, having been elected at the close of last season to guide the team next fall.

Audley D. Stewart retires from the captaincy of the nine after a season of unusual success. He is a member of the 1904 class and succeeded in securing a team this season that reflected much credit upon the college. He plays left field and will be one of the fixtures on the 1904 team.

Elbert Tennent, '05 of Westminster, is regarded as one of the most brilliant athletes of that institution. He plays right field on the nine and also left end on the eleven. In the latter place he has gained a reputation second to none in college athletics and is at Westminster considered the best college end in this locality. He graduated from the Lawrenceville, N. J., preparatory school and entered Westminster September, 1901.

FIRST SIX-DAYS' CYCLE RACE AT COLOSSEUM

Sixteen Sprinters, Among Whom Are Champions, Will Face the Flag Tonight.

The first series of the six-day cycle meet will be held at the Colosseum tonight, when 16 sprinters, paired of into teams, will face the flag. They will ride two hours each night for a purse of $2,500, to be divided as follows: $2 to the team leading each mile, (estimated at 44 miles each night); $20 to the team leading the most laps each night, and $30, $20 and $10 to the three teams making the best average each night. The remainder of the purse, about $1,500, will be distributed, 25, 20, 15, 12, 10, 7, 6 and 5 per cent, according to the respective positions of the teams at the close of the race. It has been agreed that should there be a postponement any night, an account of the weather, the race will continue into the week, or until the six nights shall have been completed.

The riders will be teamed in the following manner: Iver Lawson, champion of Australia, and Eddie Root of Boston; Johnny King of Newark and Floyd Krebs, winner of the six-day race in New York; Frank Kramer, short distance champion of America, and Willie Fenn, five and 10-mile champion. Floyd McFarland, known as the handicap king, and George Schinlau of New York champion Reddish of Newark, winner of the six-day race at Providence, and Saxen Williams of New Haven, John Bedell and Menus Bedell of New York; Walter Bargett of Buffalo and Frank Galvin of Hartford; Eddie Leake of Boston and C. Armbuster of New York.

As an extra feature for tonight Howard Mettling of Boston, Bobby Walthour of Atlanta and Howard Freeman of Portland, Ore., will race 20 miles behind motors. This will decide the N. C. A. grand championships and in addition to the purse money the winner will gain three points, second man two and third man one point in the percentage table. The first event, which starts at 8 p. m., will be preceded by a band concert.

FLEW FROM MISSOURI.

Edward Claus' Bird Wins 604 Mile Race.

The Pittsburgh district of N. A. of A. H. P. F. held its sixth old bird race of this season Saturday from Warrenton, Mo., an air line distance of 604 miles. The 15 birds shipped were liberated at 5:55 a. m., the weather was reported partly cloudy, west winds.

The first and only bird to report was Red Checker Cock No. 214, owned by Edward Claus, 1828 Carson street, South Side. The bird bobbed at 3:24:16 p. m. yesterday, making an average speed of 920.56 yards per minute, which is fairly good, considering the weather encountered. The next race will be from Topeka, Kan., 900 miles air line.

JIM CORBETT TRAINING HARD FOR JEFFRIES

Is in Fine Shape and His Friends Expect Him to Give Champion Fierce Battle.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—It is more than possible that when Corbett meets Jeffries in the squared circle in August he will give the big boilermaker and the sport-loving public as well, a great surprise. If careful attention to training and determination can do it, Corbett will enter the ring fit to make the battle of his life. He thinks he can win, and realizing that it is his last chance to redeem himself, he purposes to make the most of his opportunity. Already he has been at work for nearly two weeks and he shows improvement. Corbett came to the city yesterday on business, but remained only a few hours, returning to his training quarters at Lagunitas. Jim spoke very freely of his chances and told of his training plans. He said: "I now weigh about 185 pounds, but expect to enter the ring at 190.

"I am working a new plan. Instead of training down my training consists of building up muscles. I shall gain weight slowly but steadily from now until the fight. My road work consists of a walk at a good, stiff pace for 10 or 12 miles, I then ride myself out by a long run. I reduce weight and, in fact, I never break out of a good fast walk.

"I use the swinging rings in the open air a good deal and put in much time on the mat. I have adopted a system of physical culture which I believe is working wonders to build muscles and increase my wind. My chest expansion has been increased four inches by following this plan. Every day I box three fast rounds each with Sam Berger and Yank Kenny. Later I shall add rowing to my list of exercises."

Corbett freely admits that he is not as fast as he was as a youngster, but declares that he can hit much better than he could then, and from many given convincing testimony as to the force of Corbett's blows when he shows his cut lip and damaged nose, both of which are due to them. The one-time champion is certainly devoting himself to work. He resists all attempts to induce him to spend his evenings in the city.

Jeffries is having a good time just at present in his city and Oakland. He is in good trim, but has not yet settled down to daily training, and has not made up his mind when to begin. He figures that he has six weeks and more in which to get into shape and there is no need of hurry. His training quarters have been well chosen on the bay shore at Elcampo, some 10 miles from the city. The place is remote from the ordinary routes of travel and presents many advantages.

The admirers of the champion will either have to take a special boat to reach the training quarters or walk a couple of miles. Of course, Jeffries is a top-heavy favorite in the estimation of most sporting men, but there is no question that Corbett has gained friends since he arrived. He is bigger and stronger than he ever was before. His knowledge of the game is just as great. His main handicap, and it is a great one, is his age.

Will Reproduce Plays.

Starting Friday afternoon, when the Pirates play the New York Giants at New York, each game will be reproduced, play for play, at Old City hall, on Market street, the same as last year.

WONDERFUL PITCHER IS LYNCH OF BROWN UNIV.

Leads All College Slabmen and Has Turned Down Many Offers from Professionals.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 21.—Michael J. Lynch, pitcher for the Brown university team, has just completed the most remarkable record ever made by a college pitcher. Brown closed its season last Wednesday with a game with Columbia. Lynch pitched and struck out 21 of the boys from Morningside Heights, allowing them but one single and shut them out.

This performance topped off Lynch's work against Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Pennsylvania and Georgetown. He let down Harvard with four hits and eight strike outs; Pennsylvania, six hits, 15 strike outs; Yale, three hits, 14 strike outs; Georgetown, six hits, 15 strike outs; Harvard, three hits and 12 strike outs. In these games Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania were each whitewashed.

In one Harvard game Lynch retired the first three batters on strikes. In the Williams game he struck out three men in one inning on nine pitched balls.

Lynch was the mainstay of the Brown team throughout the season not only in pitching but in batting and fielding, as well. His good judgment and fine fielding steadies the infield at all times. He is a heavy batter, and his batting is falling to get one or more hits. Against Yale he scored a single, a double and a three-bagger. On account of his stick work Lynch, when not pitching, played in the outfield, covering a wide territory and finished the season with a fielding average of 1000.

Since his work became known the young collegian has refused at least 100 offers to become a professional. A number of almost every club in the country have made him tempting propositions. One western team offered him a contract for $5,000 a year. But Lynch has persistently refused to consider any offer. He will take the full course at Brown, remaining there two more years.

Lynch is a resident of Holyoke, Mass., where he graduated from the Holyoke High school. He is a six-footer, weighs 175 pounds and is splendidly formed as an athlete. He is a member of the Psi U fraternity and the Cammarian club, the only honorary society at Brown. As a student he stands very high. During his first year at college he did not play ball because he was told to go to bed well along on the road to the goal for which he came to college. It was only after much persuasion that he agreed to help out this season.

"I did not come to Brown to play ball or to throw away my time on anything of the kind," Lynch said recently. Lynch has been elected captain of the Brown team for 1904.

MANY COLLEGE EVENTS.

Big Week Among the Collegians on Diamond, Track and Water.

This is to be a big week in college sports. The Yale-Harvard baseball game on Tuesday followed by the dual regatta on Thursday; the intercollegiate regatta on Friday and the Oxford and Cambridge-Cornell lacrosse game on Saturday are a fine list of attractions in the calendar of amateur sport. The complete list is as follows:

Monday, June 22—Baseball, Amherst vs. Amherst Alumni at Amherst.

Tuesday, June 23—Baseball, Yale vs. Harvard at New Haven. Williams college vs. Cuban Giants at Williamstown. Lacrosse—Combined team of Oxford and Cambridge vs. University of Pennsylvania at Germantown Cricket club, Philadelphia.

Wednesday, June 24—Baseball, Williams vs. Williams Alumni at Williamstown.

Thursday, June 25—Rowing, dual races between Harvard and Yale varsity eights, 'varsity fours and freshmen eights, at New London, Conn. Lacrosse—Combined Oxford and Cambridge team against Swarthmore at Germantown Cricket club, Philadelphia.

Friday, June 26—Rowing, intercollegiate regatta between the varsity eights of Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Syracuse and Georgetown; the 'varsity fours of Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, and the freshmen eights of Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Syracuse, at Poughkeepsie. Baseball—Williams vs. Wesleyan at Middletown.

Saturday, June 27—Baseball, Yale vs. Harvard at New York (in case of tie); Williams vs. Wesleyan at Middletown. Lacrosse, combined team of Oxford and Cambridge vs. Cornell at Ithaca.

"CURLY" NESBIT WILL PITCH AGAINST 'VARSITY

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 21. — Manager Stevenson of the Washington and Jefferson college baseball team has arranged for a game next Wednesday afternoon at College park between the 'varsity team and the team of alumni stars. This game is expected to be a good one. "Curly" Nesbit, the southpaw, who graduated in 1898 and reputed to be the best pitcher up there that institution would be seen in college, will be on the rubber for the alumni.

Billy Boyle, Racer, Dies.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., June 21.—(Special)—Billy Boyle, the racing horse of James O. Wallace, died last night. He was entered in all the West Virginia races of recent years and had a mark of 2:18.

WEDDING IS CAUSE OF RACE BATTLE

GREENSBURG, PA., June 21.—(Special.)—All the available policemen and constables of Greensburg were summoned to Jamison No. 2 this afternoon to quell a race fight begun last night. Poles of the coal works were celebrating a wedding when, it is claimed, a party of Slavs interfered. The fight went on irregularly during the night, and early this morning Frank Stucki, one of the wedding guests, was wounded in the leg by a shotgun. John Mahena, the leader of the Slav party, was arrested by Constables Rieser and Washabaugh and Policeman Martin, and is charged with shooting Stucki.

CLEAN SWEEP.

Browns Take Last Game from Senators Before Large Crowd.

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—St. Louis made a clean sweep in the series with Washington by taking this afternoon's game. The game was well played, but there was little of the sensational in the work of either team. Attendance, 9,200. Score:

Furnaceman Killed By Train.

SHARON, PA., June 21.—(Special.)—Anthony Davies, 40 year old, was killed by a train near the Douglass furnace, in Sharpeville this afternoon. A switch engine was passing the furnace and Davies attempted to board the train. He fell between the engine and some cars and was killed instantly. He was married and employed by the Shenango Furnace Company.

Bishop Garvey Makes Address.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., June 21.—(Special.)—The dedication of the Catholic church at Nanty-lo today was witnessed by 2,000 people. Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Gill of Johnstown, assisted by Fathers Hurton of Nantyglo and Ludden of Ebensburg. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Morgan Sheedy of Altoona. Bishop Garvey of the Altoona diocese also made an impressive address.

ROWERS TAKING ON MUCH WEIGHT

QUAKERS DOING GOOD WORK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 21.—The principal concern of the coaches of the college crews is that their men are all putting on weight. This is due to the continued cool weather and it has necessitated harder work than usual on the part of all the colleges. The coaches are hoping that tomorrow will bring a radical change of weather. They say they do not care how hot it may be, the hotter the better. The Wisconsin men, especially, are over-weight and today Coach O'Dea sent two of the men, Barrell and Mather, for a long walk in the rain, each man wearing two or three sweaters. Each lost three or four pounds by the road work. In this connection it is interesting to note that the Columbia varsity, right in their four-mile trial last evening, lost an average of three and one-half pounds per man.

The doors of all the boat houses were closed and locked today and not one of the 200 oarsmen comprising the various crews was on the river.

The Wisconsin delegation crossed the river and made a visit to the Cornell quarters. They did not go because pleasant conversation, in which crew matters were barely discussed. There is little or no betting as yet, but all the speculation favors Cornell, and the public confidence in the ability of Courtney's men to win is reflected by the visitors themselves.

There never has been a more marked air of confidence about a Cornell crew quarter than there is this year and it is evident from the manner of all, from coach to oarsmen, that they expect victory in the coming races.

The fastest time now stands to the credit of Pennsylvania, being 19 minutes 23 seconds, as given out by Coach Ward, and the remarkable improvement which the Quaker crew showed after its 19 minutes' work the afternoon has given their following new inspiration. Andrew O'Dea will not talk about the Wisconsin's crew except to say that they are faster than last year. They are very popular with the visitors here and admire their pluck in coming a long distance.

Georgetown and Syracuse have better crews than last year. Being the last to arrive they expect to work the hardest during the few days that remain before the race.

WEAK-MINDED PEOPLE SHIPPED TO AMERICA

POTTSVILLE, PA., June 21.—(Special.)—Schuylkill county officials charge that weak-minded persons whose condition borders on insanity are being sent to America in large numbers by Italy, Austria and Russia. The admissions to the county insane asylum shows a large proportion of this class, and investigation shows that the same condition of things prevails in the other counties in the anthracite region.

PERU WILL SUPPRESS INTERNAL DISORDERS

LIMA, PERU, June 21.—(Special Cable.)—The government is taking active measures to prevent any disorder in connection with the opening of congress. A proclamation has been issued by President Candamo. Apparently the government has sufficient force to maintain order. The government has decided to secure on a three years' contract a geologist from the United States or Europe to study the fossil formation of Peru.

RIOT TAKES PLACE AT SUNDAY GAME

Constable Is Assaulted by Business Man When He Attempts to Stop Game at Findaly.

ARRESTS LIKELY TO FOLLOW

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FINDLAY, O., June 21.—Constable Enoch Jenkins of this city was assaulted by George Bailey, proprietor of an oil well supply store here, today at Reeves park while the officer was trying to enforce the law in regard to Sunday baseball. Just before the game was called Johnson appeared on the grounds with the information that he had come to stop the game. He had no warrant. Manager Theodore Wentz of the park, and Manager W. W. Drake of the baseball club, had a consultation with the officer, who remained firm in his determination to arrest the players.

The opposing team was the Eberhardts of Cleveland. Manager Wentz declined to proceed with the game. Johnson was sitting on a bench with Bailey when the first ball was batted into the field. The players immediately ran to the opposite corner of the diamond, where they were placed under arrest by Constable Rider, acting on authority. Frank Stuart, mayor of Arcadia, Johnson attempted to rise, when Bailey suddenly gave him a terrific blow over the head which almost felled him.

Bailey then seized the constable and ejected him from the grounds, followed by a howling mob from the bleachers who threatened the officer with further violence if he tried to resist. Mayor Stuart afterwards arrested Bailey and he gave bond to appear tomorrow. Many arrests are expected as a result of the riot.

FIVE THOUSAND EXPECTED.

National Convention of Knights of St. John Meets at Columbus This Week.

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—The national convention of the Knights of St. John will be held here this week. The silver jubilee of the organization will be celebrated at this meeting, and more than the usual number of knights is expected. Preparations have been made for the entertainment of 5,000 visitors.

A feature of the gathering will be a parade tomorrow afternoon, when 2,500 uniformed knights are expected to be in line.

The convention will be in session four days, the formal opening taking place tomorrow morning.

A prize drill will be held Tuesday afternoon and the festivities incident to the convention will close with a banquet Thursday evening.

SOME FEATURES IN WHICH THE SUNDAY GAZETTE EXCELS

In every department The Sunday Gazette yesterday proved itself the best newspaper in Pittsburgh. In its local columns it out-distanced all its rivals, while in special features—its elaborate color pages, its attractive illustrations and fine printing, it was second to no Sunday publication in the country.

With the largest local staff in Pittsburgh it is an easy matter for The Sunday Gazette to give its readers a brilliant, clean-cut account of the happenings in Greater Pittsburgh up to a few short hours before the paper is delivered by the carrier. No expense is spared and photographers and reporters are always ready in response to an instant's call to cover every news item of importance within a radius of 300 miles of the city. Beyond that circuit its corps of efficient correspondents cover the news field independent of the regular news gathering associations. In all the larger cities in both this country and in the old world, The Gazette maintains staff correspondents who are in instant communication and serve up an epitome of the world's happenings with accuracy and dispatch.

The Sunday Gazette was the first newspaper in the land to invade the droway precincts of the old hamlet of Library, and yesterday was printed the first photographs ever made in that famous old town, together with a comprehensive story of its strange vicissitudes. On Saturday was held the first automobile meet ever organized in Pittsburgh, and in The Sunday Gazette was given a pictorial story of that gathering so auspicious to local motorists. Two pages of the paper were devoted to a review of local society and matters of interest in women's clubs. A page was given to the news of Pittsburgh's schools. The news of the summer resorts will be a feature of The Sunday Gazette and yesterday's issue was brimful of interesting paragraphs which were read with keen interest by the "folks at home." A whole section was given over to women readers, and with Payne's coon, Buster Brown and Henning's Mother Goose rhymes, the little people were also sumptuously entertained.

MARKET STILL KEEPS EXPERTS GUESSING

Developments of the Week Afford No Basis Upon Which to Predict Its Future Course. Confidence Yet Lacking.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 21.—Stocks acted during the past week in a manner which should have given satisfaction to both parties in the market. If there was any advantage noticeable, however, it rested with the forces operating for a further decline. These seemed natural enough, in view of the process of settlement and adjustment which follows a sudden turn in stock market affairs. For a period of nearly eight months the stock market has undergone steady and heavy liquidation. Toward the end this liquidating movement met with considerable resistance, but such was its force that it was only by a concentrated and powerful stroke that the current threatening financial destruction was deflected. Nothing occurred during the past week which would finally determine whether the natural course of the market was toward a lower level or otherwise. Prices were highly irregular, reflecting the unsettled condition of speculative sentiment and the lack of a fundamental guiding force which is yet to make its appearance.

From the volume of business transacted and the course of the market it was evident that the fright which was extending over the length and breadth of the land, and even across the seas, has been pretty thoroughly dissipated. Confidence, however, has not been thoroughly restored as yet and the present situation is akin to that which follows a run on a bank. Wall street has seen wealthy interests and security makers go into the open market and buy freely and openly in a manner which suggested the action of bank managers in piling high on their counters the gold and currency with which they hope to establish confidence in the minds of the frightened depositors. So far the action of the important financial interests in openly buying stocks at the present levels has had the effect of stopping the heavy liquidation and preventing many from selling securities which they had decided to throw on the market. The word has gone forth that the financial situation is sound, and as yet nothing has developed to indicate in the slightest measure but that the statement is correct. There still remains, however, some belated liquidation which upon the recovery in prices sought the opportunity to vent itself.

At this point, however, the question is asked, has that factor which produced the incessant liquidation through which the market passed been entirely removed? On this point there are now two powerful parties who hold opposite beliefs, and these factions are apparently willing to back their convictions by operations in the stock market. The vacillating character of price movements during the last week will probably continue until this question has been absolutely settled.

There is an undivided opinion that the over-production of securities, both good and bad, played an important part in the liquidation which was brought to so sudden a turn in the week ending Saturday, June 20. The inflation of older and well-organized companies also played its part. The recovery from these financial excesses is a matter of slow growth.

In the Oil Fields

The oil operator who can analyze the developments in the lower southwest fields for the week just closed and point out any encouraging discoveries is in possession of some secret information that failed to reach the general public. A careful survey of the entire week's developments brings up more disappointments than pleasures, and in the greatest number of the latter were encountered in the most expensive territory to be operated in the eastern fields. In the shallow sand district in Harrison county again distinguished when the money invested is taken into account. Dusters or very light pumpers are quite a different thing in the Gordon and fifth sand districts in West Virginia.

The east and northeast sides of the Folsom district in Harrison county, again distinguished itself the past week by furnishing nothing better than light wells and dusters. The late wells on this side of the field have been so much of a disappointment that operations in that quarter have fallen off very much and attention will now be given to the fuller development of the interior. There are still many unfilled locations on the inside tract that will give paying producers and future operations in the Folsom district will be made up very largely of this class of work. The old wells are still declining and a very few only have an individual production of 100 or more barrels a day. One of the best is the South Penn Oil Company's No. 1 on the Catherine Barker farm. It is located in the north end of the development and in that locality the South Penn Company is still hopeful of finding some good wells.

The week passed without the completion of any new wells in the Pine Grove extension in Wetzel county. At the close several test wells were drilling in the sand, but none deep enough to indicate what would be their probable producing powers. On the extreme west side of the extension the South Penn Company's test on the Lida Lemaster farm is still producing at the rate of 130 barrels a day and is the best producer at this time in the extension.

In the new Gordon development southwest of Littleton, Wetzel county, the new work projected a few weeks ago is getting under way and it will be an active locality when all the work now mapped out has been started. The Philadelphia Company's new well in advance on the Sarah Johnson lot is holding up at 140 barrels a day and the old well on the James Park farm is still producing 100 barrels a day.

South of the Big Injun sand development on Fallen Timber run, in Wetzel county, A. W. Mollen & Co. have drilled in a test on the D. B. Fisher farm and have a producer with an initial production of 60 barrels a day. More than a dozen wells have been completed in this district since the Philadelphia Company and J. C. Trees & Co. drilled in their wells on the D. B. Fisher farm. With a few exceptions all same in dusters and the one just drilled in on the Fisher farm is the only one that has come any way near approaching the Trees farm well as a producer. Mellon & Co. are drilling several more wells in the vicinity of the producers and stand a good chance to increase their production.

In the old Fairview district, in Marion county, there is a little more encouragement for the delvers in the deep sand territory. During the week the South Penn Oil Company drilled in a well on the D. Jones farm that is showing for a 150-barrel producer. The Fisher Oil Company has one on the M. E. Ingham farm that is good for 100 barrels a day, and the South Penn Oil Company's No. 9 on the P. B. Amons farm is now a month old and is still holding up at 140 barrels a day. These fifth sand wells, whether large or small, possess commendable staying qualities and that feature makes it attractive, regardless of the cost of drilling. The late discoveries in this district have been of such a nature as to encourage greater activity.

In the old Sand Fork district, in Lewis county, there is very little work under way. The South Penn Company drilled in a second test on the R. E. Collins farm during the week and got no better than a 10-barrel pumper.

In the Big Flint district and other parts of Doddridge county there is some work of an experimental kind starting. There was some completed during the week, but it furnished but small satisfaction for the owners. Outside of the deep sand territory about the only information derived from the new work being completed is condemning territory about which there had existed some doubt as to whether or not it would produce oil in paying quantities.

In Roane county the Carter Oil Company is going to make another effort to develop a strictly new pool. In Calhoun some new test work is starting, but it is not attracting much attention.

The Keener sand districts, in Ritchie county, contributed four new wells during the week and all fell to the duster list. The end of the month will show a very heavy falling off in work in this district. The small extension to the south of the old Whisky run pool has been fully defined and was the main source of Keener sand dusters during the week.

Developments on the Ohio side were no more satisfactory than that experienced by those operating in the deep sand territory in West Virginia. More dusters were completed in the shallow sand districts than for any previous week in many months. The Wolf creek district, in Washington county, contained a large number of the failures and Morgan county was not far behind with wells of the same class.

The new development in Noble county is supplying a large number of producers than another of the shallow sand developments. The wells are small—not averaging more than eight barrels when first drilled in, but they have good staying qualities and this alone is sufficient to stimulate new work.

There is quite an increase of new work in the Bass run and Sheets run districts and the prospects for a pool of Big Injun and Squaw sand oil are developing. The wells completed so far average about 15 barrels a day after they have settled down to steady producers. The best have produced as much as 50 barrels a day when first drilled in the sand.

In Monroe county the chances for a new Big Lime pool are diminishing. Two more dusters have been added to the new ventures between Monroefield and Miltonburg.

In Sycamore valley in the same county, an occasional good producer is found in the Big Lime formation, but operations are falling off in the Granville district, the Fisher Oil Company made a discovery during the week that may revive work in this old development. As an experiment the company drilled well on the Mann farm and got a five-barrel producer in the Berea grit. This is something new for this locality and will encourage others to drill down some of the old wells that are no longer profitable producers in the Keener. Searching for production in the lower formations is now a feature in almost every field.

In the local fields possessing an encouraging nature has been discovered. In the Burgettstown district, in Washington county, some are inclined to the opinion that a small pool will be opened. Several wells have been completed within the past two weeks and these have been the incentive for starting a little new work.

Out at Imperial there is a 30-foot development that is attracting some attention. John M. Patterson and the South Penn Oil Company are the largest holders of this territory and it looks as though they have about all that is worth having.

OIL CITY, PA., June 21.—Credit balances, $1.59; certificates, no bid. Shipments, 100,053 barrels; average, 76,502 barrels; runs, 91,004 barrels; average, 76,502 barrels. Shipments, Lima, 97,833 barrels; average, 70,011 barrels; runs, Lima, 63,825 barrels; average, 58,396.

BAD NEGRO WITH A GUN.

He Did Not Scare the Policeman, Who Gave Him a Beating.

Harris Deff, a bad negro, whose home is in Parkersburg, W. Va., but who has been working at the Neville island camp, wandered into the Wabash camp in the West End Saturday night. He was drunk, had a big revolver and wanted trouble, threatening to kill any one who went near him.

Officer Thomas Richardson went to arrest Deff, an order having been issued to arrest all men visiting the camp from other camps, on Saturday and Sunday, as trouble invariably follows. When the officer caught Deff, the latter drew his revolver and the officer had to give Deff a terrible beating before he was finally landed.

Deff was sent to the workhouse for 60 days in default of a fine of $50 and costs.

Object to Sunday Shows.

A mass meeting will be held tomorrow night in Carnegie Music hall, Parker avenue, Braddock, by the members of the Braddock Sabbath Desecration society, which was formally organized Friday night. The movement is directed against Sunday shows at Kennywood park. The following permanent officers have been elected: Charles Leeper, president; Henry S. Leighton, vice president; Miss Mary Purdy, secretary; Charles E. McConkey, Esq., treasurer.

Alleged Highwaymen Fined.

Robert Crockett and Martin Flaherty were fined $50 and costs each, yesterday. William Yonkers said they held him up at Forbes and Moultrie streets and robbed him of some small change Saturday night.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET PRICES

Timothy Hay Continues to Advance—Flour Very Firm at Former Figures.

More than the usual amount of interest has been manifest in the hay market for a week past, the situation throughout the country being such as to occasion advancing prices everywhere. This condition has prevailed here and local quotations for timothy have moved forward $1 per ton. It is believed that eastern crops will be light and that western supplies alone will hardly be adequate to take care of the demand which will set in that direction from all sections. As quotations are now in Pittsburgh they are not up to a parity with those ruling farther east. Oats are also very strong and closed this week at figures nearly in advance of those in force at the opening. Buyers are taking hold freely and, at the advance, prices are very firm. Corn is steady, but unchanged, the tendency for the near being upward. Straw continues unchanged. Middlings offer at former figures, while coarse winter wheat bran is higher.

Wholesale grocers have made no change in the price of flour, although there is a firmer market and no concessions are allowed. The trade is buying heavily and jobbing houses are disposing of a remarkable amount of flour. Coffee repairs are unchanged. Sugar has advanced 5 points in the local market during the week and the situation is steady, with jobbing prices still below cost. Navy beans are firm at quotations, a trifle higher. Canned goods are selling freely, the demand for futures being enormous. Prices are all the same as last reported. Dried fruits steady, but unchanged.

New mackerel is now in the market and the list of quotations has been revised, showing a decline in selling figures.

Old potatoes are much higher than they were a week ago, while new stock, after advancing, has gone back to the range occupied at the beginning of the week. New cabbage is scarce and much higher. Home beets are lower. Peas, shelled, are slow and has declined. String beans have been fairly plentiful and closed on Saturday at lower figures. Green peas are in very light supply and command advanced prices. Wax beans, with stock light. Home asparagus has been checked by the continued cool weather and is much higher.

California cherries are in active demand and prices are advanced. Apricots are slightly lower than they were a week ago, but prices are holding up well. Alabama peaches are in the market. Strawberries are getting scarcer and have ruled well up in price for a week, with the season nearing its close. Raspberries are plentiful and prices are lower, with the demand active. Blackberries have gone down, request being very light. Cantaloupes have held their own, while watermelons are lower.

Creamery, butter went off 1 cent on Monday, since which time demand has shown some improvement. Cheese is steady. Eggs are firm, with quoted prices ruling firm.

PERSHING TELLS HOW HIS SOLDIERS TAMED THE OBSTREPEROUS MOROS

Enemy Had Spent Year Constructing What They Considered Impregnable Fortress.

TAKEN AFTER A PRETTY FIGHT

Not One American Soldier Lost His Life. Two Will Lose an Arm Each—150 of the Savage Foe Were Slain—In Lake Lanao Battle.

Capt. John T. Pershing, U. S. A.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Capt. John J. Pershing, who was in command of the troops at the fight at Lake Lanao, in the Philippines, has written a letter to a personal friend in the war department describing the battle. It has been shown to Secretary Root, who authorized its publication. Capt. Pershing says:

Camp Vicars, April 27.

"I suppose your mail dispatches have, or will have, brought you a full account of the Bacolod incident, in reality the best fight of the Moro campaign. Not so many Moros were killed as at Bayan or Pandapatan—one year ago—but fought according to some sort of system. Of course, I have worked on this fight, as I foresaw long ago that it must come, and the whole thing from the beginning worked out as planned.

"First, we got behind them, much to their surprise, and could post our guns above and drop projectiles down into their fort, so that the artillery fire in this case was not all noise. We had some work and some fighting to gain this position. Once there it was only a question of sitting down deliberately and waiting to see what the Moros would do. Many got away before the place was invested thoroughly.

Fight in a Rainstorm.

"The fight began in a flood of a rainstorm that lasted till dark and reconnoitering was difficult. So we did not find all the avenues of escape until next day, and I am glad now we didn't, as they had such confidence in this fort that they had been constructing for a year that they took many women and children inside, and these escaped during the night. The next day and night we held them fast, however. We tried to get them to surrender; had two talks under flag of truce; no, they would fight it out. So there was then only to finish it.

"I called my officers together and gave each one his work. The main obstacle was a deep ditch 35 feet wide and 40 feet deep to be crossed. It was to be bridged with fallen trees, and over all a bamboo bridge was laid. Everything in readiness, the assault began. In the face of a heavy Remington fire from the fort, the lines advanced against two faces of the fort, putting out of business every Moro that appeared. They could not use their portholes, as we had battered them to pieces, although we could not with our light field artillery damage the earthwork. The lines up to within 50 yards, the bridge was completed by two companies detailed for that purpose, the trees having been previously cut and hauled as near as could safely be done.

Hand-to-Hand Fight.

"Thirty minutes the assaulting infantry swung across and formed line and clambered up nearly in line to the top of the parapet. Here they were met with kampilan and kris, and a bloody hand-to-hand fight occurred—one soldier against two Moros here; another running his bayonet into a fanatic there; Moros plunging headlong into the deep ditch in their impetuosity and impetus.

"It was, as a whole, a scene never to be forgotten. Too much cannot be said of the valor, the bravery, the courage and cool nerve of the American soldier. The majority of those left inside never reached the top of the parapet.

"It was a relief to me that none of our men were killed. Two will lose an arm each, the rest will recover with honorable scars, but not maimed. It was the proudest day of my life.

"Cholera existed in all that section and we did not examine the interior of the fort until after it was burned and wet thoroughly through, for there were all sorts of underground galleries and passageways. Some officers in the assaulting line counted 60 dead on one floor and Moros say there were more than 100 killed inside, while the list outside has been growing ever since the battle, so that 150 all told is a conservative estimate.

Wouldn't Listen to Reason.

"I have labored with these Bacolod Moros for a year, through other Moros, some of them near relatives, trying to convince them of their foolishness in thinking of fighting us, but they have replied in insulting messages, and in fact the whole Laguna Lanao has anticipated a reverse for us. The lesson, of course, has been a severe one for them. The old panandungan (a sort of Moro title, meaning chief counsellor or something of that kind—in this case he had more power than the sultan), lost his life, and the rest of them that are left have sent word that they want to be friends. We burned nothing but this main cotta and a few smaller ones, from which we were fired upon, and I think the Moros all see that our purpose is to be humane as far as they will permit us.

"To my mind this practically settles the Lake Lanao troubles. We, of course, must explore the eastern section of the lake for a distance that remains yet unexplored of about 10 miles. I anticipate little trouble there, but there may be one or two hard-headed old dattos who will put up their red flags. There will never again be any continued opposition nor any general opposition. The sensible ones see that it is useless and several of their old panditas (priests) are now preaching the universal brotherhood of man.

Many United States Flags.

"It is needless for me to say to you that I am gratified at the outcome. From Bacolod north to Marahui there were more United States flags displayed in the road and in rancherios than I supposed existed in all this country. I have been here nearly two years, right in and about the Moro country, in the islands nearly four, and can but feel that I have accomplished something. I think it the largest single success that has been made in the islands. One year ago nobody knew nor had seen, except myself, the Moro in his native laguna nor had they any idea of him nor of his fierce, unconquerable nature.

"Today we have crossed the lake and have practically marched around it. Without the support and backing of Gen. Davis and Gen. Sumner I could not have done this. To them, of course, as commanders, belongs the credit. I hope it will not fail of appreciation and that they will be regarded accordingly."

CONSUMPTION CLAIMS MANY VICTIMS IN CUBA

Chief Sanitary Officer Reports Yellow Fever and Smallpox Banished.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 21.—A copy of the monthly report of Dr. Carlos J. Finlay, chief sanitary officer for the island of Cuba, which has been received at the Cuban legation here, contains the following:

"The showing for 1902 and the beginning for 1903 is very satisfactory, not only in regard to the complete exemption from yellow fever and smallpox, but also in the number of deaths from malaria and in the total mortality. There has been no smallpox on the island since July, 1900, nor yellow fever since September, 1901, and the progressive decrease in malaria has continued without interruption.

"The condition regarding tuberculosis is not, however, so satisfactory. There has been an increase of five to six per cent in deaths from that disease in each of the years, 1901 and 1902; and at the present time the proportion of deaths from that cause to the general mortality amounts to over 16 per cent. The superior board of health is making serious efforts to increase the efficiency of sanitary measures in that direction."

ROBBED A BOON COMPANION.

Kustus' Liberality Did Not Prevent His Being Badly Beaten.

James Butler of No. 2505 Harcum alley, South Side, was arrested late Saturday night at Carson and South Twenty-eighth streets. It is said that he, with a companion and William Kustus had been drinking all day Saturday at Kustus' expense, it being his payday. When Kustus was thought to be well under the influence of drink, the men took him up on South Twenty-sixth street near a lumber yard and knocked him down, giving him a severe beating. They went through his pockets, taking all the money he had left, $8.15, and left him lying on the street unconscious.

When Kustus recovered he went to the police station and told his story, with the result that Butler was captured. At the hearing yesterday morning before Magistrate James H. Kane, Butler was held over to give Kustus a chance to make an information against him, when he will be given a court trial.

An Engagement Announced.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(Special.)—The engagement was announced today of Miss Florence Ahrens, daughter of Mrs. Henriette Ahrens of 1864 Seventh avenue, this city, to Mr. Jesse Jacobs of Washington, Pa. Miss Ahrens is a popular belle in upper West Side society and Mr. Jacobs is well known in Western Pennsylvania business circles. An engagement reception will be held on the evening of July 5.

FORESTRY SCHOOL AND NATURE STUDY

Yale Summer Colony Will Hear Lectures on the Subject at Milford, Pa.

MEN STUDENTS TO CAMP OUT

Distinguished Scientists Will Instruct All Persons Who Are Interested at Grey Towers on the Pinchot Estate—Floods and Forest Fires Will Be Considered.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.

Unusual interest attaches to the opening of the Yale summer school of forestry at Milford, Pa., July 1, in view of the extraordinary floods, cyclones and forest fires which have prevailed in various parts of the United States within the last few months, their ravages being accompanied by great loss of life and property.

The meteorological influence of the forest is well-known and appreciated, but little understood, and the necessity for an increased diffusion of general knowledge of the subject appeals very strongly to the scientists connected with the bureau of forestry of the department of agriculture, with whom Prof. J. W. Toumey, professor of forestry at Yale, has been consulting during the past week. Mr. Toumey has made arrangements with Mr. Gifford Pinchot, chief of the division of forestry, to lecture on the forest policy of the United States, and with Mr. G. B. Sudworth, Mr. Edward A. Bowers and others to lecture on special problems, Mr. Sudworth treating on the turpentine and other industries. The school is located at Grey Towers, on the estate of Mr. J. W. Pinchot, who joined with his son, Mr. Gifford Pinchot, in endowing the Yale school of forestry. The part of Pennsylvania where the estate is located is quite picturesque, being heavily timbered and prolific in mountain streams, waterfalls, lakes, hills, valleys and glens.

Men Students Will Camp Out.

The men students will camp on the slopes of the Sawkill river near Sawkill falls, and the women students will board in the village. The courses of study are adapted for students from the leading universities, who will in the future be called upon to manage estates; for those who expect to become foresters or rangers in the employ of the government or wealthy individuals; for normal school graduates and all others who desire to enter into a closer communication with Nature and to pursue a course of study on the influence of the forest on rainfall, and its relation to excesses of weather and climate, and to the public health.

Special attention will be paid to forest profection and the ways in which injuries to the forests from fire, wind, grazing, insects and parasitic fungi can be lessened or obviated will be carefully studied in field work, and the methods employed in Germany, France, Switzerland, Italy, Russia, Norway, Sweden and India will be studied and compared. Mr. Roy L. Marston, instructor in forestry at Yale, will have charge of the schools and lecture on silviculture, forest protection and forest regions, assisted by Mr. Graves and Mr. Merrill, assistant instructors at the Yale school.

Good Results Expected.

Mr. Graves will have charge of the laboratory work and will lecture on forest botany, and Mr. Merrill on forest measurements. Professor W. H. Brewer of Yale will lecture on forest meteorology and forest physiography, dealing especially with the relations of the forests to the climate, rainfall, excesses of weather and the public health.

The work of this school, it is believed by those scientists connected with the government, who are interested in such matters, will be of far-reaching importance in directing the attention of the general public to the question of the conservation of the forest and the dangers attendant on their indiscriminate destruction.

LOVELORN YOUTH KILLS HIS FORMER FIANCEE

Tragedy Grew Out of an Alleged Embezzlement and Broken Engagement.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, June 21.—After pleading in vain with Miss Katie Adkins, who had discarded him, Elmer Heath, a youth of 20, shot her through the heart and then turned the pistol on himself at Salisbury, Md., last night. The tragedy occurred while the pair were seated on the porch of the girl's residence. After shooting himself Heath ran across the street for about 100 yards and fell. He was found shortly after and carried to jail.

Young Heath, who is a native of Somerset county, but who has been living at Salisbury for about two years, had been paying marked attention to Miss Adkins for some time and last week he secured a set of marriage licenses at the court house and was to have been married on Wednesday last.

On Thursday of last week, however, he was accused of having stolen $60 from his employer, who is a contractor, and on being faced with the charge returned $40 of the money. As soon as the young lady heard of the affair she broke her engagement, and on last Sunday night Heath, very despondent, left Salisbury for Camden, N. J. He returned yesterday morning and sought the interview which ended in a tragedy.

Miss Adkins was well connected and a very handsome girl. The feeling against Heath is intense.

HOME-MADE CABLE SHIPPED

580 Miles of Submarine Electric Conduit Forwarded from New York to Seattle.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Gen. Greely has been informed that 580 miles of the submarine cable to be laid between Puget Sound and Alaska have been shipped from New York to Seattle. The remaining 750 miles will be shipped from New York in August.

This is the first long cable ever made in the United States. It is of the seamless rubber type. Capt. Edgar Russell, signal corps, has started for Seattle to make preliminary arrangements for laying the cable and will be followed in August by Col. James Allen, who has general charge.

Thirteen Dollars to Boston and Return.

The Pennsylvania railroad will sell round trip tickets Pittsburgh to Boston on June 25 to 29 inclusive, at rate of $13.00 for the round trip, and good to stop off at New York and Philadelphia on the return trip. These tickets are available for passage either by boat or rail between New York and Boston. Full information and parlor or sleeping car accommodations can be procured on application at company offices, No. 360 Fifth avenue, or Union station, this city.

AMERICAN SHOES IN OTHER CLIMES

Nearly Seven Million Dollars' Worth Have Been Exported This Year.

BRITISH ARE GOOD BUYERS

Nearly Two-thirds of the Total Exports Went to England or Her Colonial Possessions—Growth of the Trade Remarkably Rapid.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21.

Exports of boots and shoes in the fiscal year about to end seem likely to exceed those of any preceding year, both in quantity and value. In 1880, the number of pairs of boots and shoes exported was 378,274; in 1896, the number had only increased to 587,108 pairs; by 1900, the number had grown to 3,018,726 pairs, and in 1902 the total was 3,993,766 pairs; and in the fiscal year about to end the total will pass the four million line. The total value of boots and shoes exported has grown from a little over $500,000 in 1895 to over $6,000,000 in 1902. In 1893 the total value of boots and shoes exported was $580,754; by 1895 it had practically doubled, being in that year $1,010,228; by 1899 it had doubled again, being in that year $2,711,-385. Within two years the total again doubled, being in 1901, $5,526,290, and in the fiscal year 1903, which ends 10 days hence, the total value of boots and shoes exported will be between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000.

Of the $6,000,000 worth of boots and shoes exported in 1902, $2,600,000 worth went to the United Kingdom, practically $1,000,000 worth to British Australasia, over $500,000 worth to Mexico, $500,000 worth to Cuba, and about an equal sum to Canada.

The increase in shipments from the United States to the United Kingdom has been very rapid during the decade, the total value in 1892 being but $2,169, and in 1902, $2,013,880. The number of pairs sent to the United Kingdom from the United States was, in 1892, 1,507, and in 1902, 1,035,396; while to British Australasia the number of pairs sent in 1892 was 8,258, and in 1902, 550,489; to Germany, in 1892, 812, and in 1902, 122,689.

The total number of pairs of boots and shoes sent abroad from the United States in 1902 was 3,993,766, and of this number two-thirds went to British territory, distributed as follows: United Kingdom, 1,085,396 pairs; Quebec, Ontario, etc., 289,164 pairs; British West Indies, 280,445 pairs; British Australasia, 550,489 pairs; British Africa, 168,687 pairs; Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, etc., 92,980 pairs; British Columbia, 25,659 pairs; New Foundland and Labrador, 18,194 pairs; Bermuda, 54,-678 pairs; British Honduras, 49,021 pairs; British Guiana, 31,451 pairs, and British East Indies, 12,029 pairs, making a total of 2,550,983 pairs sent to British territory out of an aggregate exportation of 3,993,-766 pairs.

| Year. | Pairs. | Year. | Pairs. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1892 | 745,112 | 1898 | 1,207,451 |
| 1893 | 458,027 | 1899 | 1,914,227 |
| 1894 | 641,318 | 1900 | 3,015,727 |
| 1895 | 822,412 | 1901 | 3,402,041 |
| 1896 | 1,036,221 | 1902 | 3,993,766 |

FIGHT SEEMS DRAW.

Result of Battle for Control of Dauphin County Democracy Is Still a Mystery.

HARRISBURG, June 21.—(Special.)—The result of the fight between the rival factions of the Dauphin county Democracy for control of Tuesday's convention will not be definitely known until the delegates assemble to nominate a county ticket.

Ex-Mayor Fritchey says he will have a majority of 20 of the 175 delegates, but it is probable that the majority of delegates are unpledged and the others pretty evenly divided between the rival aspirants for judge.

Should Fritchey control the convention William M. Hain, a Democrat, will be nominated to succeed Judge Jacobs, Gov. Pennypacker's appointee, who is an independent candidate for the full term of 10 years. If Fritchey loses, Jacobs will be the Democratic nominee.

Ex-Representative George Kunkle is the Republican nominee and his friends are working for the nomination of Hain, in the hope that if he is the nominee the Democratic vote will be divided between Hain and Jacobs, and Kunkle will be elected by a large majority.

RIOTING IN FRANCE.

Anti-Clerical Mob Attempts to Seize Host from Hands of a Priest.

PARIS, June 21.—Several riots arising out of collisions between clericals and anti-clericals are reported from several towns in the provinces in connection with religious processions.

At Brest an anti-clerical mob attempted to seize the host from the hands of the priest as the procession was about to re-enter the cathedral. A free fight ensued in which 15 persons, mostly women, were injured. Less serious troubles occurred at Nantes and Angers.

BURROWS IS OPPOSED TO AN EXTRA SESSION

Calls Upon President Roosevelt and Makes Futile Argument Against It.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Some United States senators opposed to the Cuban reciprocity treaty and other legislation proposed for the short extra session of congress in November have come out openly against the calling of congress earlier than the regular session. Among them is Senator Burrows of Michigan, who called at the White House yesterday.

"It is unfortunate, I think, to call an extra session," he said, "but President Roosevelt doubtless has his reasons and they must be good ones. The next regular session will be a protracted one, and like oil sessions on the eve of the national presidential campaign, it will be a busy and exciting one. I do not want to go on record as unalterably against an extra session, but I believe the matters could be just as well submitted to the regular session."

Senator Burrows believes that the Democrats will attempt to make capital out of the postal scandal, whether the administration probes the department to the bottom or not.

The opposition to the extra session comes mainly from the senators and representatives who do not favor the Cuban reciprocity treaty which is to be the principal measure before the extra assembly. But the conference yesterday between President Roosevelt and senators and representatives who called at the executive mansion left no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt had definitely decided to assemble congress before the date set for the regular session.

HAVE AMERICAN FEVER.

Number of Danish Emigrants to United States Is Doubled Within a Year.

COPENHAGEN, June 21.—The emigration figures for May, 1903, show that more than twice as many persons emigrated from Denmark to America as during the same period last year, and the "American fever" shows no sign of abating. It is shown, however, that the money sent back by Scandinavian settlers in the United States offsets to a large degree the loss to the country caused by the emigration of so many of its best citizens.

Figures recently published in Christiana show that during 1902 a total of 14,000,000 kroners remitted in this way to Norway alone in bank drafts, postal orders and through the steamship companies. A considerable sum is sent back every year in the shape of loose bills enclosed in letters.

FRENCH EDITOR GAINS VIVID IMPRESSIONS

Refuses to Vacate Jim Crow Car in Virginia and Is Arrested—Had Been the Guest of President Roosevelt at the White House.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 21.—There will be an article published in the Paris newspapers before long roasting American policemen and protesting against class distinctions in this country, which provide separate cars for colored persons. It will be written by M. Andre Cheradame, editor of Le Clair of Paris, and for the following reasons:

M. Cheradame is sojourning in this country for the purpose of getting impressions and experiences. He got them both this afternoon and got them hard. Even the fact that he was recently entertained at luncheon by President Roosevelt will scarcely atone for the jar that he received by running against the American policeman.

M. Cheradame boarded a trolley train to go to Mt. Vernon and sat down to enjoy the scenery on the trip. As soon as the car got across the Potomac it came under the jurisdiction of the laws of Virginia, which provide that colored persons cannot ride in the same car with whites, and that whites cannot ride in the car reserved for colored persons. M. Cheradame was in the wrong car and the conductor told him so.

"Get in the other car. This is the Jim Crow," gruffly ordered the conductor.

The Frenchman does not speak English very fluently and does not understand as well. He did not comprehend the conductor's order and strove to make that official understand that he wished to visit the tomb of "M. le Gen. Washing-t-o-n." He cared nothing about Jim Crow and wasn't looking for his tomb. There was an argument in which neither understood what the other said, but the Frenchman refused to budge.

When the car reached Alexandria the conductor called a policeman. A big, burly Irishman responded. He grasped the French editor by the collar and yanked him out of his seat and into the street, protesting in fluent phrases and gestures which were of no meaning to the policeman. All foreigners were "dagoes" to the policeman, and he stood for no back talk.

"Get a move on, now, or I'll call the wagon," he growled as he led the Frenchman down the street to the police station.

M. Cheradame, the eminent journalist, who had enjoyed the hospitality of the president but a few days before, was "pinched," and he had no alternative but to go. When the station house was reached a newspaper man happened to be present who knew of M. Cheradame's visit here and was able to furnish the information that resulted in the Frenchman's release. M. Cheradame adjusted his collar and caught another car for Mt. Vernon, determined not to let a strenuous experience like this prevent him from seeing Washington's tomb.
